TWO KILLED IN COLLAPSE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—At least two persons were killed and several severely injured by the collapse of a three-story building at Grand and Pitt streets this morning. It is reported that many men who were tearing down the building were buried in the ruins. Ambulances were summoned.

Insurance Scandal May Not be Probed, Owing to Absence of Witnesses.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] If the insurance investigation by the legislative committee is to meet the success desired by the committee many persons now absent must return to this State and allow themselves to be subpœnaed to appear before the questioning body.

It was said today that some of the men who are absolutely necessary to save the committee from failure are out of the State and have defied the efforts of process servers to leave with them the papers which insure the attendance of those wanted at the investigation. That all of them will be on hand during some stage of the proceedings, however, is the hope of the members of the investigating committee.

Charles E. Hughes, counsel for that body, expresses the belief that those wanted will appear whenever their presence is most desired.

WHERE IS JORDAN?

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The affairs of the Equitable Life Assurance Society and the Mutual Life Insurance Company held the attention today of the legislative life insurance investigating committee in session in this city. Nothing particularly new was developed in regard to the Equitable Society other than the statement drawn from one of the officers that the society does not know the present whereabouts of Thomas D. Jordan, the former comptroller. It was stated that Mr. Jordan was wanted as a witness to explain the loan of $685,000 made to the Equitable Society by the Mercantile Trust Company. It was also stated that James H. Hyde, former first vice-president of the Equitable later will be called as a witness before the committee.

The inquiry into the Mutual Life Insurance Company was first begun. The testimony drawn from an officer of this company showed that the Mutual controls many trust companies, among them the Morton Trust Company, the Guarantee Trust Company and the United States Mortgage and Trust Company. On deposit with these companies the insurance company keeps hundreds of thousands of dollars, against which it does not draw. It was explained that the prosperity of the trust companies meant the prosperity of the insurance company. The insurance deposits draw 3 per cent. and the trust company pays as high as 20 per cent. dividends on the par value of the stock and 5 per cent. on the market value.

CROMWELL ON STAND.

Frederick Cromwell, treasurer of the Mutual Life, said the company had bought securities from syndicates, that officers of the company also bought securities from the syndicate and received individual profits by selling these bonds to the company. He did not see that there was any impropriety in the officers going into syndicates when the company had gone in first.

Mr. Cromwell explained that in a syndicate in which the Mutual Life was concerned the insurance company got all the profit. If any members of the Finance Committee went into it privately it was through some banking-house and not through the Mutual.

The Mutual, he said, has 2000 shares in the Morton Trust Company and keeps a deposit there right along of $400,000 or $500,000, against which it does not draw. It has not been drawn against since 1899.

EXPLAINS BIG DEPOSITS.

Mr. Cromwell explained these large deposits by pointing out that on all the stock the Mutual held it had a profit of $22,000,000 and that its trust company stock formed a very large proportion of this. The deposits in the trust company helped largely to support the trust company, and they considered they were justified in maintaining these deposits in order to assist the property of the trust companies. He declared the investments in the trust companies as very profitable.

"Would it be fair to assume that syndicate transactions are gotten up for the benefit of the managers," the witness was asked.

FOREST COMPANIONS.

Los Angeles Woman May be Elected Chief Official of a Leading Fraternal Order.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] New York is pitted against California for the honor of the highest office, that of supreme chief companion of the Companions of the Forest, the female auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Foresters of America, and in point of membership one of the largest women's fraternal organizations in the country, six hundred delegates of which are assembled at the Murray Hill Lyceum today in a national convention.

The local candidate is Mrs. A. E. Poth, and her supporters are confident that they will be able to marshal enough ballots to enable her to triumph over her rival, Mrs. L. H. Atwood of Los Angeles, who is the choice of the western and Pacific Slope States, for the office. The election takes place tomorrow and both camps are busy today getting their forces in line as the contest promises to be an exceedingly close one.

INDIA COMES UNDER TREATY.

SIGNIFICANT FEATURE OF ANGLO-JAPANESE ALLIANCE.

Indo-China is Also Protected by Terms of the New Convention, Which Will Give French Suspicions of Japan a Rest—Primary Underlying Principle is Defensive.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PARIS, Sept. 7.—Although copies of the Anglo-Japanese treaty have not yet reached the powers, its principal changes from the former treaty are known in diplomatic quarters. One of the highest of these informs the Associated Press that the principal new features are the following:

First—The provision in the old treaty making the alliance applicable only to the Chinese littoral is changed so that the new provision makes the alliance applicable to all Asia up to the line crossing Persia from north to south indicated by the fifty-first degree of East Longitude. The significance of this change is the inclusion of India and also Farther China, where France has suspected Japan of having designs. The effect of the change tends to preserve the present status quo of the French authority in Indo-China and the status quo of India.

Second—The provision in the old treaty making the alliance operative if either ally is attacked by two powers is changed so that the alliance becomes effective when either is attacked by one power.

Third—The primary underlying principle of the treaty is defensive and the maintenance of existing conditions.

The foregoing changes cannot be stated as official or authoritative, but they are given with positiveness by those in a position to have accurate advices.

WASHINGTON KNOWS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The substance of the new Anglo-Japanese treaty has been communicated by the Foreign Office to the State Department at Washington through the British representatives at the different capitals. No details of the contents of the treaty have yet been given out here.

New York Banker Accepts First Part of Payment for Hankow Railway Line in China.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In the office of Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Co. today Sir Cheng Tung Liang Cheng, Chinese Minister to the United States, made the first payment of the $6,750,000, which his government has agreed to give to reimburse the stockholders in the Canton-Hankow Railway.

Three months from today the final payment will be made, and then the much-mooted concession and the thirty miles of railway built will revert to the Chinese, who, it is stated on good authority, intend to complete the railway.

None of those present would state the size of the sum which China surrendered as her first payment.

ROMANCE REVEALED.

Death of Pennsylvania Blind Woman Brings to Light a Brother in San Francisco.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FREELAND (Pa.) Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch]. By the death of a blind woman in a cabin near here today, a romance was revealed. For ten years she had been known here as the "Blind Woman," and her dwarfed husband as "Little Willie Hart." The latter was a laborer on the farm of her father, John Kenyon, near Cortland, N. Y., thirty years ago. Elizabeth, the daughter, became infatuated with the dwarfed farm hand in her father's employ, ran away with him and got married.

Hart was physically disabled and finally he and his wife became wanderers. Through illness Mrs. Hart lost her sight. Ten years ago they drifted into Freeland. Dr. Kenyon of San Francisco, president of the California Medical Society, is Mrs. Hart's brother. All these years the brother has been in search of his sister.

FLAME AND SWORD REIGN IN CAUCASIA.

Tartars Hold Week's Carnival of Pillage and Slaughter at Baku.

Czar's Cossacks Practically Powerless and His Forces are Being Surrounded—Refugees Flee, Only to Fall Into Hands of Bloodthirsty Bands Elsewhere—The Women Outraged by Hundreds.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 7.—The desperate condition of affairs at Baku is shown by a telegram from the Governor of Baku, who has sent an urgent dispatch to Tiflis, saying that his troops are surrounded by Tartars and will inevitably be overwhelmed unless immediately relieved.

BAKU (Caucasia) Sept. 7, 6 p.m.—The situation here shows no signs of amelioration. It could hardly be worse.

The terror-stricken inhabitants are fleeing from the city, knowing that the garrison is utterly inadequate to protect them, and although the worst scenes of fire and massacre have not yet occurred in Baku itself, none dare think how far the excesses may proceed.

The principal fighting is not in Baku itself, but at Balakhan, where hundreds have been shot by the infantry and artillery and where 1000 were killed or wounded during a desperate attack on the military camp and provision depots.

The troops sustained few casualties.

A large number of workmen barricaded themselves in the Balakhan hospital. The soldiers began the attack with rifle fire and then stormed the hospital and completed their work with the bayonet.

The native and commercial quarters of Balakhan, Sabunto and Nomasi have been wiped out by fire.

The inhabitants remaining behind were massacred and thrown into the flames.

Bibiebat continues to burn and is threatened with the same fate as Balakhan.

The consulates, banks and buildings in Baku are guarded by troops.

ENGLISH FLEETING.

All of the English residents and almost all other inhabitants of the better class have boarded the ships and gone to sea to escape from danger. All available steamers have been employed for this purpose.

Martial law has been proclaimed in the city. Nobody is allowed on the streets after 8 o'clock at night and inhabitants of houses are held strictly responsible for shots fired from them.

Artillery was employed against one house. The house was breached and all the people inside were killed. There is a general panic in the city.

"A whole army of hungry workmen driven in from the burned suburbs has flocked into the city. There is the greatest destitution and measures for transporting the workmen from the city are imperatively necessary.

Reinforcements of troops are arriving daily and it is hoped the authorities soon will have the situation better in hand.

ST. PETERSBURG ADVICES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 7, 7:30 p.m.—Though the dispatch from Tiflis and current reports in St. Petersburg say that the oil works and tanks at Baku have been entirely consumed and the town practically wiped out according to a dispatch to the Nobel Company from Baku, this is an error and the loss though enormous is not complete. This dispatch stated that the firing in the town had ceased and that the incendiarism had been checked.

The fate of the tanks and works which are not yet on fire depends on the wind, which is blowing a hurricane. Unless it changes and sweeps the fire back on the unaffected districts, there is hope of saving some of the properties. The sender of the dispatch was unable to give details of what had been destroyed and what was not destroyed, smoke and flames preventing a close investigation.

The St. Petersburg press attacks the government for its indecision in handling events in the Caucasus and its neglect to attempt to take measures to reconcile the Armenians and Tartars, and declares the ruin of one of the most important industries in Russia and immense losses to industry and commerce are the fruits of the governmental disregard for years of the most legitimate and practical suggestions of the oil men, especially the government's refusal of their request for authority to establish a local organization for self-protection against the excesses of the natives.

TARTARS SURPRISED 'EM.

The authorities of the Caucasus seem to have been taken completely by surprise by the magnitude of the Tartar rising. There is not the least doubt that it had long been planned and carefully organized and is connected with the separatist movement.

The officials of Tiflis say that they have unmistakable proof that revolt has been fanned by the Turkish emissaries, and that Turkish and Tartar revolutionists are raiding the whole country, laying siege to Baku and other places. They have laid many villages in ruins and have pitilessly massacred the inhabitants.

Unless sufficient troops are available promptly to suppress the outbreak in the Caucasus, which the news from Baku would show not to be the case, the whole of that part of the country will be devastated and the population of the towns and villages butchered. The situation is viewed in St. Petersburg with the utmost alarm.

The managers of the oil works at Baku, despairing of the arrival of reinforcements of troops, have telegraphed direct to the Emperor.

GRUESOME DETAILS.

The latest dispatches from Baku give gruesome details of the carnage. No quarter was asked or given by the insurgents or troops. In the suburbs of Baku the flames were spread by a high wind, one burning building after another collapsing. Pillaging and murdering have been going on everywhere.

In other parts of the Caucasus, bands of peasants have organized against the nobles and are invading their domains and seizing all the farms.

SIX DAYS OF TERROR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BAKU, Sept. 7.—Following is a brief review, in sequence, of the events of the last six days as witnessed at Baku:

On the afternoon of Sunday last reports began running from mouth to mouth that the Tartars and Armenians were massacreing each other. Immediately there was great alarm and a panic prevailed. Stores were closed and windows and doors were barricaded. Twenty minutes later sounds of rifle firing were heard from the various quarters of the city and everybody wished to flee, but no one could tell whether safety lay within or without the city.

Two hours later patrols of Cossacks and other soldiers armed with rifles began to arrive from the barracks and the troops immediately engaged the rioters. The firing between the warring factions continued all of Saturday night.

Sunday the situation showed no improvement and fighting was in progress all during the day, the streets being deserted except for the combatants. No one dares to leave his house during the day. At 8 o'clock Sunday evening the first reflection on the Saturday of fire "in the Black Town" quarter was noticed.

MORE FEARFUL STILL.

Sunday night was more fearful than the preceding one. Fires broke out in several quarters and the firing of the troops was uninterrupted.

Fires also broke out in the suburbs of Balakhan and Sabunto. Telephonic service between Baku and these points was destroyed and it was impossible to ascertain what was burning on Monday morning.

Many of the inhabitants decided to brave the dangers in an effort to leave the city. They went in cabs surrounded by Cossacks to the railroad station, and the flight from the city soon became general.

A carriage surrounded by Cossacks conveyed the city authorities to the house of the Governor-General.

Everybody who was able to do so left. By this time, provisions had become scarce and prices were soaring.

KILLING AND PLUNDERING.

Monday night, the burning, shooting, killing and plundering continued, and a refinery which was in flames beyond Bibiebat lit up the sky in that direction. A big wood yard in Baku also caught fire and a strong wind fanned the flames, which soon spread to Nikitin Circus and adjacent houses.

The fire continued all of Tuesday, breaking in several new places, embracing the railroad station and a number of Armenian houses in different quarters of the city.

INDESCRIBABLE HORRORS.

During Wednesday, fugitives from Balakhan began to arrive here and told of the indescribable horrors they had witnessed. All the oil works there, they said, were in the hands of Tartars, who were pillaging the houses of Russian and Armenian workmen, carrying away everything of value and burning the buildings. Ten thousand workmen, they said, would be left in poverty and they believed that Balakhan would be totally destroyed.

At 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the situation was somewhat quieter. The Tartars and Armenians were running through the streets crying "peace," and a little later a posse made up of both races, with clergymen at its DELIBERATION UNCERTAIN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

KARLSTAD (Sweden) Sept. 7.—The conference of the delegates of Norway and Sweden appointed to discuss the dissolution of the union adjourned today until September 12 to enable the delegates to return to their respective capitals and confer with their governments. The result of their deliberations is very uncertain.

NOTHING GIVEN OUT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

KARLSTAD, Sept. 7.—Christian Lundenberg, the Swedish premier, who is one of the commissioners, said that an agreement had been entered into to make no communication regarding the proceedings of the conference. It is evident, however, that the negotiations have reached a point which necessitates consultation by the commissioners with their respective governments.

Premier Michelsen of Norway will remain here.

No special session of the Riksdag will be convened and this fact indicates that the conditions submitted by the Swedish commissioners are unalterable and that any amicable settlement will depend upon the action of the Norwegian Storthing.

It is probable that the Norwegians insisted on the formulation of an arbitration treaty as the basis of further negotiations. The Swedish government, it is believed, will never agree to this as it would mean the arbitration of the question arising from present conditions and the recognition of the sovereignty of Norway.

The Norwegian government has within the last few days concentrated a considerable number of troops on the frontier and has moved other troops near the frontier.

SAYS CASTRO IS QUEER ONE.

FRENCHMAN THINKS LITTLE OF THAT RULER.

Declares His Whims and Vagaries Cause No Astonishment to the World—France Will Shape Her Course With Calmness—Cable Manager Forced to Leave Venezuela.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A Herald correspondent had an interview with a French political personage particularly well qualified to discuss and give information about the Venezuelan affair, which now appears to be entering a new phase. He said:

"The whims and sudden changes of opinion of President Castro are no longer a matter for astonishment. He has already given, not to Europe only, but to America, numerous examples of his somewhat too summary methods. We, therefore, follow with all the interest attaching to a legitimate defence of French interests the question raised by the President with regard to the French Cable Company, which ended in the eviction of the latter.

"We shall shape our course with all the calm of which President Roosevelt is giving us the example. Before arriving at a decision which might entail the eviction of the New York and Bermudez Asphalt Company, he has sent a special delegate, Judge Calhoun, to make an inquiry on the spot.

"It will be incumbent upon us to act in the same spirit and with full knowledge of the facts. As to the warlike preparations attributed to President Castro by certain papers, I would beg not to be asked for a serious reply to a question so little serious."

CABLE MAN BOUNCED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CARACAS, Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] President Castro today issued a decree ordering the expulsion of M. Brun, manager of the French Cable Company. His motive is the alleged disavowal of the laws, authority and high power of the republic by yesterday's protest against Monday's decree, following the judgment of the highest court, annuling the concession delivered on August 4.

CRAZED BY LONELY LIFE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A pitiful case came to light today when Joseph and Annie Holdobler, husband and wife, were declared insane and committed to an asylum. Their mental breakdown was due to the loneliness and drudgery of farm life near Wakefield, Neb. They came to this country from Germany a few years ago and started to build a home on the Nebraska prairies.

Then, two years ago a baby was born, but it was dumb. The mother, whose reason was already tottering because of her isolated life, broke down completely when this new misfortune became apparent. The father, worried by his dumb child and his crazy wife, plodded along until one day he began gibbering to his horses. Meanwhile another baby had come. This time it was a bright youngster, but the parents were beyond the realization of this fact.

Komura Says Rumor That Mikado Will Not Ratify Treaty is Idle Talk.

Experts Show That in Fishing Rights Alone Japan Got More Than Indemnity.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOKIO, Sept. 6, 9 a.m.—(Delayed in Transmission.) An imperial ordinance establishes martial law in Tokio. Disorder was resumed tonight.

POPULACE IS WARNED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Sept. 7, 5 p.m.—Tokio has been quiet today. Gen. Sakuma, commander of the Tokio garrison, has issued a proclamation warning the populace against rioting.

CHURCHES BURNED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Sept. 7.—A mob burned and destroyed ten Christian churches and one mission house school last night, (Wednesday.) The people were not injured.

TOKIO, Sept. 6.—(Delayed in Transmission.) [illegible] of the Southern Pacific Railroad, has been threatened.

ATTACK NOT PERSONAL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—At the Southern Pacific offices it was said that no word had been received from Mr. Harriman from Tokio. His associates were of the opinion that the hostile demonstration was in no sense personal.

Mr. Harriman's visit to Japan, it was declared, was entirely for recreation and pleasure.

SUSPECTS HIDDEN TERMS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PEKING, Sept. 6.—(Delayed in Transmission.) The absence of fuller knowledge of the peace terms, leaves the community much astonished as to the terms of the settlement. There is a general feeling that some understanding exists between Japan and Russia that has not been published.

CENSORING TELEGRAMS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PEKING, Sept. 7.—Messages received here from a good source at Tokio represent the situation there as grave. The Japanese government is apparently censoring telegrams.

GET BETTER THAN INDEMNITY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Government officials are not surprised, but interested, at the news of the Tokio riots. The temper of the Japanese is rendered acute by their repeated victories on sea and land. Belief here is that the rioting will be summarily suppressed.

The Japanese Legation scouts the suggestion that the demonstration against Marquis Ito was also aimed at Harriman or that anti-American feeling prevails to any extent.

Experts say time will prove that the Russian concessions under Articles IX and XI of the treaty—of right of way and fishing rights to the Japanese in the Gulf of Tartary, Russian territorial waters in the Sea of Japan, the Sea of Okhtosk and the Bering Sea—are more valuable than any possible money indemnity. It is figured that in fifteen years Japan will more than repay the cost of the war from increased proceeds of the fisheries, or double her annual revenue of $50,000,000 therefrom. The fish commission officials say the treaty concessions cover fishing grounds equal to those under American jurisdiction in the production of cod, salmon, herring, whales and seal. The United States paid Russia an insignificant sum for the Bering Sea seal-fishing rights, which yield $20,000,000 per year, and Japan's new rights are far greater. Japan may fish within three miles of the Siberian coast, land men and pack the catch, inability to do which has prevented her fishing much outside strictly Japanese waters. Concession of all Sakhalin Island, it was estimated, would increase the Japanese fishing revenues $5,000,000 per annum. The Mikado is not regarded as worsted in the Portsmouth bargain.

RIOTING AT CHIBA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOKIO, Sept. 7, 4 p.m.—It is reported that there is rioting at Chiba, a town with a population of 20,000, twenty miles east of Tokio. The prefectorial building and the courthouse are reported to have been burned.

The government has suspended the further publication of the Niroku, a newspaper printed in Tokio.

TROUBLE LOCAL, SAYS KOMURA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Baron Komura who is in this city today, said he did not consider the rioting in Tokio more than a local disturbance.

Mr. Sato, the official spokesman of the Japanese peace party, gave it as his belief that the disturbance arose more out of irritation on the part of the people toward the Minister of Home Affairs because he closed Hibiya Park to them, rather than from anger.

WANTS TO SEE ROOT.

Baron Komura, after reading the Associated Press dispatches telling of the riots in Tokio and the experience of the Harriman party, endeavored to reach Secretary of State Root. Mr. Sato said Baron Komura was extremely desirous of seeing Mr. Root at once and asked that a message be sent to Mr. Root at once asking for an interview. What purpose Baron Komura had Mr. Sato would not say. Secretary Root, it was learned later, will arrive here from his country home this afternoon.

Baron Komura said today that his coming interview with Mr. Root, which he expected would occur in New York either Friday or Saturday this week, would be purely a formal exchange of courtesies and that their meeting had no other object.

MIKADO WILL RATIFY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Baron Komura denied emphatically the rumor that the Emperor of Japan had not yet given his approval to the peace treaty, or that the powers of the Japanese plenipotentiaries were so limited that there was still, at this late hour, a possibility that the Emperor would fail to ratify the treaty. "The present disturbances in Tokio," he said, "cannot in the slightest degree influence the Emperor's determination to ratify the treaty when he receives an official copy of it."

Baron Komura reiterated his opinion that the disturbances in Tokio were directed against the local branches of the government.

NOT PARTICULARLY SERIOUS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOKIO, Sept. 7, 6 a.m.—Last night's disorder was not particularly serious. Thirteen cars and one railway kiosk were destroyed. Twenty persons were wounded during the clashes with the police and many others were slightly wounded by stones in the crushes of the crowds. The disturbances in the Kanda district of the city proved not to be serious.

The first threatened to burn the Russian cathedral, but a sergeant of the guard cleverly prevailed upon the rioters to distst by telling the crowd that if the cathedral was destroyed he and the guard would commit suicide. The crowd agreed not to touch the cathedral.

There was considerable disorder and noise in the district, but there was no destruction of property and no serious clashes with the police. The demonstrations against the metropolitan police headquarters continued until a late hour. Crowds swarmed around the jail and hooted and threatened.

PAPERS "ROAST" POLICE.

The newspapers generally assail the police authorities for withdrawing street patrols and leaving the city unprotected. Soldiers are proving to be more effective than the police in handling the crowds.

The soldiers are popular and the crowds generally obey their orders.

Accompanying the ordinance declaring martial law is an urgency ordinance increasing restrictions on the press and giving authority for the suspension of papers guilty of increasing the excitement and other breaches of order. Under this ordinance, the government has suspended the publication of the Miyako, the Yurozu and the Niroku.

The Tokio municipality has passed a resolution denouncing the terms and favoring the abandonment of the peace treaty.

AFTER ROCK'S ROCKS.

Another Fellow Chases up the Oil Magnate With a Scheme to Spend Money.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER, Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] S. J. Davis of Lauets, Colo., said this morning that he was going to New York City to persuade J. D. Rockefeller to invest $20,000,000 in the development of a scheme of agriculture.

"Mr. Rockefeller will become famous in the history of the country as the greatest philanthropist of his age," said Mr. Davis, "if he will spend $20,000,000 in the construction of reservoirs in the Rocky Mountains for the purpose of conserving the present terrible water waste. He can turn the Western States into a second paradise and earn the blessings of millions unborn. The idea is a great one and Rockefeller is a man of big ideas. I believe that he will do it. He can save the waters of the thousand streams and apply it to desert lands. With an expenditure of $20,000,000 he could make habitable and productive enough arid land to support a population of 200,000,000."

FIVE BODIES WASHED ASHORE.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 7.—W. A. Hawgood & Co., owners of the steamer Iosco, which foundered in the recent heavy storm on Lake Superior, today received a telegram from Marquette, Mich., saying that the bodies of four men and one woman have been washed ashore at Pine River, with life preservers attached to them bearing the name "Iosco." The woman is believed to have been the wife of the cook. The Iosco carried a crew of nineteen persons, all of whom undoubtedly perished. The total number of lives lost in the Lake Superior storm is now placed at forty.

SILLY BREAK OF STRIKERS.

Quit Driving Mail Wagons in New York.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The U. S. Mail delivery wagons whose operations in the great business and hotel center of New York City between the Battery and Forty-second street were interfered with by a strike of 200 of the New York Mail Company's drivers last night, were only partly in operation today.

Assistant Postmaster Edward Morgan made the following statement today:

"The teamsters' strike has in no way interfered with the rapid handling of first-class mail matter. The outgoing mails were sent off on time and all mail matter from the incoming early trains on the trunk lines this morning was brought to the general postoffice in automobiles and other vehicles. The morning deliveries were made as usual."

POLICE GUARD WAGONS.

A general alarm was sent out early today by Chief Inspector Cortright of the police department, calling on the captains to take special care to guard all mail wagons. The order was issued because of a strike last night by 300 drivers in the employ of contractors for hauling the mails from the general postoffice. No wagons were sent out up to 1 o'clock this morning. No trouble has occurred thus far.

Contractor Travis declares that plenty of men are available for the strikers' places. Automobiles will be used temporarily however.

Mail matter aggregating 500 tons is delivered during the early hours and the postoffice officials say they will have no trouble in accomplishing the usual task. During the early hours a number of strike-breakers were sworn in. When they are started on their routes each wagon will be accompanied by a postal clerk, an inspector and one policeman.

By 2 o'clock the service was partially reorganized and mail was being carried from the postoffice to the Grand Central station, the steamship piers and the ferries by all sorts of vehicles ranging from touring automobiles to one horse carts.

PRACTICALLY NO DELAY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—There has been practically no delay today in the collection and distribution of mail in the business districts of New York affected by the strike of 200 drivers in the employ of the New York Mail Company. Postmaster W. R. Wilcox issued a statement to this effect tonight, and said further that the strike was one which did not concern the postal officials so long as the contractors continued to handle the mails regularly and without delay.

KILLED ON DESERT.

WESTERN FEDERATION SUSPECT

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CRIPPLE CREEK (Colo.) Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Joseph A. Gafney, late of this city, is dead near Tonopah, Nev. A telegram received here today announces the finding of his dead body on the desert. Jack H. Gafney, Superintendent of the Findley property, brother af the dead man, got he telegram from William Gafney, another brother, who lives in San Francisco.

Joseph Gafney, who was 23 years old, lived here five or six years. He went to Tonopah about six months ago. Several weeks ago a Nevada miner who was here advised Superintendent Gafney to look after his brother. Messages of similar import came from other sources and finally Superintendent Gafney wrote for information. Today he was notified of his brother's death.

The body was too close to Tonopah to admit of a starvation theory while prospecting in the desert. Gafney opposed the Western Federation of Miners and all his friends here, in the absence of details, believe he was murdered.

LABORITES BOLT.

LIVELY UNIONIST FIGHT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Since you have chosen to keep them in then we must say goodby; take your medicine; elect one of them president; it'll do you good," roared J. A. Madsen of the Longshoremen's Union in the Oregon State Federation of Labor Convention at noon today, as he and the other three delegates from the Longshoremen's Union arose and bolted the convention. "The hour for adjournment has arrived," announced President Gram, and thus the bolt was lost in the shuffle of adjournment.

The climax was reached after a hot discussion, lasting most of the forenoon session on the question of adopting the report of the Resolutions Committee against a set of resolutions refusing membership to the Sailors' Union of the Pacific in the State Federation of Labor. The committee recommended that the resolutions be not adopted, and Delegate Madsen of the Longshoremen's Union moved the nonadoption of the report.

The debate was hot, and there was no hesitancy on the part of the longshoremen's delegates charging the Sailors' Union with having conspired with the ship owners to get in supremacy and destroy the Longshoremen's Union. It is an an old sore in labor-union circles.

OPPOSE ANY CHANGE.

OREGON LABOR AND CHINESE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 7.—Opposition to any amendment to the Chinese exclusion law and to the admission under any pretext, of coolie labor, is the attitude of the laboring interests of Oregon as represented in the annual report of President Charles H. Gram to the Oregon State Federation of Labor, at its third annual convention now in session.

The sentiment of the labor convention is in marked contrast to that which predominated at the recent Trans-Mississippi Congress, and which supported the Portland Chamber of Commerce in the adoption of its resolutions favorable to the admission of Chinese.

In his report, President Gram recommends that the convention go on record as unalterably opposed to any change of the exclusion law, and urges union men all over the State to cooperate with boards of trade and other organizations in a united protest against it head, went through the town. But these efforts toward a cessation of the fighting were not effective, for the firing went on all Wednesday night.

The soldiers, however, continued their efforts to repress disorders and by Thursday morning matters were more orderly everywhere.

The streets today are deserted and the stores, banks and other public places are closed, hardly anybody venturing out. A pall of heavy black smoke hangs over Baku and its suburbs.

The losses in these six days have not yet been accurately established.

TARTARS OPPOSE ORDER.

It was reported this morning that the Tartars, notwithstanding their participation in the "peace" procession, are opposed to the establishment of order, and that they demand a substantial sum from the authorities in lieu of permission to continue their pillaging.

Boats running on the Volga will doubtless have to use naphtha instead of oil.

The quantity of naphtha on hand will be sufficient for the river boats for at least five months.

It will take nearly a year to repair the damage here.

But for the activity of the soldiers, the bloodshed might have been greater. As it is, a great many persons have been killed.

PANIC REIGNS IN TIFLIS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TIFLIS (Caucasia) Sept. 7.—Panic reigns in the whole of the Tiflis district and the people are fearful of an attack by Tartars. One Cossack was killed and another wounded near here last night. The assailants escaped. The police patrols have been strengthened and the authorities propose to organise a rural militia for the defense of American homes in all of the trans-Caucasian districts, where no troops are stationed.

All of the naphtha works at Baku have been destroyed and the factories and other works there are closed.

The military authorities are hastening measures to cope with the desperate situation at Baku. Artillery has been dispatched from here by special trains. The prices of benzine, kerosene and their residues have risen enormously. The present supplies will be exhausted in a few days.

AGAINST GOVERNMENT.

The Tartar movement in Northern Caucasia is said to be directed principally against the government.

All the spirit distilleries and silk weaving works in the district of Shusha have been burned by the Tartars. Part of the workmen succeeded in escaping to the mountains. The remainder were killed.

Orders have been given to send wheat to Shusha to relieve the starving.

The town of Tiflis is full of refugees from Baku, who have abandoned all their belongings.

A deputation from the great petroleum works has asked military protection for twenty-five million pounds of combustible liquids contained in the reservoirs at Baku.

The manager of the Mantashoff Company telegraphs from Baku that the Bibiebat plants have been burned out and that the depots of the Caspian Company have been destroyed.

WALTZ IS DYING OUT.

Dancing Teachers State It Is Being Superseded in Popular Favor by the Two-step.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Waltzing is becoming a lost art, according to delegates attending the twenty-eighth annual convention here of the American Society of the Professors of Dancing. The professors are for that reason doing all they can to check the insidious two-step.

"The whole trouble," said a delegate from Terre Haute, Ind., "is that dancing is looked upon merely as a social time-killer, when as a matter of fact it is a means of developing grace, of promoting physical culture and teaching the best manners. We dancing masters must stand together to prevent the waltz from degenerating, for it is not what it was ten years ago, just because Americans have grown so careless about it. They two-step through everything, no matter whether it is a waltz, a schottische or a polka."

One of the features of the demonstration before the convention was the dancing of "the spirit of the times," a fancy half march, half dance movement. It is adapted for exhibition drills of children, and the movements are planned in the form of a five-pointed star. The convention will be in session today and tomorrow.

TWO DEAD, THIRTY HURT.

Pennsylvania Excursion Train Crashes Head-on Into Passenger Train.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW CASTLE (Pa.) Sept. 7.—Two dead and probably thirty injured is the record of a wreck today on the Western New York and Pennsylvania division of the Pennsylvania line seven miles above this city, when an excursion train bound from this city to Stoneboro fair crashed head-on into the regular southbound passenger train due here at 9:29 o'clock. Both engines were reduced to scrap iron and turned at right angles to the track. The engineer and fireman of the regular train were killed. Nearly all the injured were on the excursion train. The excursion train consisted of ten coaches and carried 300 people from New Castle.

The regular passenger train, it is said, had the right of way. The excursion train was running rapidly in an effort to make the next siding.

When the relief train arrived here those of the victims with minor injuries were sent to their homes and the more seriously hurt were taken to the hospital.

SHEA KILLS UNION.

Organized revolt against Cornelius P. Shea, President of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, has arisen in his own organization designed for the purpose of ousting him from control and for bringing about a complete reorganization of union teamsters in the United States. Twenty-four well known leaders in different parts of the country have organized the movement. It is pointed out that under the "incompetent and dishonest" management of Shea the union has suffered a decrease of 34,589 members in less than two years.

COLLEGE MAN SUED.

Divorce proceedings were begun in the Superior Court today by Mrs. Maude Muriel Glick against Ulysses Grant Glick, former professor of English at the University of California. Statutory charges and allegations of cruelty are made against Glick by his wife, who also declares that last April the defendant abducted their 3-year-old son. The child has since been returned to the mother.

NEGRO RELEASED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS (La.) Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Probably the most shocking outrage yet committed in the name of quarantine protection came to light today, when Dr. J. H. White, in command of the Federal forces here, forced the release of a helpless negro who had been chained to a pine tree on the outskirts of aPss Christian, Miss., for over two days, exposed to the prostrating sun, without food or protection from the ravaging mosquitoes.

CHINA CONCLUDES TO BECOME PRACTICAL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PEKING, Sept. 6.—(Delayed in Transmission.) An important edict has been issued in response to the memorial of Yuanshikwan and other prominent men, abolishing examinations for the old system of degrees. By means of this system, established from time immemorial, China has recruited government officers.

The idea of obtaining by competitive examination the best educated men is essentially good, but it has been rendered entirely futile by the knowledge demanded. Hitherto, the aspirant for honors was required to be proficient in the writings of Confucius and other classics, the ability to compose essays in peculiar form constituting really a kind of literary jugglery. The learning so acquired was entirely useless for practical purposes, while the close study required to attain the necessary knowledge prevents attention to other modern and more useful subjects. Moreover, the posts of honor always falling to the lot of successful candidates thus educated, the system discourages efforts in the direction of western learning.

In future, officers will be recruited from the ranks of those educated according to the modern system in schools to be established throughout the country. Examinations will be held in the various schools and not in the central towns, as formerly.

This edict offers the strongest inducement to the Chinese to acquaint themselved with western learning and will prove a most effective means for China's salvation.

HILL DOESN'T LIKE THE PANAMA CANAL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern road, who has returned from his annual trip over his railroad properties, arrived at his offices today in a pessimistic frame of mind. He took a rather gloomy view of peace in the Far East; of trade with the Orient; of our foreign trade in general and the prospective benefits of the Panama canal.

Mr. Hill was by no means enthusiastic over crop conditions in the Northwest. "There has been a good deal of damage," he said, "but there will be a good average wheat crop, but not a bumper crop by any means. Corn promises a really good harvest."

When asked whether he thought that business with the Orient would begin to boom on the Pacific Coast, now that peace had been decided upon, Mr. Hill replied with the question: "What business is there with China? Under existing conditions there can be no business. The cost of manufacturing is too high. What goods do we sell abroad? Agricultural machinery, electrical machinery—well, Germany outsells us in the latter, and we have no trade at all with Canada.

"We do sell some flour, cotton and oil, but Russia is a great competitor in the Far East with our agricultural people. Russia raises what we raise and she will never be a customer of ours. Russia does not need it.

"If we are going to find a good market in the Orient we must look to Manchuria and the interior of China. It is a marvelliously rich agricultural country, and the people are intelligent and very good farmers, but we have transportation that they cannot compete with."

The Panama Canal in the opinion of Mr. Hill, is being built for some other countries' ships.

UNION PRINTERS ARE GIVEN HARD JOLT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NIAGARA FALLS (N. Y.) Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is to be a fight to the finish between the United Typothetae of America and the International Typographical Union over the eight-hour question. Before adjourning its session in this city today the Typothetae decided to make a fight. Many delegates left for their homes with the determination to make their shops "open" at once and thus bring on the struggle.

President Lynch and Vice-President Hay of the International Typographical Union were here to confer with the Typothetae, but did not address the convention. Lynch was willing to temporize, but the Typothetae would not listen to any sort of a compromise. Messrs. Lynch and Hay went before the executive committee and stated the position of the journeymen printers. They wanted to know when the employing printers would be willing to grant the eight-hour day. They said the printers were willing to wait a year or two years if the Typothetae would at the end of that time grant the concession, but the Typothetae would not listen to the eight-hour proposition at all.

President Higgins of the International Pressmen's Union was also before the executive committee, and received the same answer.

SULTAN YIELDS TO DEMANDS OF FRANCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, Sept. 7.—The foreign office was highly gratified this morning to receive a dispatch from the French minister at Fez announcing that the Sultan had yielded all points demanded in the French ultimatum. The dispatch says that September 4, the day preceeding the expiration of the ultimatum, the grand vizier, Si Feedoul Garnit, accompanied by a retinue, went to the French legation, where he was received by the minister and his staff and the leading European officials.

The grand vizier then publicly presented a formal apology for the arrest of the French Algerian citizen, Bouzian, and handed the minister the amount of the indemnity demanded for the imprisonment of the man and also presented letters from the Morocco ministry of forign affairs announcing that the caid responsible for Bouzian's arrest had been removed.

The French minister answered, accepting the excuses and reparation given, and thereupon preparations for the departure of the legation, preliminary to the enforcement of the demands, were suspended.

The foreign office here now announces that the incident is closed, terminating the anticipated resort to action through military branches of the service.

SALT RIVER DAM BREAKS.

Freshet Creates More Havoc in Arizona.

Farmers Will Suffer Loss to Grain Crops.

Deer Skin Tanners Caught in Illegal Acts.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Sept. 7.—Salt River, by reason of rains, is again quite high and last night a gravel dyke in the river, above the Arizona canal dam, was washed away. This immediate loss in dollars is not disparagingly large, but the effect of it on the agricultural industry of the valley is of great import.

Last spring, several hundred feet of the dam was washed out by floods and owing to continued high water repairs had to be delayed. When the water finally subsided crops suffered. Two weeks before repairs on the dam progressed sufficiently to again divert the water into the canals and the big break was never more than half finished when the summer floods began. But in the form of repairs a temporary gravel dyke was constructed above the break, to divert the water over the finished section and to the canal head on the north side of the river. Last night a hundred feet of this dyke washed away and the water was again whirling through the chasm in the dam, so the canal head will be dry as soon as the water goes down, if not already so.

After the water subsides it will take perhaps a month to repair the dyke and how much can be done in resuming work on the dam. Farmers, therefore, are certain to again experience the same famine which will seriously affect cattle on pasture and perhaps cause fall planting of a large acreage of grain.

LETTER MEN FIGHT.

DISHONESTY IS CHARGED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 7.—Charges of dishonesty against the officers of the association precipitated a fight in the convention of the National Letter Carriers Association today. Delegate Ben Hemmerwaddle stated that he had resigned from the Executive Committee for this reason, and made charges that papers of an incriminating character had been stolen from his grip room in Vancouver, B. C., and Portland while he was en route to this city to attend the convention.

President Keller replied that the charges made against Secretary Cantrell of the association were unfounded. Then Keller stated that because of these charges he would withdraw his name as candidate for the presidency. Matters had hardly quieted down when another uproar was created by a motion as to what the executive board meant by not reporting the fact that Hemmerwaddle had resigned and the motion was made that the head of the board were attempting to conceal something. The discussion was broken by the adjournment for the convention by practically unanimous vote today refused to consider any trouble with the American Federation of Labor.

DEER HIDES SEIZED.

ILLEGAL BUSINESS STOPPED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

EUREKA, Sept. 7.—Wholesale illegal killing of deer hides has been revealed by two arrests made by the State and county game officials.

The most flagrant was discovered last night, when a raid was made on a tanning in the outskirts of this city. The officers found a fully equipped plant for tanning deer hides in operation. It was in charge of John McCann, a San Francisco tanner. Eighty-seven hides were located on the premises. When the officers made the raid they found McCann in the act of tanning a hide. He was immediately taken into custody and put up cash bail. He will be rigorously prosecuted.

The raid was made at Briceland, in the southern end of the county, and the 300 hides were taken possession of. They were awaiting shipment, and it is believed that they were intended for the Eureka tannery. Their owner is unknown. It is believed that these deer hides have been carried on extensively for a number of months and that a ring consisting of several persons is involved.

The arrests are the most extensive made in many years and the county officials, in connection with the State officials, are determined to prosecute to the limit all those implicated in the deer hide traffic.

MINING COMPANIES MERGED.

Tom Hays Hammond's Deal.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—It is reported that W. F. Hammond and John Hays Hammond have at last succeeded in bringing about a merger of some of the large gold-dredging mining companies in Butte and Yuba counties. The deal has just been closed in New York, and W. F. Hammond is now on his way home with the documents.

The merger company is to be known as the Oroville Dredging Company, and it is organized with a capital of $4,000,000. London, New York and Boston capital is interested in the deal. The company will control a dredging like 4000 acres of so-called dredger land.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Postal Prodigy Dead.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—Gladys Hunt, an eight-year-old musical prodigy, died here today. The cause of death was cerebral-spinal meningitis. She first sang in public at Chicago when only three years old.

Portland Stock Show.

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 7.—The Lewis and Clark live-stock show opens September 13 and will last seven days. It is a fact that that totals about $40,000 and with the entries from the best stock-producing regions in the west, promises to be an event of national importance in stock circles.

Fishes for Folk.

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 7.—A telegram has been received from Gov. Folk of Missouri announcing that he would be at the Lewis and Clark Exposition at the Lewis and Clark Exposition Tuesday. Many brilliant receptions are being prepared to be given in his honor. September 14 has been set aside by the Lewis and Clark management as Gov. Folk day, and elaborate exercises will be held

SALT RIVER DAM BREAKS.

Freshet Creates More Havoc in Arizona.

Farmers Will Suffer Loss to Grain Crops.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Sept. 7.—Salt River, by reason of rains, is again quite high and last night a gravel dyke in the river, above the Arizona Canal dam, was washed away. This immediate loss in dollars is not disproportionately large, but the effect of it on the agricultural industry of the valley is of great import.

Last spring, several hundred feet of the dam was washed out by floods and owing to continued high water plans had to be delayed. When the water finally subsided crops suffered so much before repairs on the dam progressed sufficiently to again divert water into the canals and the big break was never more than half finished when the summer floods began. But in the course of repairs a temporary gravel dyke was constructed above the break, to divert the water over the finished portion and to the canal head on the south side of the river. Last night another hundred feet of this dyke washed out and the water was again whirling through the chasm in the dam, so that canal head will be dry as soon as the water goes down, if not already so.

As the water subsides it will take but a month to repair the dyke and much can be done in resuming work on the dam. Farmers, therefore, are certain to again experience a year of famine which will seriously affect cattle on pasture and perhaps prevent the fall planting of a large acreage of grain.

BROWNSBETT IS CHARGED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 7.—Charges of dishonesty against the officers of the Lewis and Clark exposition precipitated a fight in the convention of the National Letter Carriers' Association today. Delegate Frank Brownsbeddle stated that he had resigned from the Executive Committee for this reason, and made charges that papers of an incriminating nature had been stolen from his grip while in Vancouver, B. C., and Portland while he was en route to this city to attend the convention.

President Keller replied that the charges against Secretary Cantwell of speculation were unfounded. Treasurer Shaw stated that because of the charges he would withdraw his name as a candidate for the presidency.

The meeting hardly quieted down when a new uproar was created by a motion as to what the executive board had done today. The cause of the row was made that the secretary of the board were attempting to do something. The discussion was closed by the adjournment for the day.

A motion by practically unanimous vote today refused to consider affiliation with the American Federation of Labor.

The tax for the general fund is 26 cents, for the school fund 18.5 cents, for the State high school fund 1.5 cents, and for the interest and sinking fund 1 cent.

Burned to Death.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 7.—Mrs. D. F. Hoover, an elderly woman who resided at Oak Grove, south of this city, was burned to death at noon today. Mrs. Hoover was cooking on a gasoline stove, when it exploded, and the burning oil enveloped her clothing in flames. Her body was badly burned and she suffered great agony before she succumbed. The house and contents were also destroyed by fire.

Its Flight Postponed.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 7.—Owing to an accident which happened shortly after 6 o'clock last evening, there was no flight of the Montgomery aeroplane at Agricultural Park this morning. The event had been advertised for 11 o'clock and in anticipation of witnessing the flight a great crowd assembled at the park long before the appointed time. Prof. Montgomery stated that the flight would be made late in the afternoon.

ENRAGED JAPANESE WORK DESTRUCTION.

Tokio Given Up to Wild Scenes During Which Mobs Attack Newspaper Offices and Police Station and Burn Government Property.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Wednesday, Sept. 6, 9 p.m.—The city continues quiet. Small crowds are assembled around Hibaya Park, but there is no trouble.

The office of the Kokumin continues to be besieged. The doors and windows are blockaded and lines of police enclose the entire block. Heavy police reserves are within call. A detachment of mounted gendarmes is stationed in front of the Foreign Office, prepared to meet emergencies in the disturbed district. About the government buildings, the military display is not conspicuous. A few sentries are patrolling in front of the government buildings and official residences. The main forces of the military remain concealed.

It is predicted that rioting will be resumed tonight under cover of darkness. It is feared that trouble will follow the public meetings planned for later in the week, although opponents of the government say that if the people are given the constitutional right to hold public meetings of protest order will prevail.

An irritating feature of the situation is the continued failure of the government to inform the public of the exact results at Portsmouth. Not a single feature of the negotiations has been communicated officially to the people. The result has been much popular resentment. The people argue that they fought and paid for the war and are entitled to know the results.

Arrests since noon yesterday number about two hundred. The police captured eighty assailants of the Home Minister's residence and detained the prisoners within a compound until morning, fearing that the populace might attempt a rescue.

The total of dead reported to date is four.

DESTROY POLICE STATIONS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Sept. 6, 7 a.m.—The destruction of small police substations continued until midnight. It is impossible to ascertain the exact number destroyed, but it is estimated that fifteen were wrecked. Two of the larger police stations were also destroyed. The mobs generally prevented damage to adjoining private property by dragging the police kiosks into the middle of the streets before applying the torch.

Shortly after midnight, another attempt was made against the Kokumin Shimbun offices, but the police dispersed the attackers, killing one of the assailants. The fact that the man was cut in the back angered the crowd, which demanded the arrest of the policeman.

Detachments of national troops mobilized on account of the war were called out during the night. The crowds received the soldiers good naturedly and cheered them. The principal duty of the troops was the protection of the police.

The anger of the crowds was chiefly on account of the closing of Hibaya Park the denial of the right to publicly meet in the park, which is under the charge of the municipality. After the park was closed yesterday the Mayor and Council met immediately and protested to the government and insisted that the park be reopened. It is now claimed that all the turbulence resulted from the indiscreet closing of the park. Students and young street rowdies seemed to be the largest participants in the disorder of the night.

The firemen succeeded in saving the main structure of the Home Minister's residence. Only the outbuildings were destroyed.

It is impossible to secure accurate figures of the casualties. The Jiji estimates them at two dead and 500 wounded in all, including those seriously and slightly injured, among whom are 100 policemen. The wounds are mostly slight sword thrusts and bruises made by stones.

The city is exceedingly quiet this morning and it is possible that the trouble is over.

HARRIMAN IN MIX-UP.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Sept. 6.—[Delayed in Transmission.] The Harriman party had an exciting experience last night while attending and returning from a dinner given by Baron Sone, Minister of Finance. Dr. W. G. Lyle and J. C. McKnight were caught in a crowd on their way to the dinner and were stoned, Dr. Lyle being struck by a missile and slightly hurt.

After the dinner was over a detachment of soldiers escorted the party to the legation. A crowd stopped R. P. Schwerin, vice-president of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company and assaulted his runners, but they did not touch Mr. Schwerin.

A crowd menacing a neighboring police kiosk filled the space in front of the American Legation and hooted and jeered the soldiers escorting the Harriman party. The soldiers with fixed bayonets charged the crowd, cleared the street and guarded the legation throughout the night.

The dinner planned by the bank for tonight in honor of the Harriman party will not take place owing to the disturbed conditions in the city.

The only serious disturbance this morning was the partial wrecking of a printing office which was assisting the Kokumin Shimbun to publish its editions. The crowd attempted to enter the building, but were prevented by soldiers and some fighting resulted. The police were withdrawn and kept in the background on account of popular disfavor.

The soldiery and gendarmes are performing general duty, the soldiers guarding the foreign legations.

Apparently, there is an outbreak of anti-foreign sentiment, but the government is anxious to prevent the injury of members of the legations and other foreigners. A few foreigners have been caught by the mobs and roughly used.

The Nichi Nichi says: "How can the government retain its dignity in the presence of such rioting? The members of the committee appointed at yesterday's meeting have good standing and are not irresponsible agitators. The police exceeded their authority, with a result derogatory of the honor and dignity of Tokio. Popular indignation was set on fire and the police finally were unable to keep order. If the present conditions continue the contagion may spread, when innocent persons and their property may be damaged."

UPROAR CONTINUES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, Tuesday, Sept. 5, 9:30 p.m.—The city continues in an uproar. Detached mobs attacked and demolished and burned eleven outlying police substations. They easily dispersed and disarmed the small guarding forces, and the work of destruction was accomplished without serious personal violence. Yelling crowds of sightseers, mingling with the rioters, fill the main downtown streets.

During the evening detachments of the Imperial Guard were ordered to central parts of the city to assist in protecting government buildings and preserving order. Blockades were established around the buildings, and the public was excluded. Street-car traffic was suspended in the troublesome districts on account of inability to move the cars.

The wildest rumors are sweeping through the city. It is impossible to accurately gauge the situation, and the extent and seriousness of the crisis. Until today's events, the majority of the conservative elements seemed to be accepting the Portsmouth results; now the aspect is changed.

BURN MINISTER'S HOME.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

Tokio, Sept. 5, Tuesday, 7 p.m.—Serious rioting followed the attack today on the office of the Kokumin Shimbun, the government organ. A mob attacked and burned the official residence of the Minister of Home Affairs, which stood between the Nobles Club and the Imperial Hotel. Threatening demonstrations occurred in the neighborhood of the official homes of Premier Katsura and Baron Komura, Minister of Foreign Affairs, who is now in the United States, but the police succeeded in preventing injury to the occupants or damage to the house.

The situation tonight is threatening. Turbulent crowds fill the streets and it is feared much damage to property is possible under the cover of darkness. All the police reserves are performing urgent duty and heavily guarding danger spots. The streets in the neighborhood of the Kokumin Shimbun are closed, and two hundred police form a cordon around the office. The destruction of the Home Minister's residence was intensely dramatic. Throughout the day, a series of demonstrations occurred in the neighborhood of the building, and late in the afternoon the mob attacked the house, swept the police away and battered down the gates. The police and servants resisted stoutly, but the mob surged forward and entered. One of the mob leaders, carrying an armful of burning straw, gained the rear of the structure and succeeded in setting it on fire. The police reserves charged the crowds, using their swords freely, but the mob rallied from several quarters and stoned the firemen when they arrived. The members of the Minister's household were rescued and escorted to the Imperial Hotel. When darkness came, the flames from the burning building illuminated a menacing scene, the mob hooting and throwing stones at the police and firemen repeatedly clearing the streets.

Accurate figures of the casualties are not obtainable. It is known, however, that one man was killed, that fourteen were mortally wounded by sword thrusts, and that many people were bruised with stones and injured in the crushes.

Another demonstration is planned for September 8, and it is believed that the strongest means will be necessary to prevent serious rioting and bloodshed.

A member of the mob which burned the Home Minister's residence said to the representative of the Associated Press: "We burned the house for the purpose of attracting the attention of the Emperor. We want him to refuse to ratify the treaty. We believe that those surrounding him prevent him from correctly understanding the popular attitude todarw the disgraceful, humiliating peace."

SAILS WITH TREATY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Carrying a copy of the peace treaty signed at Portsmouth to the Emperor of Russia, Prof. DeMaartens, the legal adviser of the Russian peace commission, sailed on the steamer LaLorraine for Havre today. When pressed for a copy of the treaty, he declared that no one but the Emperor of Russia and Japan could see it.

"I have had a most pleasant time in the United States," he said, "and it was due entirely to your President. Next to your President, Witte is a past master as a diplomat. Your President, however, is positively better. Witte was at his best at the conference and the outcome is a great victory for Russia. Witte will issue an invitation to the President, on behalf of the Czar, to visit Russia at any time.

Sept. 7.—The summary of the cotton crop of 1905-06, as reported by the Statistical Committee of the Southern Cotton Growers' Association, as reported today, is as follows: Production, 9,583,133 bales; percentage of conditions as compared with last year, 73.3; as compared with the government's estimate, 72.1. The yield is regarded as exceedingly small, as from 10,000,000 to 10,500,000 bales was expected.

GRAND ARMY GETS BUSY.

Womans Relief Corps Contest for Office.

Spanish War Soldiers Meet in Milwaukee.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DENVER, Sept. 7.—The first meeting of the legislative body of the thirty-ninth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic began at 10 o'clock today at the Broadway Theater. With the exception of a few minutes during which State and city officials welcomed the old soldiers to the city formally, and responding speeches were made by Commander-in-Chief John R. King and others, the sessions today were secret. It did not take long for the encampment delegates to get down to business.

The session was opened with an impressive prayer by Chaplain-in-Chief J. H. Bradford of Washington, D. C. Welcoming addresses were made by Gov. Jesse F. McDonald, Mayor Robert W. Sherman and George W. Cook, chairman of the Denver Executive Committee in charge of the encampment. At Gen. King's suggestion three cheers were given the speakers. Gen. King then delivered his address. When he came to that part referring to the Daughters of Veterans' Association, the memory of the loss of his daughter recently, a member of the above association, overcame him and he sat down with tears streaming down his cheeks.

GEN. KING'S ADDRESS.

The address of the Commander-in-Chief, John R. King of Baltimore, covered the record of the administration of the late Commander-in-Chief William W. Blackmar, whose services covered eleven months of the term for which he was elected.

"From the very beginning of his term, Commander-in-Chief Blackmar's purpose was to do all that man could do to encourage the several departments, particularly those that were weakest or most remote, and so far as lay in his power, infuse new life and energy and health in their ranks, and give to them added inspiration to continue bravely and manfully in the great work they were carrying on for God and country and humanity.

"The work of the Committee on Pensions has been mainly devoted to urging the passage of a service pension bill. The number of certificates issued in 1905 was 182,207—more than 30,000 in excess of the year before and still more in excess of former years. The large number was due to the operation of order number 78, the bureau granting 12,426 original pensions and 34,549 increased pensions under the order.

Since the order was issued April 13, 1904, the total number of allowances under it was 65,612, most of them, however, having been for increase. The pension roll now contains the names of 694,000 survivors of the Civil War against 636,792 at the close of 1904. The deaths in 1905 of survivors of the Civil War were 30,324.

The observance of the exercises of Memorial Day has become so widespread that at the present time scarcely a city, town or village can be found in this great republic that does not in some manner pay tribute to the nation of honored dead.

If properly requested so to do by the encampment, there was little doubt that the War Department would be willing to include in its estimates for the next fiscal year an appropriation sufficient for the erection of an amphitheater in Arlington Cemetery and also an appropriation to put Lincoln's Gettysburg address on tablets in all national cemeteries.

With an active committee at work to this end it was safe to assume that the government will soon establish an additional soldiers home in California.

The Woman's Relief Corps still maintains its position as the right hand of the G.A.R. Very few enterprises are now undertaken by posts that these patriotic women are not called upon for assistance and right royally they give it.

Badges as ordered by the last national encampment, have been sent to all army nurses, whose addresses were furnished, but one thing more needs to be done for these noble women. They have been endeavoring for some time to secure an increase of pension. If the encampment could contribute to the success of the measure it would be going a long way toward paying the debt of gratitude that comrades owe to the army nurses.

The Sons of Veterans is increasing in numbers and influence and is unquestionably destined to play an important part in the future history of the land their fathers saved.

The Daughters of Veterans by combining their influence in such an organization as the National Alliance Daughters of Veterans can accomplish much in the day of inculcating in the minds of children a love for the country and a loyal devotion to the flag as the emblem of national unity and the rights of man.

SENIOR VICE REPORT.

The report of John R. King, as Senior Vice-Commander in Chief, contained the following:

"The time is passing when we can hope for a material increase in our membership, yet there are many, very many survivors of the Union armies of the Civil War who still hold aloof and fail to avail themselves of their eligibility to join the Grand Army of the Republic.

"In view of the great benefit the influence of our order has been to them in the way of influencing legislation along the line of pension enactments, it is surprisingly astonishing why there are so many who are willing to reap the benefits of our organized efforts, and yet remain outside of our ranks, leaving to a relative few the burden of fighting for the rights of the old soldiers."

VICE-COMMANDER'S REPORT.

The report of G. W. Patton, Junior Vice-Commander in Chief, referred to the enthusiastically cordial greeting extended to him in the South during his visit to the posts there. Veterans are employed in the parks at Vicksburg and Shiloh, but at Chattanooga, Gettysburg and Antietam the positions occupied by the veterans were taken from them under the civil-service rules, after which the veterans were discharged, one after another, until all were gone that any excuse could be found for suspending. A United States deputy marshal occasionally rides over the fields, and the memorial and other property is left at the mercy of the thieves and vandals who visit the fields for plunder.

Adjt.-Gen. J. E. Gilman stated in his report that the membership June 30, 1905, was 232,455. The deaths during the year were 9152. The net loss for the year was 14,885. The number under suspension June 30, was 19,563. The total expenditures for relief were $98,863. Speaking of Gen. Blackmar, the Adjutant-General said:

"His virtues were many, and his faults were few. He was the noblest type of a free-born American."

QUARTERMASTER REPORT.

Quartermaster-General Charles Burrows reported receipts (including balance, $10,603,) of $25,261, and expenditures of $15,334, leaving the balance August 2, 1905, $10,927.

Inspector-General Lee N. Estelle reported that there are 23,534 members in the national home, and 13,741 in the State home. State laws, he said, giving ex-soldiers preference in appointments seem to be more ornamental than useful, and are not enforced. He hoped the laws making it a criminal offense to play games, have horse races, etc., on Memorial Day would not become a dead letter.

CHIEF AIDE'S REPORT.

Allen C. Bakewell, chief aide in charge of military instruction and patriotic instruction in schools, reported that the teaching of patriotism to the pupils of the schools has become vastly more general through the cooperation of posts, the assistance of department commanders and the support of superintendents of public instruction, than hitherto; and, with these growing influences now substantially obtained, the results have multiplied until the grand object shall be obtained of placing the statue of patriotism on a lofty pedestal, to rank highest among the exhibits of the virtues of a self-governed people. Military instruction in public schools is growing to be considered an important feature of the curriculum. Flag Day has been recognized in many localities.

"The supplies for common education being furnished by the State, why not the flag, which is the text-book of patriotism?"

SYMPATHY MESSAGE.

SIGNAL CORPS OFFICERS.

The U. S. Veteran Signal Corps Association has elected the following officers: President, W. K. Burchinell, Denver; second vice-president, E. P. Cowell, Boston; third vice-president, C. S. Bolten, Cameron, Mo.; secretary and treasurer, D. M. W. Marcy, Boston; historian, J. Willard Brown, East Boston, Mass.; Chaplain, W. H. McCreary, Loveland, Colo. The first vice-president and the quartermaster will be appointed by the president from the city in which the next G.A.R. encampment is held.

ON PENSIONS.

Charles G. Burton of Nevada, Mo., chairman of the committee on pensions, reported recommendations concerning the policy of the national encampment on the pension question. His committee favored a reiteration of the action taken at the last two national encampments, which is that a general service pension bill be passed by Congress giving every man who served ninety days in the war of the Rebellion and received an honorable discharge, a pension of $12 per month after he has arrived at the age of 62 years, and a like amount to widows who had married the soldiers prior to the passage of the act of June 17, 1890. This recommendation was unanimously endorsed.

MEMORIAL FUND.

Great interest was displayed in the report of Gen. Louis Wagner of Philadelphia, chairman of the Stevenson Memorial fund. He said that $15,000 had been raised but that he intended to call for further contributions. At this point Salmon G. Simmons of Kenosha, Wis., who, though not a member of the G.A.R., has always been a warm friend of the organization, was admitted to the hall and formally introduced. Announcement was made that Mr. Simmons had caused to be struck off a beautiful bronze emblem for every member of the Grand Army. This evidence of friendship caused a remarkable demonstration of appreciation on the part of the delegates. Gen. Wagner, at the conclusion of the cheering, arose and asked the delegates to pledge themselves to contribute to the Stevenson Memorial fund what they thought they could afford. As he was taking his seat, Mr. Simmons asked in a whisper what it would take to place Wisconsin at the head of the list.

"Depend upon me for that amount," responded Mr. Simmons.

Gen. Wagner again arose and told the delegates of Mr. Simmons generous contribution, and a great cheer arose. Others made pledges, some as high as $1000 and at the end it was stated that the fund had reached nearly $22,000. All resolutions today were referred without reading to the resolutions committee, except the one on the death of the Commander-in-Chief Blackmar, which was adopted by a rising vote, the members standing with bowed heads. George E. Henry of Massachusette, was chosen assistant adjutant-general to succeed Mr. Stilling, elected Junior Vice-Commander. The encampment then made the election of officers a special order for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and adjourned until tomorrow.

PUEBLO (Colo.) Sept. 7.—A temporary restraining order was granted by Judge J. H. Voorhees of the District Court today which enjoins the ticket brokers of Denver, Pueblo, Colorado Springs, Trinidad and Cripple Creek from buying, selling or in any manner dealing in excursion tickets known as "G.A.R. transportation."

The roads making application for this injunction are the Colorado and Southern, Missouri Pacific, Union Pacific, Rock Island, Santa Fe, Rio Grande and Burlington.

The injunction will be argued next Monday.

SPANISH VETERANS

MEET IN MILWAUKEE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Sept. 7.—Milwaukee today greeted the delegates and visitors to the second annual reunion of the United Spanish War veterans and the ladies' auxiliary of that organization.

After a reception the veterans met in Light Horse Squadron armory and were welcomed to the city by Acting Mayor Corcoran. Commander-in-Chief William E. English then delivered his annual address. A business session followed.

WOMAN'S RELIEF CORPS.

CONTEST FOR OFFICE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DENVER, Sept. 7.—The National Convention of the Women's Relief Corps began its sessions at 9 o'clock today in the Trinity M. E. Church. The most interesting political fight in any of the conventions of the Grand Army encampment is the one in this body. For the office of president, Mrs. Kate Jones of New York, Mrs. Carrie E. Sparklin of St. Louis, Mrs. Belle C. Harris of Emporia, Kan., Mrs. Abbie A. Adams of Superior, Neb., and Mrs. Geraldine E. Frisbie of San Francisco are entered in the race. Mrs. Charlotte H. Wright of Hartford, Conn., Mrs. Emily E. White of Indiana and Mrs. Emily Milham, aspire to the office of treasurer.

The first business transacted by the Woman's Relief Corps this morning was the formal welcome to the city and State and responses. Then fraternal greetings were received from other auxiliary bodies and the Grand Army encampment.

Report of the national secretary, Helen McGregor Ayres, showed that the total number of members June 30, 1905, was 155,223, a net gain of 2772 over the preceeding year.

The financial report as presented by Sarah E. Phillips of Syracuse, N. Y., the national treasurer, shows a prosperous condition. The assets on June 30 were reported at $24,219, with no liabilities. There is a balance in the general fund of $13,943, the supplies on hand are appraised at $5454.

Mrs. Fannie Minot, national president of the Woman's Relief Corps, reviewed the work accomplished during the year. She recommended that the convention endorse the action of last year's convention in establishing a fund for the perpetual care of the Andersonville prison property by an appropriation of not less than $1000 annually and that this year the sum of $2000 be added to this permanent fund.

John A. Ewton, representing Dallas, Texas, and the principal cities of the South, in a brief speech, invited the organization to hold its 1906 convention in Dallas.

The convention took a recess until 3 o'clock. After the afternoon session gifts were made to officers about to retire. They consisted of diamond-studded brooches, diamond rings, vases, etc. Memorial services in honor of Gen. Blackmar were held. The convention also decided to elect officers tomorrow morning. A night session was held at which some routine business was disposed of to clear the way for the election.

VETERANS' DAUGHTERS.

ELECTION ON FRIDAY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DENVER, Sept. 7.—The Daughters of Veterans, in twentieth annual convention, today heard reports of officers and department presidents. All reported a growth in membership. Nominations for officers were made. For chaplain, inspector and membership of the council, there is a contest. The only nominee for president is Mrs. Bertha M. Martin of Massillon, O., the present senior vice-president. The election will occur tomorrow.

GRAND ARMY LADIES.

ANNUAL SESSION BEGINS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DENVER, Sept. 7.—The Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, an auxiliary of the Grand Army of the Republic, held its nineteenth annual convention today. The report of the president, Mrs. Mary T. Hagar of Chicago showed that three new departments and 100 circles had been added during the year. This is the greatest record made by an administration. The reports of the treasurer, Mrs. Julia M. Gordon of Topeka, Kan., and the secretary, Mrs. Genevieve H. Longfield of Chicago, indicated that the organization was enjoying prosperity. Presents of beautiful bejeweled ornaments and other gifts were made to the officers in token of their splendid service. Nominations for officers, in several instances three or four for the same office, were made and will be voted on tomorrow. All other nominees for president withdrew in favor of Mrs. Ruth Foote of Denver, which insures her election.

FEAR NOT FEVER IN SEPTEMBER.

MONTH SUFFICIENTLY ADVANCED TO GIVE GOOD HOPE.

Negro Who Had Run Quarantine Tied to Tree That He Might Not Again Have Chance of Spreading Infection—Sensational Arrest of a Doctor Made at Pensacola.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 7.—Report to 6 p.m.—New cases, 35; total to date 2177; deaths, 6; total, 304; new foci, 9; cases under treatment, 308; cases discharged, 1565.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 7.—September is sufficiently advanced to give assurance to the medical authorities that their expectation that the fever would not take a bad turn during the month will be realized. Some apprehension existed here when the city was invaded by millions of mosquitoes after yesterday's rain that many stegomyia would be found among them. The similarity of the swamp mosquitoes to the yellow fever variety was so close that the laymen were deceived. But it was promptly pointed out that while the solicitants, which came as a pest last night, have legs like the stegomyia, they have not the striped body which distinguishes the latter.

A remarkable case that came to light today was the chaining of a negro to a pine tree on the outskirts of Pass Christian in fear that he might spread infection. He was caught trying to run the quarantine out of the pass. Fearing that he was infected, the authorities refused to put him in jail. There was no detention camp in which he might be located. Therefore he was secured with a chain and the chain bolted to a tree. Since then a tent has been provided for him.

DECREASE AT PENSACOLA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PENSACOLA (Fla.) Sept. 7.—The number of new cases of yellow fever to develop in Pensacola yesterday showed a decrease, although physicians are still investigating a number which will probably be pronounced yellow fever. Only one well-developed case was reported, the patient being Herman Finney, a telegraph operator for the Western Union, whose office is located in the infected district. This makes a total of seventeen cases, of which eleven are under treatment.

A sensation was created late yesterday by the arrest of S. D. Gonzales upon the charge of opposing the State health authorities and circulating false reports. Dr. Gonzales openly stated that there was no fever in Pensacola, that the present scare was only for the purpose of getting graft from the public and that there was not a word of truth in the bulletins reported. The doctor served in Cuba during the Spanish-American War and received commendation for his sanitary work in Cuba.

After working three hours and walking to his house unassisted while suffering from a fractured skull, Benjamin S. Schooley, 47 years old, died Wednesday in Chicago.

CAPTAIN ACCUSES CONGRESSMAN OF USING HIS PULL.

Army Officer Asserts That Counsel for His Wife is Trying to Get Him Court-martialed and Further Calls Him a Scandalous Villifier—Letters Produced in Court.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WOOSTER (O.) Sept. 7.—Capt. Taggart was again on the witness stand in the Taggart divorce case today and created a sensation when he accused ex-Judge Smyzer, counsel for Mrs. Taggart, of using his position as a member of Congress to obtain an order from the War Department that he (Taggart) be tried by court martial. Capt. Taggart lost his temper and said to Smyzer:

"Your position in the matter was that of a scandalous villifier. The letter you wrote to the War Department was vile and mean. It contained misrepresentations. Your attack was cowardly and made under cover of your position."

Smyzer had a letter that he had written to the War Department that Capt. Taggart pronounced worse than the one that had been seen in the War Department letters.

"You know, Mr. Smyzer," continued Taggart; "that you said you would take advantage of your position as a Congressman and your influence with the War Department to beat me in this lawsuit."

"No, I did not ever say that," answered Smyzer vehemently.

"Well, Mrs. Taggart said you did," replied Capt. Taggart.

After recess the letter was produced and read to Taggart, who looked at the letter book and said there was no signature.

"I signed it," said Smyzer. "It is not customary to put the signature in a copy book."

"Did you sign it as a Congressman?"

"No. I don't try lawsuits as a Congressman."

"Well, it looks very much that way," said Capt. Taggart.

SCHOOL CHILDREN REGISTER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—School children, big and little, called yesterday upon their principals all over Greater New York to register for the school term, which will begin next Monday. The offices remained open until 3 o'clock and the teachers will be on hand again today and tomorrow to furnish information and accept the eligibles.

While no complete statistics will be available for some days, there is an estimated increase of 30,000 in the total registration. Last season it was 2000 below this mark. New seats amounting to 30,000 have been provided.

Six months from now eighty-three new buildings will be ready. Some of them will be occupied next week and the work of finishing the others will be pushed so that all may be ready to receive pupils before another school term. These new schools will provide for 93,700 elementary sittings and 10,610 high school sittings. Members of the Board of Education expect to have so many school buildings within three years that no pupil will be refused admission for some time.

Great precaution is being taken this year to prevent children under the prescribed age from obtaining entrance to the classes. Birth certificates or other indisputable evidence must be brought forward before a child is registered.

EXPECT OUTBREAK AT AMOY.

Anti-American Boycott Movement Uncertain Factor in Chinese Port Which Taft Visited.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

AMOY, Sept. 7.—The transport Logan, with Maj.-Gen. Corbin and party on board, arrived here this morning at daybreak. Many of the party went on shore and viewed the scenes of the recent riots.

The present condition of affairs in connection with the anti-American boycott movement is uncertain, and the coolies are expected to make a serious outbreak on or about September 13.

All the members of the party are reported well on board the Logan, which will sail for Shanghai at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

[The riots referred to took place July 22 last. On that date, a mob of Chinese fanatics, after attending a meeting where resolutions were passed pronouncing a boycott on American products, attacked the American Consulate and threatened the native servants of Consul Anderson with death. The local authorities promptly put down the uprising which, for a time, assumed serious proportions, and punished the offenders.—Associated Press.]

FAVOR SUB-TROPICS.

In Response to Demand, Regular Packet Line is to be Established from New York.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—In confirmation of a Panama dispatch to the Associated Press, it is learned here that the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, which has maintained a regular service between England and West Indian and South American ports for more than half a century, has decided to establish a regular line between New York and the same ports. The first sailing from New York will be made October 28 for Kingston, Jamaica, thence to Colon and other South American ports. From Barbadoes the steamer will proceed to the Azores and Southampton, Eng. The same itinerary in reverse order will be followed by steamers on the return trip. Sailings from either end will be fortnightly.

It is stated by the steamship officials that the establishment of the new line from New York is to some extent an outcome of the increasing interest that is being taken by the American traveling public in winter excursions to the near-by sub-tropics. Development of isthmian and trans-isthmian freight traffic has also had its influence.

Washington Scientist Returns from Great American Desert With News of Discovery.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from St. Louis says: "Dr. W. J. McGee, who is head of the anthropological department of the World's Fair, was in St. Louis yesterday on his way back to Washington, after a remarkable four months' experience in the Great American Desert, Arizona, in which he says he discovered how storms are bred in the region which has long been termed the 'storm-breding belt.'

"'A reservoir of aqueous vapor is formed over the Pacific Coast and the Gulf of California,' he said, 'and this swings over the storm-breeding belt. The ground here is perfectly level, and the radiation from the earth's surface is consequently regular and even. The heat radiation from the desert is, of course, very great. This strong radiation, by its regularity, keeps the aqueous vapor high above the earth in a stable condition.

"'When the vapors move eastward, over the mountains, and meet the irregular radiation that comes from the uneven surface of the earth, a precipitation of the vapor results, causing rain and storms.'"

The Associated Oil Company has just closed a deal by which it obtains the complete control of the Amalgamated Oil Company of this city, and will have four, instead of two of its own directors on the latter's governing board. As it was first organized the Associated was represented in the Amalgamated directory by W. S. Porter and C. A. Canfield. The new directors elected at the meeting Wednesday, are Burton E. Green and Frank H. Buck, of Vacaville. The news of the deal was given to The Times by General Manager W. S. Porter while he was in the city yesterday.

The Amalgamated property is now producing 16,000 barrels a day and Mr. Porter says this is being marketed. There are thirty wells and he figures that their output is about two-thirds of that of the whole of the Los Angeles field. The company has 2000 acres of land, which is only in small part developed and all the wells are pumping steadily, the oil being transported to the city by the pipe line.

The Associated people, from Mr. Porter down, all speak enthusiastically of the property of the Amalgamated at Bakersfield, station on the Los Angeles Pacific line, just west of the city. They consider it one of the best in the State and expect it to hold out for years. Unlike the city field, of which it would appear to be an extension, it is declared to have four or five strata of rich oil sands. Some of the wells have up-to-date proved themselves good for 500 or 600 barrels a day, after being placed on the pump.

The land from which the oil comes belongs to Mrs. Ida Hancock of this city, and is leased under a royalty. She is receiving about $280 a day from the Amalgamated, or its sub-corporations or operating companies, the Salt Lake, Arturus and Utah-California. The Amalgamated is capitalized at $5,000,000 and the Associated has already put nearly $3,000,000 into it.

Mr. Porter says that it is the intention of the Associated to supply its entire trade south of the Tehachepi from this field and no Kern oil is to be brought here—which confirms in every way what The Times has hitherto published. He says that there will be no attempt to cut prices, but he denies absolutely that there is any possibility of a combine with the Union, which fully coincides with what the Union has already said.

The Associated has just closed a contract with the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company to supply 2,500 barrels of fuel a day. This is another serious invasion of the coal men's territory in the north where oil has been making great inroads during the last few months and has been adopted by many steamboats and manufacturing concerns.

LITIGATION IN GEORGIA.

In the United States court at Columbus, Ga., yesterday Judge Little began the hearing of a demurrer entered by defense in the injunction suit of Mrs. M. Gabriel vs. the Union Land and Oil Company, et al., according to a special dispatch to The Times. Mrs. Gabriel is seeking to have the company's affairs wound up and is trying to prevent the company renewing its charter in December. The hearing will be completed tomorrow. The defendant corporation was the original owner of these lands now held under lease by the Associated Oil Company, and more than ninety per cent. of its stock is held by the combine or its directors, it having been acquired to insure the holding of the lease which was transferred to them when the combine was formed. The plaintiff represents some minority interest and seeks to embarrass the company. Details are hard to obtain but when asked Director C. A. Canfield stated that the Associated's title can not possibly be touched and he denies absolutely the report published at Bakersfield that the matter was of such importance as to cause Manager Porter to visit the south recently or at any other time or that the present shut-down at McKittrick has any connection therewith. Mr. Canfield says that the only reason for suspending operations was over-production and lack of storage facilities.

INSTALLING PUMPS.

The Union Oil Company has just purchased two large Dow pumps to be installed on its Santa Maria pipe line, one at Orcutt where there will be two in operation and one at Summit, where the line is to be extended. With these additions it is expected that it will be possible to pump 6000 barrels a day with ease.

The Union is evidently working to get in shape to meet the coming competition of the Standard. In this it has one very great advantage in having its own oil, which comprises by far the greater part of the production at present and is thus not dependent upon contracts with outsiders. If the development continues to show up, with the ownership of more than half the field secure, the Union seems to be in a position to meet all attacks. So far as ever known, the Standard has but two contracts made, those with the Union and Pinal. The Standard doubtless relies upon the encouragement thus given to bring about enough development by independents in new territory to make up the difference.

The Southern Pacific has also bought a Dow special oil pump, 12x12x24x24, to be placed on its Kern River line, one at Orcutt where there will be two in operation and one at Summit, which with the patent corrugated pipe which is being prepared at Bakersfield. The pump is guaranteed by the manufacturers to deliver a quantity of oil several times as large as could possibly be handled by any ordinary pipe, from which it is evident the railroad company expects great things from its patent.

While the utmost secrecy is said to be enforced at Bakersfield as to the intended ultimate destination of the line and the general offices in San Francisco have denied that the line will go to the bay, The Times is in a position to declare upon the very best authority that it is the present intention to build to Delano as an experiment only, and if this be successful it will be extended to the bay within a year. Additional tracks are now being put in at Delano.

The Union Oil Company is buying a large amount of oil in the city field, as the O'Donnell Company and one or two others. These companies had put their product into the association

ASSOCIATED'S LATEST MOVE.

Combine Gets Entire Control of Amalgamated.

It Has Now Four Instead of Two Directors.

Three Millions Put Into Its Southern Holdings.

The Associated Oil Company has just closed a deal by which it obtains the complete control of the Amalgamated Oil Company of this city, and will have four, instead of two of its own directors on the latter's governing board. The Amalgamated property is now producing 30,000 barrels a day and Mr. Porter says this is being marketed. There are thirty wells and he figures that their output is about two-thirds of that of the whole of the Los Angeles field. The company has 2000 acres of land, which is only in small part developed and all the wells are pumping steadily, the oil being transported to the city by the pipe line.

The Associated people, from Mr. Porter down, all speak enthusiastically of the property of the Amalgamated at Monterey station on the Los Angeles Pacific line, just west of the city. They consider it one of the best in the State and expect it to hold out for years. Unlike the city field, of which it would appear to be an extension, it is developed to have four or five strata of rich oil sands. Some of the wells have up-to-date proved themselves good for 800 or 900 barrels a day, after being placed on the pump.

The land from which the oil comes belongs to Mrs. Ida Hancock of this city, and is leased under a royalty. She is receiving about $200 a day from the Amalgamated, or its sub-corporations or operating companies, the Salt Lake, Arturus and Utah-California. The pump is guaranteed by the manufacturers to deliver a quantity of oil several times as large as could possibly be handled by any ordinary plant, from which it is evident the railroad company expects great things from its patent.

These companies had no outlet except into the association before the Union's offer was received, but the organization consented to its withdrawal. The price has not been made public, but it is understood to be about 25 cents.

The association has not yet made any large deals, but it is making sales from time to time and much street and road work is being done with the local oil. Since proper specifications have been adopted much better results are being obtained.

BAD AUTO ACCIDENT.

Two of a Kind Look Horns and Three People are Injured in the Big Collision.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Col. A. N. Cooke and his wife, who were injured last night by a collision between their automobile and an auto-ambulance in Brooklyn, were so much improved that they left the hospital a few minutes after the accident and proceeded to their hotel in Manhattan.

Mrs. Thelma Blake, wife of a broker who accompanied the Cooke's on their unfortunate trip, is, however, in a serious condition. She was treated on the scene of the accident by a doctor who happened to be passing. He hurriedly carried her to a hospital where a large fracture of the skull and other severe wounds were found. Mrs. Blake is still unconscious and her recovery is considered doubtful.

A strange feature of the accident was the escape uninjured of a boy, ill from diphtheria, who was in the ambulance. The hospital surgeons on the latter were so dazed that they did not come to their senses for some minutes.

It is stated that the ambulance was running at least thirty miles an hour when it struck Col. Cooke's car which was moving slowly. Both cars were knocked from their wheels and the chauffeurs pinned fast by the steering wheels. Mrs. Blake was thrown some distance head foremost on the stone pavement. As usual in street accidents a big crowd quickly gathered. When it was learned that the lad in the ambulance had a contagious disease interest in the wreck experienced a big slump and the sightseers took to their heels.

Col. Cooke is Commodore of the Southern Yacht Club of New Orleans, and one of the wealthiest men of the southern capital. When the yellow fever became serious he and his wife left New Orleans in their steam yacht, coming to New York. They have spent the summer cruising in near-by waters.

TWO KILLED IN COLLAPSE.

Building Alleged to Have Been Condemned Goes Down in New York. Official Under Arrest.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Two persons were killed, one of them a girl 16 years old, when a building at Grand and Mott streets collapsed today. The building is said to have been condemned two years ago, but had been permitted to be occupied since. Thomas McGovern, a foreman in the building department is under arrest in connection with the collapse on a charge of criminal negligence.

The dead:

MARIB GARIOSO, 16 years old.
JOSEPH FARANINI, 48 years old.

Nearly a score of persons were injured, some suffering from broken limbs.

The Garioso girl was passing the building when the collapse came and she was almost instantly killed. Faranini had returned to the building to get some of his belongings and was caught by the falling walls.

SIDE TALKS BY THE OFFICE BOY

Look pleasant, unless looks the fact that wears a frown. Geo. but this is going to be a cracker-jack Fall. I heard dozens of manufacturers tell the old man that the entire country never was as prosperous as it is today, that the next twelve months would be chuck full of opportunities for everybody to get ahead if they half tried. Don't stand around and stare at "success" for if you do it will get us and leave the room. One of the best ways to get prosperous is to look the part. We've got a department in our Spring street store where we can certainly make you look the part. That's our Tailoring Department. Our new Fall woolens are simply stunning and there's no doubt but we've got the cleverest cutter in town. He can put more character into a garment than any tailor I ever heard of. I just wish you'd let him make you up a Fall suit. Come in as soon as you can and take a look at the proper fabrics before the assortment is all shot to pieces.

POLICE CATCH BOYS ON BAY.

Youthful Burglars Bound North on Steamer.

West First-street Loot in Their Possession.

Sensational Chase of Officers in Harbor Tug.

After having robbed the Ark department store on West First street on three separate occasions, Edison Biggs and Sam Moore, two youthful burglars whose records with the police are bad, made an attempt to escape with their loot yesterday afternoon on board the steamer Brooklyn, bound from San Pedro to Mendocino.

The boys smuggled their stolen goods aboard the steamer after purchasing tickets for the north, and the vessel was under way in the outer harbor when it was overhauled by City Marshal Baker and Officer John Frank of the San Pedro police force, in a tug. Biggs and Moore were taken from the steamer by the San Pedro officers, acting under advices from the Los Angeles police, and late last night the accused lads were landed in the City Jail by Detectives Hawley and Murphy.

Three weeks ago the Ark store was entered by burglars and a lot of articles were stolen. Tuesday night the place was again entered through a window and fifteen watches, numerous rings, knives, chains, razors and other articles were taken. The following night the place suffered a third visit from the burglars, when merchandise aggregating several hundred dollars was stolen, in addition to $26 in cash. By a mere chance the burglars overlooked one section of the cash drawer, in which a roll containing $940 reposed.

Yesterday Detectives Hawley and Murphy learned that Biggs and Moore were disposing of watches in San Pedro at $1 each, and City Marshal Baker was instructed to arrest them. Baker caught the trail of the youths just after they had boarded the Brooklyn, and made his sensational chase down the bay after the vessel.

Capt. Carlson of the steamer readily turned the boys over to the officers, who then recovered much of the loot.

Especially bad is the record of Biggs. Less than a year ago Detectives Hawley and Murphy traced the theft of a dozen wheels to Biggs, and found the boy had taken an ax and chopped up and buried many of the machines in the back yard of his mother's residence on Court Circle. Biggs was sent to the Detention Home, but he escaped prosecution on account of his age, and was released on probation. The boy's father is said to be serving a term in the penitentiary for forgery.

LOOKOUT GIVES AID TO THREE HOLD-UP MEN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—One of the most startling robberies in the history of the underworld in this city happened a day or two since, according to the World, in a brownstone mansion in West Eightieth street.

The place has been used recently as a gambling house. A well-known turfman had put in an evening of high play, during which he lost $7500. He had left the house but a few minutes when there came a rapping at the street door. A "lookout" was sent down, and three men wearing masks dashed through the door. They quickly made their way to the main gaming-room, where ten players were seated at roulette tables. Two revolvers were leveled at the proprietor, while the third robber annexed $8200 in bills gathered from the cash drawers. The men immediately fled and were joined at the street door by a fourth, who had held the "lookout" under guard while his pals were within. The owners of the establishment are now quietly searching for the "lookout," whom they declare planned the robbery.

CRIME BRIEFS.

Shoots Brother-in-law.

SONORA, Sept. 7.—Peter Marengo, son of a prominent and wealthy Italian, inflicted a mortal wound on his brother-in-law, Fred Bogio, at the Marengo home, on the outskirts of this city, last night. Marengo was engaged in beating his aged father, when Bogio compelled him to desist. Marengo secured a pistol and shot Bogio in the abdomen. He then fired several shots at his father and sister, who escaped uninjured. The doctors say that Bogio cannot recover. Marengo is in jail.

Tomorrow's cricket match at Santa Monica will be played on the polo grounds at Eighth and Nevada streets, a field having been fixed up there for the English game.

The following Los Angeles players will make the trip and furnish the material for the selection of an eleven, leaving the city on the 9:25 o'clock car: H. P. and Fred Justice, P. Higgins, A. W. Barwell, A. E. Hughes, P. N. Wood, H. P. Gadston, J. L. Dyer, A. Morris, C. W. N. Porter, F. Barton, Dr. W. G. Percival, James G. Pierce, W. R. Wright.

LANGFORD'S CHANCE.

BOSTON (Mass.) Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] If Sam Langford scores a victory over Larry Temple at Marlboro tonight he is to be given a chance at one of the California clubs. Joe Woodman, his manager, received word yesterday from one of the fight promoters in that State that the sports of that section of the country are anxious to seen Langford box, but they want him to come there a winner.

GREAT MOB BURNS TEXAS NEGRO ALIVE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

FORT WORTH (Tex.) Sept. 7.—A special to the Record from Waxahatchie tells of the burning tonight of Steve Davis, a young negro, who confessed to assaulting Mrs. S. P. Norris, aged 20, last Saturday night.

A mob consisting of 2000 persons tied the negro to a piece of gas pipe that had been set in the ground, set fagots around him, and set the mass on fire. The sufferings of the negro were of short duration, owing to the fierceness of the fire which was fanned by a gale of wind, which blew across the prairie.

The husband of the woman is said to have set the match to the tinder and started the blaze that consumed the negro.

Davis was arrested last Tuesday and taken before the woman, who at that time was not sure it was he. She had been desperately ill. Today he was again taken before the woman, who, on sight of him, fainted.

When she recovered she identified him, and his fate was sealed. The negro finally confessed, detailing the crime. This is the third negro that has been burned in this section of Texas within a short time.

MURDERER PLANS ESCAPE.

WHOLESALE SLAYER WEBER HAS A GOOD SCHEME.

Hides in a Prison Bathtub Under Clothes, Intending to Slip Out, but Fails—Returns to Cell, Only When Officers Threaten Him With Rough Handling.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

AUBURN, Sept. 7.—There was excitement around the Courthouse and City Hall this afternoon when it became known that Albert Weber, convicted of murdering his mother and also charged with the murder of his father, sister and brother, had made an attempt to escape.

It is customary to take Weber's dinner into his cell at 1 o'clock. He is then allowed to go out of his cell in the corridor into a large room where there is a toilet an dbathtub. He is frequently allowed to be out there a short time, the outer door of the corridor being locked. When Under Sheriff May went in soon after 1 o'clock today he noticed Weber had not eaten any dinner. He looked into his cell and thought he saw him lying in his bunk, and his clothing was so arranged in the bed as to look like a person lying there. May asked:

"What is the matter, Adolph, are you sick?" Receiving no answer, he asked again, when John L. Caskey, another prisoner, who occupied the adjoining cell, spoke up and said:

"He is asleep."

May discovered that Weber was not in the cell and nowhere in sight. He made a search for him and found him concealed in the bathtub, covered entirely with a lot of clothing belonging to Mamie Gardner, a woman prisoner, whose cell is on the other side of the corridor. May asked what he was doing there, but he refused to answer and would not get out of the tub and go back to his cell until May threatened to handle him roughly. He then slowly and sullenly returned to his cell and was locked up.

It is supposed Weber knew that Caskey was to be taken out of his cell at 1:30 to plead in the Superior Court on a charge of robbery, and that he intended to be loose in the corridor when the officer came to take Caskey out, and while he was engaged at Caskey's cell to slip out and make his escape.

SPANIARDS CELEBRATE.

Eleven Hundred and Ninety-fourth Anniversary of Battle of Covadonga Observed Fittingly.

The second annual banquet of the Covadonga Society was given last night in the historic hall of the Church of Our Lady of the Angels on the eleven hundred and ninety-fourth anniversary of the defeat of the Moors by the Spaniards at Covadonga.

It was in commemoration of the Spanish national holiday, and seventy Spanish-speaking men and women joined in the celebration. Following an elaborate literary and musical programme, all indulged in a genuine Spanish feast laid in the long dining hall.

Rev. Father Juan Caballeria of the Plaz Church presided, and Mrs. J. L. Corella Phipps was the guest of honor. Mrs. Phipps, although an American, delivered an address in such finished and fluent Spanish as to win the enthusiastic plaudits of her hearers.

One of the features of the evening was a series of short speeches delivered by representatives of South American republics present. Among these were Jose Velasco of Peru, P. Azuero of Colombia, S. Rangel of Mexico, and M. Bolema of Panama. All spoke for closer commercial and political relations among all of the American republics and a hearty and eloquent response along these lines was made by Father Caballeria, a finished and effective orator.

The festivities were closed by the playing of the Spanish and American national anthems and the singing of Spanish songs.

DEMOCRATS TO AID PRESIDENT.

WILL STAND BY HIM IN RATE LEGISLATION MATTER.

Senator Culberson Gives It as His Opinion That Party Lines Will Disappear at Next Session of Congress, When Railroad Affairs Will Come up for Consideration.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Senator Charles A. Culberson of Texas, now in this city, is quoted by The Times as having expressed the belief that legislation on governmental regulation of railroad rates will be enacted at the session of Congress, which will begin a few weeks hence. Although the House may act quickly, he says the Senate will proceed deliberately and slowly.

"I think the Democrats of the Senate, although I am not authorized to speak for anyone but myself, will cooperate with the Republicans, who stand by the President in an effort to secure this legislation," the Senator continued. "The House passed a bill last session, but the Senate, owing to delay in the Committee on Interstate Commerce, was unable to do anything. Those who favored delay last session plainly stated that they would agree to take the subject under consideration this winter, so that it may be generally anticipated that something will be done."

DENIES INFRINGEMENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The reply of the Santa Fé refrigerator dispatch to the inquiry instituted by the Interstate Commerce Commission concerning the relations of refrigerator lines and railroads was received today. The respondent agrees with the defense made by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé, in that both are engaged in distinct commercial business and that one receives no part of the charges made by the other. The refrigerator line says that it does not act as the agent of the railroad in any matter. That the law has been infringed is denied in detail.

LARGE TROLLEY EXCURSIONS.

The Los Angeles-Pacific Railway will handle two mammoth excursions in special trains over its lines tomorrow. The Modern Woodmen of America, 4000 strong, gathered from Los Angeles and outlying towns of Southern California, will go to Venice on the sixth annual excursion of the order.

The Woodmen of the World will hold their annual picnic on the same day, but will celebrate at Playa del Rey. It is expected that 1500 persons will make the trip.

RANDOLPH HERE.

Persons returning from Guaymas, Sonora, and the Yaqui country, report that actual work has begun on the extension of the Cananea, Yaqui River and Pacific Railroad toward Guadalajara. The present work is on that section of the road which will run up through the Yaqui country and down the coast near Balomotal, just north and east of Guaymas, where the new road will join, the line of the Sonora Railway.

Epes Randolph, president of the road, and representative of Mr. Harriman, who arrived yesterday in his private car, says that large yards and extensive trackage are being put in to handle the construction material as it arrives from the States. Ties and steel sufficient for more than fifteen miles of track are already on hand.

He says that everything is in shape to rush the work through without delay, and is well satisfied with the progress already made in preliminary work.

RAILROAD TIPS.

G. J. Bradley, commercial agent of the Southern Railway, with headquarters at San Francisco, is visiting his railway associates in this territory.

F. W. Smith, formerly with the Southern Pacific but now identified with the Italian Vineyards Company, has just returned from an extended trip through the East.

Vice-President J. Ross Clark of the Salt Lake, will leave Saturday on a trip over the line to Salt Lake City.

E. C. Bowler, with a party of seventy excursionists in a special car from Maine and Canada, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday over the Salt Lake. After several days spent here, the party will continue on its way to Portland.

QUEER FIGHT.

SACRAMENTO Sept. 7.—"No contest" was the decision given in the second round of the fight tonight between Rufe Turner of Stockton and Louis Long of Oakland. All bets were declared off. Long was so clearly outclassed that his seconds threw up the sponge when Turner sent him to the floor with a terrific smash to the stomach.

The preliminary between Abe Abel of San Francisco and Jockey Bennett of Sacramento was a splendid ten-round exhibition.

Losing the Twang.

But the question of the Yankee accent will not be open to discussion very long, for it is fast dying out. The Yankee-speaking yeoman of James Russell Lowell's day is rapidly becoming extinct, as far as language is concerned. Even in remotest parts of Vermont, for instance, where conservatism has its strongholds, the long-drawn "caow" and "naow" and kindred words are rarely heard. The whole civilized world is rapidly being assimilated to one standard, and the provincial accents are dropped, intonation by intonation. "Hosea Biglow" and the rest of the Lowell family are as extinct as the dodo—as extinct, indeed, as "Parson Wilbur" himself, who can no longer be found in Yankee parsonages, except, possibly, as a rare survival. IT'S PRETTY HOT WEATHER
To talk business now, but
How about the winter months when the tourists are arriving by the trainloads.
Have you improved your property so as to receive an income from it? or is it still only a vacant lot without any adornment to tempt the frozen tourist to invest.
Through advertising
WE ARE IN CLOSE TOUCH WITH
Thousands of easterners.
Who contemplate coming to Los Angeles and we scarcely receive a letter that does not ask our advice on investing. Hence we are safe and conservative in our statements.
"That we guarantee you a tenant or a prospective purchaser" when your property is advertised with a Lamberth building.
We make it an easy matter for you to get money at a low rate of interest if you are a property holder.
Watch for the unsolicited testimonials which we will publish next Sunday from prominent business men in our city for whom we have and are building, not one, but several buildings each. Our pride is our work whether residence, flat or apartment house, from the handsomest of exteriors to the richest and most artistic of interiors. A Lamberth house cannot be duplicated for the price.
Call and look over our plans. We will help interest and educate you in building.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Struck an Auto.

R. K. Holmes, a bicycle dealer, collided with an automobile while riding a motorcycle yesterday at Carr and Main streets. He was not dangerously hurt.

Street Accident.

William Kuffenberger of Tropico, while looking at the tall buildings, fell into an excavation at the corner of Spring and Sixth streets yesterday. He sustained a slight concussion of the brain.

Woodmen to the Sea.

The Woodmen of the World will hold their annual picnic at Playa del Rey on Saturday. The forenoon will be devoted to swimming and oratory and the afternoon to sports, prizes to be awarded at 5 o'clock. In the evening a ball will be given in the pavilion.

Will Picnic at Eastlake.

Southern California Lodge, No. 191, A.O.U.W., will hold a picnic at Eastlake Park on Tuesday next, in which all their families will participate. Heretofore it has been their annual custom to unite in a day's outing at the beach with other lodges of the same order.

Conger, Bienvenido.

E. H. Conger, former minister to China and until recently United States Ambassador to Mexico, is coming to Los Angeles to engage in business and to make this his home, according to a statement of his brother, J. W. Conger, of Chihuahua, Mexico. Mr. Conger has a brother residing in Pasadena, Dr. Conger.

Thievish Children.

Symptoms of Insanity.

Charles Roberts, a young machinist who poses as a Christian Endeavorer, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a serious charge. The police allege that Roberts is a moral degenerate. He is charged with having criminally insulted Miss Emily Hirigoyen, at her home, No. 1424 Warren street, yesterday afternoon. Roberts shows symptoms of insanity.

Modern Woodmen's Picnic.

The Modern Woodmen of America will hold their annual picnic at Venice tomorrow. Teams from throughout Southern California will enter the competitive drills for the trophy cup and prize banner, and there will also be hot contests for honors in the athletic sports. In the evening there will be a ball in the auditorium preceded by an address by J. O. Doris, State Deputy Head Consul of Hollister. There will be good music, and neighbors and friends as well as members are invited to attend.

Water Litigation.

Yesterday two bills in equity were filed in the United States Court, looking to the quieting of title to certain waters of the San Joaquin River. The Las Animas and San Joaquin Land Company, and Miller & Lux are the complainants and James J. Stevenson of San Francisco is the respondent in both cases. Both actions are understood to be merely for the purpose of making good the title of the complainants, who state that they have been in possession of their diverting works for forty years.

New Jewish Body.

Under the leadership of Rabbi Hirsch Wernier, formerly of New Orleans, a new congregation of Jews is being organized in Los Angeles. Rabbi Werner is an expnent of orthodox doctrine, but conducts a large part of his services in English so that the younger followers of the faith, many of whom are not familiar with the Hebrew tongue, may understand. The nucleus of the new congregation has engaged Fraternal Hall in Odd Fellows' Temple for holiday services from the 29th inst. to October 9. Maurice Wiener is secretary of the congregation. It is stated that the new organization is friendly to the older congregations in Los Angeles, but in the outgrowth of a large increase in the Hebrew population here.

Negro's Assailant Found.

The identity of the mysterious "third man" in the Labor Day fight, who caused the death of the negro hod-carrier, E. G. Godfrey, was established yesterday at the Coroner's inquest. It was Louis B. Ebinger. The Coroner's jury completely exonerated both him and A. B. Lindsay, who was also in the fight with Godfrey. It was shown that Godfrey was drunk and had beat Lindsay with a heavy cane until he was staggering and nearly unconscious. Young Ebinger, who is only about 18, rushed in and defended the falling man, whom he had never seen before in his life. One of his vigorous blows took the negro on the point of the chin; he fell backward and struck the back of his head on the cement curbing, fracturing his skull.

Times' "Liner" Advertisers—Important change in rate for Sunday classified advertisements. Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter, the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1½ cents per word for each insertion; minimum charge, 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 60,000 copies. (When the 1-cent per-word rate was established in 1893, The Times Sunday circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

Death of "Joe" Binford.

On September 1, Joseph B. Binford died. The end came suddenly. He returned to his home at Golden Park 16 apparently the best of health, and after greeting his wife and family in his usual affectionate manner, retired to his bed. A short time thereafter his brother, Frank L. Binford, noticed that he looked unnatural. An examination revealed that a heart stroke had caused his death. Everybody knew genial, jolly, generous, good-natured "Joe" Binford. For years the note clerk of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, no one ever left his window without a pleasant smile. He resigned from the bank to look after his extensive real estate investments in this city and Ocean Park, and his loss is regretted by all who knew him. The ways of Providence are mysterious.

Mulholland was a gentleman
Of credit and renown,
A water expert eke was he
Of famous Angel Town.
He measured Owens River and
He told us what 'twould cost;
We've bought the snowy water—but
For the knockers what a frost!

Fred Eaton was an engineer
Who knew a stream or two;
The proper thing to do:
"No, no," said Papa Lowenthal,
"They're criminals and guys!"
The votes have now been counted and
The city has gone wise.

So let us say, oh, long live Fay,
And Sherman, long live he!
To all our faithful Water Board
Great praise and glory be!

THE TRIUMPH.

PILING up the greatest majority ever given at a bond election in Los Angeles, the electors gave their overwhelming approval yesterday to the Water Board's project to bring the Owens River from the heart of the mighty Sierras into the San Fernando Valley.

The election proved to be a triumphant ratification of the proposal to vote bonds in the amount of a million and a half dollars to purchase the water-bearing lands in the Owens Valley, and make the preliminary steps for transporting a river 240 miles across arid plains and through mountain passes to the gates of the city.

The actual vote cast was 10,693 for the bonds and 754 against them. While lighter than the vote generally cast at elections wherein partisan spirit runs high, the avalanche of ballots was greater than at any other bond election since the waterworks were purchased by the city.

The election was void of the dramatic features that mark contests in which partisan spirit plays a part. The polling places looked deserted, chiefly because the party hangers-on, that turn out to municipal elections where offices are at stake, kept away from the polls.

No banner-bedecked carriages and automobiles carried voters to and from the voting booths. No political hirelings pored over registration books.

In the early morning just after the polls opened there was a rush of voters as laboring men stopped at the polls on their way to shop and factory. This was the 6:30 vote. It was not a fourth part of that cast at this hour at a general election.

The next rush came at 8:30. That was when the merchants and professional men stopped on their way to the office. This vote was about normal, an excellent indication that the men of affairs of the city were determined that the water bonds should carry.

At 9:30 came the capitalists, heads of great business and manufacturing concerns, who generally arrive at their offices about 10 o'clock.

During the noon hour clerks and office men dropped in at the polls to cast the ballots to bring to them advancement as a part of the general prosperity which is expected to follow the settlement of the water question.

When the ballots were counted the practical unanimity of the vote was a surprise even to the most enthusiastic supporters of the Water Board's enterprise.

Superintendent Mulholland was as much surprised as any one. He laid wagers that his home precinct would not go more than six to one in favor of the bonds. When the count was made the vote of this precinct was found to be 183 for the bonds and 6 against.

Precinct No. 30 in the Third Ward cast the largest vote for the bonds, 223. It also gave the largest majority, as there were but 4 negative votes.

Precinct No. 31, Third Ward, and Precinct 60, Fifth Ward, cast unanimous votes in favor of the bonds.

For the brewery precinct in the Eighth Ward, No. 95, was reserved the doubtful honor of being the only one in the city which failed to ratify the water bonds. The vote in that precinct was 17 for and 9 against. As it requires a two-thirds vote to ratify the bonds, they lost in this precinct by just one vote. Perhaps the intrusion of so much water does not look good to the brewery contingent.

The Sixth Ward sustained its freak reputation by casting a larger vote against the bonds than any other. But even there the "aye" vote was unexpectedly heavy. Spook Howton and his gang carried their opposition to the water project to the voting booths; but their united efforts only resulted in polling 149 "no" votes.

Howton laid wagers that his precinct would not ratify the water bonds. He worked at the polls all day to save his money, but to no avail. He was able to marshal but ten followers.

Promptly at 5 o'clock in the evening the polls closed and the counting commenced. An anxious group of city officials gathered in the City Clerk's office to hear the returns. Just six minutes after 5 o'clock Precinct Fifty-one reported in by telephone—135 votes for the bonds, 1 against.

All anxiety as to the outcome of the election ceased right there.

Soon the returns were coming thick and fast, and by 7 o'clock all the precincts but those in the Sixth Ward had reported. Howton had been accorded the privilege usually granted Councilmen of naming the election officers in his ward. Some of his appointees knew about as much about conducting an election as they do about trigonometry. The result was that the returns from that bailiwick came slow and in many cases in badly mangled condition. In two precincts the officers had used the boxes containing the election supplies for spittoons, bringing the paraphernalia back to the City Hall wrapped in newspapers. A report was received from the last precinct shortly after 8 o'clock, but it will require the greater portion of today for the City Clerk to straighten out the blunders of ignorant election officials.

In two precincts the officers confiscated the registration certificates furnished by the County Clerk, which form a portion of the Great Register of Los Angeles county.

City Attorney Mathews expressed pleasure that the majority is so great. It will impress bond buyers favorably. The greater the popularity of a bond issue the easier it is to market the securities. The bonds bear 4 per cent. interest, and the City Attorney is of the opinion that the city may be able to sell them at a premium.

FINDS FORTUNE AT BACK DOOR.

TROPICO GRAVEL PIT PROVES A GOLD DEPOSIT.

Plans of Eshelman Undergo Sudden Transformation When Ore Assaying Ninety Dollars a Ton is Found on Home Lot, With Much More in Prospect.

From being the owner of a gravel pit on a small piece of land yielding a scant income, to suddenly become the possessor of a paying gold mine is the tranrformation in the fortunes of M. M. Eshelman of Tropico.

The story of swift wealth runs like a fairy tale, and the neighbors have tossed the news of the gold from mouth to mouth, until Eshelman has become to them a modern Croesus.

Near the intersection of Glendale avenue and Cypress street is the Eshelman house, situated on about two and one-half acres of land. A wash passes through the rear end, and just beyond the wash the land runs into a low hill of decomposed red granite.

The face of this hill has been blasted and a pit has been scooped out; across the property teams have hauled hundreds of loads of gravel. There was more pay in the gravel business than in the returns from the soil.

Suddenly the teams ceased coming to the little lot, and the word went out that the gravel pit was exhausted. The neighbors did not believe this, but accepted the story and awaited developments.

Soon the truth leaked out, and the report of the final blast that opened a yellow pocket of pure gold was spread with wide-eyed wonder.

The new mine owner was suspicious and very reticent, and beyond acknowledging that he had made a strike, he would say nothing.

Several days ago expert assayers went out from Los Angeles, and after spending the greater part of a day around the diggings, the gold was found worth $90 to the ton, with the prospect of more wealth inside the hill.

Mr. Eshelman began to have dreams of great wealth, but at the same time he caused the word to go out that the strike was not of sufficient value to work at present, and said the mine would not be developed until winter.

The gravel pit, with its possible load of yellow wealth, was closed down, and the hole where lay the promise of the shining metal was sealed. Eshelman betook himself to San Francisco, where he is said to be organizing a syndicate to develop the property.

Others say he is in San Francisco with enough ore to make his trip worth while. They say he will have this ore milled. They declare the mine can be easily developed, as the strike is a vein of pure gold. They believe the old man will be contented to simply dig enough for his own use from time to time.

Mr. and Mrs. Eshelman live close to the gravel pit. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Eshelman was at home. The lucky mine owner had not returned from San Francisco. Mrs. Eshelman told of the gold strike, but could not remember how much the ore had assayed. She thought her husband would sell the mine if he could get his price.

The mine is not an ordinary gravel pit, but is a cut into the side of the hill which extends to the high range of mountains to the north.

A miner who has prospected in Southern California, and who is familiar with land on which there are indications of gold, said yesterday on seeing the rocky formation, that the hillside undoubtedly contains large quantities of the precious metal.

The ore is said to be near the surface, and the character of the ground is such that the mining of the gold will not be difficult. Some of the large rocks directly over the spot where the vein is said to be located are so rotten that they can be picked to pieces with the fingers.

There was considerable excitement yesterday in Glendale and Tropico over the find, and those who have bought gravel from the Eshelman pit were eagerly searching for indications of the first croppings. One man who has recently bought several loads was bemoaning the fact that the precious gravel was below the cement sidewalks surrounding his property.

NEAR DEATH'S DOOR.

Big Jim McGraw, Chinatown Raider, Critically Ill—Result of Strenuous Life.

"Big Jim" McGraw, Chinatown raider and terror of the fan-tan players in the Celestial quarter of the city, is dangerously near death's door at his home, No. 745 Clanton street.

up gambling among the Chinese. For years "Big Jim," as he is affectionately called by his brother officers, ruled Chinatown. He knew the ways of the cunning Celestials so thoroughly that his presence alone inspired terror.

During his twelve years of service as a policeman he has participated in and led dozens of raids on the fan-tan and lottery joints and the contraband opium dives.

The officer has rescued dozens of men and women who had been lured to these resorts because they thought they would gain an insight to what they termed "Bohemia." The fall of the Chinatown ring that dominated the heart of the tenderloin years ago is said to have been due to his efforts. Fearlessly he entered joint after joint and broke up game after game. His strong point was in watching the lookouts and getting into the joints while they dozed. Barred doors never worried this big policeman, and on many occasions he has smashed them and arrested all of the tan players inside. He climbed through skylights, shinned up gutter pipes and fought his way into dozens of places until his name grew to be fearsome in Chinatown.

About two years ago when McGraw was driving a patrol wagon he was thrown from his seat in a car accident and sustained a fractured rib. Later in a raid he was injured again, but he continued to discharge his duties until several days ago, when an abscess near the fractured rib developed and he was forced to take to his bed. Complications arose and now his condition is serious. For several days Police Surgeon Smith and Dr. Anderson despaired of McGraw's life, but yesterday a change for the better came and last night the patient showed signs of rallying, though he is not out of danger.

LEMONS SEVEN DOLLARS A BOX!

SKY PRICES FOR CALIFORNIA'S GOLDEN PRODUCT.

Failure of Sicilian Crops Forced Domestic Quotations for 1905 "Away Above Timber Line"—Opportunity Never So Bright for Permanent Control of Home Markets.

The California Fruit Growers' Exchange (formerly the Southern California Fruit Exchange) sold during the year ending September 1, eleven cars of lemons that ranged in price from $2000 and $2253 each, net, f.o.b. California—which is about $7 a box, cash, f.o.b. for the entire eleven cars. In addition to this, the Exchange also sold through the year more than 200 cars of lemons that netted between $1000 and $2000 each, cash, f.o.b. California.

These extreme prices, of course, cannot be looked for every year. Indeed, never before in the history of California has anything like such prices been realized. It has been exceptional when a car of lemons brought $1000, net, California.

The foregoing figures simply illustrate the advantage that has been taken of conditions as they existed this year, owing largely to the practical destruction of the Sicilian crop by an unusually severe winter. Shippers have used every means possible to obtain the best results for the California product.

California lemons today occupy a position in the markets of the United States that they have never before occupied, and while Sicily will not surrender our markets without a supreme effort to retain them, the prospects of California finally controlling the lemon markets of this country were never better than they are today.

The opportunity for obtaining such figures as given above came about largely through the disastrous marketing seasons which the Sicilians have had for several years past, intensified this past winter. The Sicilian growers were not anxious to make heavy shipments to the United States out of their small stocks, but placed their product elsewhere, with the result that our markets have been left comparatively free of the foreign "invasion."

Lemon growing in California is entering upon a new stage of development, and if the growers will properly care for their orchards and fruit until the time of shipment, the forward movement for the control of the United States markets will not be checked.

Shipments of lemons from all of California for the year will aggregate 5000 cars, as against 3000 the year before.

WON SILVER MEDAL.

Mrs. Wheeler Wins Honors at Oratorical Contest of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

At the oratorical contest conducted yesterday afternoon in the First Methodist Church, the silver medal offered by the Women's Christian Temperance Union was won by Mrs. H. V. Wheeler. The subject of her oration was: "The Martyred Mother." The church was filled to overflowing to witness the unusual contest. Others took part as follows: "An Incident in the Crusade," Mrs. M. M. Nott; "The Uncrowned Kings and Queens of the Future," Mrs. Louise Lawrence; "The Brave Hunter's Child," Mrs. Clara M. Long; "The Enemy Under the Flag," Mrs. Zoda H. Ford; "Wanted: Christian Patriots," Mrs. Mary Jolly Van Hook; recitation, Mrs. Kate Kenton; "The Martyred Mother," Mrs. H. V. Wheeler.

Mrs. Jane and Emma Wyatt sang two numbers during the meeting and Miss Charlotte J. Leland recited a reflection entitled, "The Face on the Barroom Floor."

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

County Recorder Hartwell yesterday prepared a statement showing business in his office for August greatly exceeded any previous month.

Silas S. Duntley, vaquero of renown in Antelope Valley, was arrested on a charge of cattle stealing and was placed in the County Jail.

The Spring street lighting proposition has been held up.

Justice Austin refused to allow William Mosteller to plead guilty to simple assault for shooting his cousin yesterday.

Mexicans accused of stabbing José Valasco were discharged yesterday.

AT THE CITY HALL.

MANY OWNERS ARE NEGLIGENT.

DELAYS FOR THE SPRING STREET LIGHTING SYSTEM.

Almost Third of Assessments Unpaid—May Necessitate Numerous Sales of Valuable Property to Secure Payment of Few Dollars—First District Under New State Law.

The assessments for the proposed new system of ornamental street lights on Spring street will become delinquent today at midnight. Property owners who have not contributed their mite toward defraying the cost of constructing the electroliers will tomorrow be compelled to pay an additional 10 per cent. or suffer their property to be sold at public auction.

The proposed lighting district extends along Spring street from Temple to Ninth street and along Main street from Ninth to Eleventh street. The cost of the electroliers must be borne by the owners of property fronting on these streets. The estimated expense is $15,000.

This is the first assessment district to be established under the new State statute providing for assessing adjacent property for the cost of lighting systems. Under the arrangement between the Spring-street Improvement Association and the Council the property owners on Main and Spring streets pay for the installation of the lighting system and the city pays for the illuminant.

In the assessment district there are 222 separate pieces of property; this necessitated 222 assessments. Of this number 150 have already been paid; seventy-two must be paid today under penalty of becoming delinquent. In case there are delinquencies the establishment of the system will be delayed an extra thirty days, for the State statute provides that the contract for constructing the system cannot be let until the assessments have all been paid; also that the property cannot be sold for delinquent assessment until sixty days after the assessment is made. This would make the date of sale about October 5.

Assessment districts similar to the one on Spring street have been formed on Main and Hill streets, but the assessment for those lighting systems have not yet been made. The Council is displaying an inclination to move slowly for the reason that the three lighting systems will entail an additional drain on the city's revenues of about $36,000 a year for electric light. The legislators are not very desirous of seeing the Main and Hill-street systems completed before the end of the present fiscal year.

HILL-STREET VALUES.

REFEREES NOW AT WORK.

A number of Hill-street property owners and their attorneys spent the greater portion of the day in the Council committee room yesterday, jockeying for a place before the referees appointed to adjudge costs and damages from widening Hill street from Sixth to Pico streets.

In order that Hill street may be fitted for a business street the property owners have decided to cut six feet off the property frontage on each side of the thoroughfare and add it to the sidewalk. This will give Hill street between Sixth and Pico an eighteen-foot walk, wider than that of any other business street in the city. But in order to accomplish this a great deal of valuable property must be condemned. Each owner of the affected property is striving to get as much as he can for his property and to pay as little as possible for the damage done to his neighbors' holdings. The result is an intricate tangle which the referees are trying to straighten out.

Wesley Clark, yesterday testified before the referees that Hill-street property between Sixth and Seventh streets is worth $2000 a front foot. Owners of the property further down the street think that this valuation is about $1000 too high.

Architect John Parkinson testified that, in his opinion Hill-street property between Seventh and Eighth streets, if occupied by office buildings, would rent for $1.50 a year for each square foot of floor space. He said that a 120 foot lot at the corner of Eighth and Hill would make a fine location for a business block and that the six foot strip to be condemned would represent a loss in rentals to the owners amounting to $5,760 per annum. This he based on the theory that the property should be occupied by an eight story building.

Fifteen different law firms have taken part in the hearings to date and there are said to be a dozen others retained by interested property owners.

The value question is one that the property owners must settle among themselves. Each owner will receive damages for the property he loses, but he must help pay for the damages suffered by other property owners; a great deal of the cost will, therefore, be represented only on paper. Next week the referees will listen to testimony as to the values of property in Hill street between Eighth and Ninth streets.

TIMES' "LINER" ADVERTISERS—IMPORTANT.

Note Change in Rate for Sunday Classified Advertisements.

Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter, the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1½ cents per word for each insertion, minimum charge 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 60,000 copies. (When the 1-cent-per-word rate was established in 1895, The Sunday Times circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

TIPS RECORD ON RECORDS.

AUGUST A WONDER MONTH IN FILING OF DOCUMENTS.

More Business in Office of Recorder Than for Any Similar Period of the Past—New York and Chicago Only Communities That Go Ahead of Los Angeles.

A new record in the handling of county records was reached by Los Angeles county in the month of August. San Francisco and others please copy. County Recorder Hartwell compiled figures yesterday, showing that more business was transacted in his office during the month just closed than in any other similar period. It was a season of smashing activity for deputy, clerk and copyist. Even the Recorder was on the firing line every day, helping and directing his staff in keeping down the advancing columns of document fliers.

A total of 8515 documents was filed in the twenty-seven days that the office was open for business, an average of 326 each day. This does not include marriage licenses nor marginal releases. The highest tide was reached on August 9, when 377 instruments were filed, but even this number was exceeded on the 5th of the present month, when the total reached 477, while on the following day the number was 416.

Only in New York and Chicago, it is claimed, is the Los Angeles county record exceeded. The average number of documents filed daily in San Francisco is 125, or but a little more than one-third of the number filed locally. The fact that Los Angeles goes ahead of Kansas City in this respect was proved not long ago when, to settle a wager, Recorder Hartwell wrote to the officials of the Missouri metropolis and learned that the daily work of the Recorder was of much smaller volume than that of the local office.

The young women employed as copyists by the Recorder, transcribing the contents of the documents to the county records, are rolling in luxury as a result of the wonderful activity. About eighty of them are employed, and their earnings depend upon the number of folios they copy. There never has been a shortage of this kind of help, and especially not now, when the returns are so enticing.

VAQUERO ROPED.

CATTLE THEFT CHARGED.

The most skillful vaquero in all Antelope Valley is in the County Jail on a charge of cattle stealing. He was brought down from Lancaster yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Bert Franklin, after he had been arraigned before Justice Buckley.

The prisoner is Silas S. Duntley, twenty-three years old, who has engaged for some time in the cattle business in the valley, and whose adeptness in "roping" steers has made him the wonder of the district in which he lived.

Duntley was sent to the Preston School of Industry at Ione in 1899, when he was seventeen years old, cattle stealing being the charge that caused his committment. Since his release from that institution he has lived in the vicinity of Palmdale.

For many months the ranchers of Antelope Valley have complained to the Sheriff of the loss of cattle. That county once was the stamping ground of roving bands of "rustlers," but their depredations have been light in the last few years. In recent months, however, the disappearance of the animals became more marked, and Deputy Sheriff Franklin went into the valley three or four months ago in search of evidence against thieves. He failed to gain anything of a definite nature and no arrests were made.

Complaint was made to the Sheriff last Tuesday of the loss of twenty-five or thirty cattle by D. F. Dominick and Mrs. May Belle Smith of Acton. Dominick owns the ranch formerly possessed by N. M. Melrose, former postmaster of Acton, whose feud with W. H. Broome resulted in the death of the latter and threw the entire northern end of the county into fevered controversy.

Six of the cattle belonging to Dominick and Mrs. Smith were found, it is said, in the Francisquito and Little Rock cañons, bearing Duntley's brand. This fact alone, however, is not taken as conclusive evidence that Duntley was in wrongful possession of the animals, as many cattle stray in the hills for months, and frequently become mixed with other herds.

Duntley and other "cow punchers" have been living lately on the old Cell ranch, six miles east of Palmdale—a place that ten years ago was of considerable value, but which long since was abandoned because of the lack of water, and which now is a desolate habitation, with furniture falling to pieces where it had been left by former occupants, and with dilapidated vehicles and farming machinery littering the yard.

For some time there has been a standing reward offered by Antelope Valley ranchers for the arrest and conviction of cattle thieves. No one yet has established claim to the prize.

CORONERS COMING.

TO HOLD LOCAL CONVENTION.

Coroners of Southern California counties will meet in Los Angeles on the 18th and 19th inst., to discuss duties pertaining to their office, to become better acquainted and to have a good time. The following counties will be represented: Los Angeles, Orange, San Diego, San Bernardino, Riverside, Santa Barbara and Ventura.

Meetings will be held at the office of Coroner Trout, in the Bullard block, at which will be discussed the keeping of records, the manner of holding inquests, the laws pertaining to the duties of a Coroner, and such other matters as may be pertinent. One strong reason for holding the first meeting in Los Angeles is the fact that Dr. Trout has originated and is using a system of keeping records that has simplified the operation greatly, and has added much to the value of the files.

The idea of holding such meetings at regular intervals originated with Dr. H. Pittman, Coroner of San Bernardino county. The visitors will stay at Hotel Lillie on Hill street, and Coroner Trout will show them the sights of the county, taking them to the beaches and other places of interest.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

LAWYER RESCUED JUDGE, DARN HIM!

GRATEFUL SISTER WISHED TO KISS THE COURT.

Lawyer Thompson Caught Young Woman by the Skirts Just in Time to Save the Judge from This Fate. The Serious Termination of a Family Row.

Only the extreme gallantry and valor of an attorney saved Justice Rose from being overwhelmed and kissed yesterday by a grateful sister.

Three messenger boys were under examination for robbery. The evidence was very slim, so the court ordered their discharge.

As he did so a young woman in black gave a cry of joy and rushed for the judge with wide-open arms.

As she passed him Attorney F. H. Thompson grabbed her by the dress skirt and held her back until the judge could beat a hasty retreat.

SHOT HIS COUSIN.

MUST FACE MUSIC.

Even the pleas of the mother of the boy who was shot did not avail yesterday to save William Mosteller from a felony charge for firing a shot into his cousin.

By agreement of all concerned, Mosteller came into court and entered a plea of guilty to simple assault. But after hearing the evidence, Justice Austin refused to pass sentence, setting aside the proceedings and holding the boy to enable the District Attorney to file a felony complaint.

The testimony showed that Mosteller's cousin, W. O. Thompson, came home very drunk and riotous. He knocked over chairs and furniture and threatened the whole family. Young Mosteller went into his room, came out with a revolver, shooting his cousin in the mouth.

In court yesterday Thompson's mother admitted that her own son was entirely to blame and deserved what he got.

Not Enough Evidence.

Manuel Castor and Juan Cragoza, who were accused of stabbing José Valasco to death at a fiesta on Topeka street on September 2, were discharged yesterday by Justice Austin. There was not the slightest evidence to connect them with the crime other than that they were all at the fiesta together.

Nother "Mission Army."

Maj.-Gen. Moore of the Union Mission Army will probably be arrested again today on complaint of his former lieutenant, Wilhelt.

Wilhelt called on the City Prosecutor yesterday and stated that Moore broke into his room by kicking down the door and danced around him daring him to fight, brushing his clerical nose in an offensive way with his military fist.

Wilhelt says that he is about to form an army himself to be called the Sunshine Mission Army. He stoutly claims that it is not of the same grafting kind as Gen. Moore's.

CAUGHT BY A FACE.

How the Late Frederick H. Rindge Found a New Occupation for Beer Wagon Driver.

One of the incidents that often fail to find their way into print while a man lives, is now told of Frederick H. Rindge, and is vouched for by one who knows the facts.

Driving along the streets of Santa Monica two years ago, Mr. Rinage caught sight of the face of a young fellw driving a beer wagon. Somehow the face interested him and he asked the boy why he was following that business. The reply was apt and truthful.

"To earn a living," he responded.

His questioner then wanted to know if he would seek a higher class of work if he was fitted for it and he replied that he would gladly do so.

The outcome was that the surprised young man gave up his job and Mr. Rindge fitted him up and sent him East to take a four years' special educational course, with the understanding that at the close of that time he would be set up in some legitimate business. The death of Mr. Rindge occurred midway in the young man's schooling, and it is not known what provision the deceased made for him.

MABEL GOODLIN,
the girl who caught Peeping Tom.

PEEKING through the windows of a pretty young woman's boudoir every night for a week got Miguel Castello into the hands of the police yesterday.

Some women might have regarded his attentions as a subtle flattery and only pulled down the shades; but Mabel Goodlin of No. 606 Court street had him arrested.

She came into the Police Court yesterday to appear against him, but his trial was postponed. She will see it through to the end.

Miss Goodlin is pretty enough to warrant anyone looking through a brick wall at her, if necessary.

So it might be inferred that the gallant Miguel was only pursuing a lovelorn courtship according to the Spanish traditions of love through a barred window. But the fact that he had a young white man with him, rather shatters this theory.

The presence of the second man baffles the police. "Peeping Toms" do not usually hunt in couples.

Complaints have been made several times to the police, but Wednesday night Miss Goodlin caught her tormentors in the act.

An actress who lives in that neighborhood says that the same two men have followed her home from the theater every night for a week. For many nights past, Miss Goodlin has been alarmed by strange noises at her bedroom window.

At times, it seemed as though men were exchanging signals. In the day time she noticed these two loitering around that neighborhood, having no apparent business; they were especially in evidence as the shades of night were falling.

On this particular occasion, Miss Goodlin was coming home late with a woman friend. As they came near the house, they had that uncomfortable feeling of being followed. At times they caught sight of two men skulking along behind them.

They hurriedly entered the house and turned on the lights.

Having done so, an idea came to Miss Goodlin. Leaving the lights on in her room, the two girls slipped quietly out of doors again and came softly round the side of the house where her window opens.

The young Mexican was creeping around the side of the house, not seeing them.

They saw him come to the window and shade his eyes against the pane, beckoning the while with one hand to the other man.

After staring a minute through the window, he looked up, bewildered, walked a little way round the house, but went back to the window again. The girls notified the police.

The Mexican was caught, but not the white man.

Thus it is that Fate toys with her playthings. Had this happened to the actress, it would have been the making of her "rep."

As it is, this girl sat in court in a polka dot dress, very red, but very determined—having the notoriety but bound to give a warm session to M. Castello, her unintroduced Latin admirer.

Microbe Hydrocarbons.

THAYER (Kan.) Aug. 30, 1905.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Please give "In the Earth" the origin of hydrocarbons. Cordially yours, J. D. C.

ANSWER: The Times has on two occasions given papers in this department on hydrocarbons. To comply with the request of the Kansas M. D., would require so much space, time in preparation and resultant criticism from "Dan to Beersheba" that a reply will be given, in part, from M. Lemaire's recent contribution to the Society of Mineral Industry in which a theory is advanced of the formation of combustible fossiliferous minerals (coal, petroleum, etc.,) in words following: "The transformation of vegetable growth into combustible minerals was the result of the action of microbes. The fermenting (aerobis; air-breathing, microscopic organisms,) active in the marsh bed at not too great depth, have set free principally carbon dioxide; the others (anaerobis,) found at the bottom in the less aerated water, have especially set free methane or marsh gas. The enriching in carbon which has been the consequence of the freeing of these gases has varied with the composition of the vegetable matter, the antiseptic condition of the surrounding mass, and all circumstances which may have influenced the progress of microbic action, such as excessive pressure, high temperature, dryness and electric currents, all of which would have the effect of retarding this action.

"Animal or vegetable matter introduced by the winds or streams is thought to have modified the ultimate nature of the combustible formed, seagrass giving peat bogs; pollen, cannel coal; organic matter, bituminous schists. During the transformations not only did gases emanate—carbon monoxide, methane, carbon dioxide—but also some liquids appeared whose antiseptic action may have arrested fermentation. These disengaged liquids formed petroleum and asphalt.

"The action of microbes is a generally recognized fact. Why can we not yet recognize it as sufficient to explain the formation of combustibles? It is because we cannot, by experiments, reproduce the process of enriching vegetable deposits in carbon as it goes on in nature. We can only say that at the time of these transformations the temperature was not higher than 140 deg. Fahr. Carbon monoxide and carbon dioxide were thus produced, but by slow combustion and without interruption, the fermenting substances being cooled by the surrounding water. This amount of heat may have had some influence on the geothermic degree of coal-bearing measures.

"Once the manner of the transformation is admitted there remains the study of stratigraphic conditions or coal deposits. In analyzing the phenomena of alluvial deposits and matter brought by streams, the engineer recognizes what he calls 'conic formation,' and sees in it the most usual way of the formation of coal basins, which are covered afterward as the depressions fill up, and are affected by the orological movements, slow or rapid. The layers of coal have been formed by series of intermittent floods, which explains the sterile interpolations in the layers of the veins of the same bed; they have taken the form of the preëxisting talus and have been subject to all its vicissitudes."

M. Lemaire deserves praise for the ingenious manner in which he indorses the theory of petroleum from organic matter. Still there are those who maintain that many hydrocarbons are of mineral origin. The bald fact is that no one can absolutely prove which theory is the correct one. Lemaire is probably alone in the suggestion that microbes acted as "boosters." The study of microbes is a very interesting one. The conclusions drawn from such study are as wide apart as the poles. Very often one is at sea in placing the growth of colonies from culture. In a way elephants are microbes—so are fleas and on down the scale to where even the strongest microscope fails to detect organisms. Beyond all this, beyond the protoplasm, is life.

Mining Stock Exchange.

"The Los Angeles Western Mining Stock Exchange has suspended for lack of business. It became hardly worth while to call the list, so few were the transactions. The fact is that few of the big producing mining companies on the Pacific Coast have any interest in stock quotations, and not many of them are listed. This is particularly true of California properties. Most of the trading is therefore in stocks of mines being opened or developed where capital is needed, and the fluctuations of the stock have little or no relation to actual changes in the condition of the mines themselves.

"Times have indeed changed from the days when the Comstock shares were noteworthy gambling attractions. There are still many local mining stock exchanges in the United States, but in no case do they engage serious attention outside of their own cities, and not much even there, with one or two exceptions. The Boston Stock Exchange and the New York curb market are the only active speculative centers in mining stock transactions." The above sensible editorial is quoted from the Engineering and Mining Journal, New York. A great injury has been done to the legitimate mining industry, and especially to the wallets of our European cousins by such "exchanges." Colorado Springs, a few years ago, was a hotbed for the growth of mushroom stock. The modus operandi was to find a ten-foot hole—stock it for a million—get out a glowing prospectus—and sell stock. It has been said, and truthfully so, that "Colorado Springs will not get over the results of such rascally transactions until another generation of suckers become of age." The recent transactions in many Nevada camps will have the same result.

JEFF TO BE THE REFEREE

Big Fellow Cares Nothing for Nolan.

State Fair Races Attract a Large Crowd.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jeff arrived tonight from Los Angeles and after an interview with Manager Coffroth decided that he would serve as referee. Jeffries said he did not care for Nolan's kicking. His own friends told him he should serve and he proposed to do it.

PUGS WRANGLING.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—If his friends in this city are correct in their estimate of Jim Jeffries' disposition, the former champion will refuse to referee the Britt-Nelson fight when he arrives in San Francisco late tonight. Jeffries is of an independent mind and in view of the criticism by Nelson's manager, it is very likely he will not act for any amount of money.

With Jeff out of the referee problem attention naturally turns to Eddie Graney, who has acted as referee in all the big ring contests brought off in this city in recent years. While the Britts have been insistent in their objections to Graney, there is a strong belief among sporting men that this avowed dislike for Graney is not sincere and that if Jefferies declines to be further considered, Graney will be selected.

The uncertainty regarding the referee is affecting the sales of seats very seriously. It was said at Manager Coffroth's headquarters today that there have been many cancelations of reservations by out-of-town persons, who apparently, have become disgusted with the ceaseless wrangle over the referee man in the ring on Saturday. Unless there is a settlement by tomorrow morning Coffroth's estimate of a $30,000 gate will fall far short of the figure. With all the uncertainty there will be an immense attendance. San Francisco has never failed to live up to its reputation as the "greatest boxing city in the country." Any sort of a fight draws a crowd, oftentimes without regard to the merits of the attraction.

Naturally, betting is practically at a standstill. Bettors will not, of course, place their money until all doubt as to who is to make the decision has been settled. So while there is a disposition to wager on the coming fight, all those who are so disposed are holding off until the referee has been agreed upon. Britt still is a strong favorite, the prevailing odds being 10 to 7, with now and then the more liberal odds of 10 to 5.

The week of training is over. Both men are within striking distance of the limit, and in the most perfect condition and will not find it necessary to do any more hard work. Their trainers are now giving their attention to the minutest detail of handling them "on the day." Nelson has done the hardest of work up to within the last day or two of the fighting evening. Today he took it easy, and tomorrow easier. Britt let up in his work in the early after his daily work. Billy Nelson, Nelson's manager, said this morning, in reference to the referee: "If they try to force Jeffries upon us we will not be any the wiser. That's all we have to say to it. I've conceded everything to the Britts and I do not intend to concede this referee.

"I am even more determined than before, for I have received many telegrams from friends informing me that the whole thing is on all over the East and is a cut-and-dried affair. They say that they are trying to get in bets on Britt. That is why they had to me.

"I don't know what was said in that telegram by Jeffries which Britt dictated and which caused the big fellow so suddenly to abandon the idea of refereeing the fight, but I might have guaranteed Jeff $10000 if he would come and serve. I intend to do so on my rights."

Notwithstanding Nelson's stubborn stand in the matter, no one thinks at this time that the fight will be called off.

TROTT'S SHOWING IN LATE RACES ANALYZED.

Record Prove Proved That She Can Run Away from Thirty-footers Over the Course—What Her Handicap Should be—Proposal to Change the Terms of Lipton Deed of Gift.

Of the yachts that attended the San Diego regatta, the last returned yesterday to San Pedro, after extending her cruise through adding a visit to Catalina. On her return trip the Mischief encountered light and flukey weather and was kept out for forty hours and a half, the crew were pretty well tired of tacking the compass in the calms and sailpans.

The Mischief started earlier from San Diego and got better winds. But her speed of the ninety-three miles from Point Loma to Dead Man's Island was not rather tiresome, taking twenty-two hours. The winning boat was sailed by Thomas Hampton and owned by Byron Waters. The owner, Byron Waters, and Dodge, who acted as navigator in the races, returned to this city yesterday at his office Mr. Waters was full of praise for the manner in which the races were conducted. He said: "We were very pleasantly entertained by the southern yachtsmen, who did everything in their power to make our visit enjoyable, and there were no kicks coming on our part. In fact, we were there anything but uncomfortable nature from start to finish."

Talk in San Diego racing circles is now centered on explaining the chances of the fleet of the smallest Detroit, at forty seconds allowed Mischief (at 1 min. 5 secs. time allowance, Detroit was 11 mins. 27 secs. the latter's actual time at 27.44, and Butcher Boy at 27.04). At the completion of the race the Detroit was but 3 minutes and 28 seconds behind the Butcher Boy in actual time, a pretty close to ought to allow the other boats; and on August 15, when the discussion on this point was rather heated, The Times said: "Judging by last year's performances at San Diego, it was recently suggested in these columns that in the same conditions the Detroit would be making the thing pretty even if she gave twenty-three or twenty-four minutes," and the present result with Butcher Boy was 23 mins. 28 secs., and with Venus 23 mins. and 30 secs. actual time.

These results show in a practical way that in any arbitrary handicap irrespective of regular time allowance (which is the only proper way in which the freak should meet the local boats) the gift from Detroit to the others should be not less that The Times previously stated for a contest of the same length and shape; while the result of the first race went far to suggest that even a 24-minute allowance would be insufficient to put the others on even terms, or to even give them a chance.

For in the first race, which was triangular, two miles to a leg, the boats were turned at the second mark as follows: Detroit, 1:53:17; Butcher Boy, 2:19:37; Mischief, 2:12:53; Venus, 2:20:15. That is to say, when only four miles of the course had been sailed, the Detroit was 24 mins. 20 secs. ahead of the second boat, the Butcher Boy, and led Mischief by 27 mins. 35 secs., and Venus by 28 mins. 1 sec.

Of course these shocking results were obtained in exceptional conditions and the Detroit was the only boat able to finish within the time limit; but the result showed that when it comes 'to bucking up against a dead calm the arbitrary handicaps should be larger than the figures suggested. For San Pedro weather the Detroit could offer the others twenty-five minutes on a twelve-mile course and undertake to beat them out of their socks.

Mr. Erkenbrecher says that the Lipton Challenge Cup is now at Luckenbach's, where it will remain till June next and then be returned to San Diego, if the Lipton deed be adhered to. He hopes, however, that the San Diego yachtsman will come to our shores for next season's contest, seeing that our fleets have gone twice to Point Loma. Something has been said about San Diego writing to Sir Thomas Lipton to ask for a change in the deed, so as to enable the cup to go to any club that wins it. The reason for this is to encourage San Francisco yachts to challenge with the hope of being able to hold the cup until it is won at their port. But as between Los Angeles and San Diego this can be done by mutual consent (and the cup is now here by consent and not by right of deed) and it is not probable that Sir Thomas would consent to encourage so long and dangerous an ocean voyage for thirty-footers as from here to San Francisco.

It has to be remembered that San Pedro is the only harbor of refuge between 'Frisco and Point Loma and that such a trip in a racing thirty is outside of common sense. Even as it is, the ninety-three miles from here to Coronado is wholly without a refuge in case of breakdown or storm and nothing could justify this passage in cockleshells except our belief in the continued placidity of this part of the ocean. If a move be made to have the 'Frisco yachtsmen tempted out past all the inaccessible coast to the northward by a change in the deed, Sir Thomas will certainly be warned against it, and by me whose advice he has followed in yachting matters on more than one occasion.

MORE TUNA.

AT CORONADO NOW.

Tuna fishermen are rapidly exhibiting all the outward signs of mania. Within the last few days reports of the reappearance of these giant mackeral have followed each other in rapid succession, and from points far distant.

The Coronado Islands outside San Diego are the latest to come to the front as a tuna resort. Yesterday a party out from the Hotel Del Coronado succeeded, according to a telegram received last night by H. F. Norcross, in landing three fine ones on flying fish bait, which is reported plentiful.

The big exodus of billiard cue rod-stems is now on. Renewed interest is manifest in the tuna, and in all probability the next one will be heard from in the San Pedro Channel. Alf E. Mackenzie and party are going outside in one of his launches this morning to look for a school of tuna which was reported off White's Point. Flying fish have been quite plentiful, and those fortunate enough to secure a few for bait will stand an excellent chance of hooking a tuna if the school be encountered.

FRISCO SHUT OUT.

GETS BUT ONE HIT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 7.—Portland repeated the performance of Wednesday by again shutting out San Francisco today. Eli Cates was on the slab and allowed only one hit, which was secured by Wheeler, who took Irwin's place when the latter was put out of the game for talking back to the umpire. Hitt allowed only four hits, but battery errors came at a critical period. This makes four straight shutout games. Score:

LOS ANGELES LOSES.

ERRORS CAUSE DEFEAT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7.—Errors by Brashear; an excusable error by Dillon and passed balls by Spies, were responsible for Los Angeles' short end of the score in the game with Oakland today. On three hits in the initial inning, Oakland scored two runs and held the lead until the seventh. With two out and two men on bases for Los Angeles, Byrnes threw wild to second, permitting Tozier and Spies to cross the plate, thereby tieing the score. Ten innings were played before Oakland broke the deadlock, scoring the winning run through a pass, a sacrifice, Spies's passed ball and Dillon's error. Score:

TO WRESTLE.

LEWIS MEETS BEILL.

F. S. Lewis, the crack middleweight wrestler, will make his first local appearance a week from next Tuesday night in Tom McCarey's boxing pavilion, taking on the sturdy young grappler, Beill, of Ocean Park.

A few nights ago Lewis undertook to throw Beill three times within an hour and found himself unable to turn the trick, the young man being a somewhat tougher nut than had been anticipated. Lewis promised him another match, and the pair were secured by McCarey on a purse proposition.

Lewis is forty-four years old, but, thanks to a vigorous constitution, careful habits and an athletic life, is still a very powerful man. His hands gave out in the last bout with Beill, and this time Lewis expects to undergo some special training with a view to strengthening these members. Beill is twenty-four, and in his prime physically.

STRIKERS UP SALT RIVER.

New Municipal Garb Bothers City of Bisbee.

BISBEE (Ariz.) Sept. 4.—A number of union boilermakers are out of a job at Douglas, voluntarily leaving good hours, good wages and good treatment with the El Paso and Southwestern Railroad system. The El Paso and Southwestern has not been unionized in any branch, in that regard being the same as the Copper Queen mines and other enterprises of the road's owners, Phelps, Dodge & Co. No discrimination was made against the union, however, either on the road or in any of the works, but union interference is not tolerated. The latest trouble began when the boilermakers at the Douglas shops refused to repair an old engine that had come from the El Paso and Northeastern Railroad, lately purchased by Phelps, Dodge & Co. The boilermakers quit work on the ground that an old strike of the boilermakers' union with the Northeastern had not yet been settled. Concerning the strike, General Manager H. J. Simmons said:

"Upon receipt of the information from Mr. Paxton that the boilermakers would not work, I at once instructed him to discharge the men. I did this because I feel that this road has always been just with its men and that in this instance the men are entirely at fault. There was a strike at the Alamogordo shops some time ago and this trouble was not adjusted at the time the El Paso and Northeastern was purchased. However, we did not create that strike and it should be allowed to die with the road against which it was directed. There has been no trouble with our men directly, nor is there any likelihood of trouble arising outside of this case. I feel that the men are entirely in the wrong in this matter and therefore the boilermakers who refused to work on the engine were discharged. I brought plenty of boilermakers with me this morning to take the places of these men, and should the conference with the machinists develop more trouble, there will be plenty of men to take their places. However, I feel that the trouble will be confined to its present limits."

Work on an old engine was finished by the machinists in the shops, who withstood the demand of the boilermakers that they, too, go on strike. Manager Simmons had a consultation with the machinists, resulting in the determination of the workmen that the company's claim concerning the old engine was just. So things are proceeding smoothly in El Paso shops and a number of too strenuous union men are looking for jobs elsewhere.

BISBEE'S NEW WHEELS.

Bisbee is struggling bravely in fitting her new municipal government to herself. The city is amply large for free delivery, but the city fathers have been unable thus far to fix upon any solution for the proper numbering of the streets, alleys and trails which straggle around the hillsides in aimless fashion. Work is being prosecuted upon numbering, however, and it is hoped before many weeks that the city authorities may report to the Postoffice Department their readiness for the boon of free delivery.

Practically all the obstacles that have been placed in the way of perfecting the townsite organization have been surmounted and Mayor Taylor is now distributing deeds to most of the property owners of the new city. The City Council is much troubled over the prospective sewerage system and is considering plans for the complete sanitation of the city at a cost of about $100,000. The Council refused to have anything to do with the expensive subway back of the main business street, and the property owners will be compelled to clear out the great flume for their own protection. Councilman Ord, who has been absent without leaves for a couple of months in California, had his job declared vacant.

The Board of Supervisors of Cochise county has vacated the office of County Surveyor Johnson, who has departed the county without leave.

The grain crop of Sonora for the past season was a total failure owing to a variety of causes, though the State at large is very prosperous through activity in mines and railroads. The conditions of agricultural population is deplorable, owing both to failure of crops and to inability to secure farm laborers. To make up the shortage of grain 1200 tons of California wheat have been received lately by way of Nogales in addition to heavy shipments of Oregon wheat received at the port of Guaymas.

At La Brisca last week great damage was done to farms and mines by heavy rains and storms. The stamp mill and buildings of the Green Gold Placer Company's property were completely washed away.

LOS ANGELES SHERIFF.

Sheriff White of Los Angeles was heard from a few days ago, about fifty miles north of Solomonville. The fifty miles had consumed five days in making. Capt. Rynning of the Arizona Rangers was expected to join the expedition within a few days.

Nothing has been heard from Principal Thomas Grindell of the Douglas public schools, who started June 1 ostensibly for an exploration of Tiburon Island. He was a member of a party of six, a strong enough force, it is thought, to have warded off any possible danger from the natives. The Douglas schools are due to open September 11.

The Douglas International American has been sued for $5000 damages by Julius Weigehausen, who claims to have been libeled to that extent. The newspaper published a racy account of the passage of a strange man from the Weigehausen household, pursued by the head of the house, Mrs. Weigehausen also claims another $5000 from the railroad company for the loss of a trunk at Naco. The trunk, according to the allegations of the complaint, contained jewelry and valuables of great price.

It is presumed that tales of domestic infelicity have caused the following advertisement in the Douglas papers: "Not guilty. John Costello is my husband, and he is not guilty of beating me. I say so. Mrs. Louise Costello."

YUMA DAM.

SLOW PROGRESS.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

YUMA (Ariz.) Sept. 4.—The life of the contractors on the new Yuma dam appears to be one continual round of strike, work proceeding by jumps or not at all. The latest strike followed a new agreement among the team owners who were to be paid a dollar a day per team, with separate arrangements for the drivers. The matter has been adjusted somehow and work is on again, though probably not for long. The heat in the past several weeks has been intense in the Colorado River bottom, the high temperature being joined to a degree of humidity never known before. The weather is almost intolerable for horses and men alike. It is not likely that very much will be done before cooler weather comes to assist the construction work.

Yuma is to have a grand carnival during the week of Spanish Independence Day, September 16. The celebration is not alone a fiesta of the Mexican population, but is designed as an outlet for the joy of the populace over the starting of work on the Laguna dam. Half-fare railroad rates have been secured to Yuma from all points in Arizona, as well as from Los Angeles, and it is confidently expected that several thousand visitors will flock to Yuma from Southern California to join in the festivities and to view the coming metropolis of the Southwest.

As a general rule, a human being is rarely able to live without water on the southwestern deserts in summer more than two or three days. Pablo Valenzuela, a Mexican prospector, has broken the record. He is in Yuma, living and recovering, after an experience of seven days without water, save such as he secured in chewing the bitter pulp of cactus. He was found, accidentally, crazed and dying near Tinajas Altas, fifty miles southeast of Yuma, by Prof. W. T. McGee. The professor, late an attaché of the ethnological division of the Smithsonian institution, has been spending several months on the desert at Tinajas Altas (High Tanks) seeking benefit for his health from the dry air. He believes himself cured and has started on his return to his home, Washington.

It has been found that Yuma's best labor reserve lies in the Yuma and Cocopah Indian tribes. Hundreds of the tribesmen now are employed on the farms and canal work in this vicinity. They do not do as much work as a white man, but they stand heat and dust without complaint. The usual wage is $1 a day and food.

Eastern capitalists have purchased of Althea Modesti and Paul Mazetti, for $50,000 a group of gold placer claims in Yuma county, near the King of Arizona mines.

Dissension has opened up at Quartzsite, between cliques within the company that was to invest vast riches from the gold cement beds of that neighborhood. Process sent from Yuma in an action brought in the Yuma district court was received with resistance and force. Matters were adjusted, however, before a citation, in contempt could issue, a truce, if not peace, having been arranged between the parties in interest.

Many mysterious fires have occurred in Yuma lately, the last being in one of the schoolhouses, where only the promptness of work by the local fire companies saved the building. The fires are undoubtedly of incendiary origin and the local police are working hard for a clue concerning the identity of the miscreant.

WOODS RETURNS.

Billy Woods, well known to local boxing fans by virtue of a number of battles before Los Angeles clubs, in which he generally made a good showing and established the reputation of a fighter who could beat anybody of his weight if he would only tear in and mix things, is again in the city.

Coffee-colored Billy did not find the game up North quite to his liking. He was skinned financially, and more often than once wished he had never wandered from the shade of Tom McCarey's protecting wing, where the eating was always good and the pants pocket seldom empty.

Jack "Twin" Sullivan hasn't been heard from since he left Dawson City, and Tom McCarey is beginning to wonder if his late September card has gone glimmering. Unless Sullivan turns up in a few days another match will probably be made.

Nearly every sporting resort in town has arranged to bulletin the Britt-Nelson fight. McCarey will post returns at the Century Club's pavilion; they will be announced at the ball park, and many cigar stands, pool parlors and other places of rendezvous.

The exodus to the Britt-Nelson fight has already begun. Jeffries, George P. Miller and Artie Pitcher left on the Coast Line limited yesterday. Others will go today, but the number will not exceed one-half of what it would have been but for the present wrangling over a referee, which many consider suspicious.

Either Jeffries or Graney will probably be the man. George Siler is out of the question for geographical reasons, being in Chicago. The ready acceptance by Coffroth of Nolan's proposition that a guaranty of good faith be put up left Nelson's manager little ground to stand on in protesting Jeff's refereeing.

STATE FAIR RACES.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 7.—Governor's Day at the park drew a very large attendance at the races this afternoon. Gov. Pardee, his family and his staff viewed the races from the directors' stand. The Governor occupied a seat in the judges' stand for a short time, and had a close view of the contests on the track.

A programme of seven races and a walkover was provided for the big crowd, the Gov. Pardee Handicap, at a mile, being the big feature. This event was well down on the programme and could not be reached until late in the afternoon.

Just it gave a mild introduction to the card by walking over for the pacing end of the Occidental-Stanford Stake. The filly turned the track in 2:19¼, and took all the money paid in on the pacing end, which amounted to only $55.

The 2:18 class trot carried a field of five, out of which Cuate was selected to win, being strongly played at $20 to $5 for Wild Bell and $3 for the field, made up of Lady Jones, Hank and Little Babe. There was a considerable delay in starting the first heat, owing to Cuate breaking his sulky.

Walkover purse, $55. Just It won; time 2:19½.

Cuate (W. G. Durfee)	1	1	1
Wild Bell (H. D. Freeman)	3	2	3

Now will the saffron screech shut up and be good?

The Japs have obtained all they went to war for—and more. Why do the heathen rage?

Hearst's hired man needn't drink if he doesn't want to, but he was led to the water just the same.

The people have spoken. Owens River will come to Los Angeles. A magnificent future for the city is assured.

The Russians are not pleased with the new Anglo-Japanese alliance. No more do the Japanese like the Russo-German secret alliance. It seems to be a case of "horse and horse."

Now that Los Angeles has decided to go after the Owens River water, it will not be long before we shall need it, and need it very much, by reason of the continuing growth of the city.

The Evening Sycophant, addressing the school children of Los Angeles, now classes each appearance of the word "Express" in its columns as a "typographical error." We knew it was some kind of a mistake, but thanks for the specification.

Some of the railroads in Nebraska are using cattle cars for the transportation of passengers. This mode of transit may be a trifle hard on the average passenger, but the ordinary seat-hog of commerce doesn't deserve anything better.

Secretary Taft sitting on the Chinese boycott so hard as to have it officially declared off and the boycotters punished, the peace treaty actually signed and nothing doing on the Manchurian border! How rapidly this is getting to be a proxy old world, anyway!

The desperate efforts of labor unionists to murder each other in their "celebration" of Labor Day at Agricultural Park, causes respectable people to stop and wonder what the effect would be on a civilized and self-respecting city were these boasted champions of labor to get hold of the reins.

A Middle West newspaper is being sued for damages for publishing a headline to the effect that one of its patrons, while sojourning in New York, had been "committed to the Tombs." That shows that "a little libel is a dangerous thing." The person had expired suddenly and been consigned to the tomb.

Missouri has a convict who entered the State prison "degenerate, illiterate and savage," and came out "educated, an accomplished violinist, a good bookkeeper and a Christian." The prison educators certainly "showed" him all right. It is really worth going to prison when one can receive so thorough an education free of cost.

When the fact comes out in a divorce proceeding that a wife has deserted her husband rather than leave the glorious climate of California, a serious situation is developed. Still, as the wife was expected to return to Chicago, after having breathed the balmy air of Los Angeles, it must be confessed that there are palliating circumstances.

It seems as though there should be some way for this government to intercede for Antonio Felix, who stands in the shadow of a Mexican gallows for having kidnaped the murderer Garcia into the hands of our officers. If he is extradited into Mexico he stands a grand chance of being hanged.

In Vienna, the Municipal Council proposes to perpetuate the name of the American President by renaming a prominent street "Theodore Roosevelt Strasse." So far as we have observed, no American city has thus sought to honor the President. But the crop of infantile Theodore Roosevelt Smiths, Browns and Joneses is already large and is steadily growing.

About 50,000 fraudulent registrations have been stricken from the Philadelphia poll-lists, and the work of purification is not yet ended. It would seem that the names of about all the voters who have died in the City of Brotherly Love during the past generation were retained on the voting lists. At first glance one might suppose this to be a new way of perpetuating the memory of the dead. But it is not.

One by one old traditions are discarded and old illusions are shattered. We were taught, in childhood's happy days, that the moon was made of green cheese. And now comes a Harvard professor with the announcement that the lunar orb was yanked out of the bowels of the earth somewhere in the vicinity of the Hawaiian Islands. The professor may possibly be right, but in the absence of corroborative testimony we purpose to stick to the green-cheese theory.

EXPENSIVE STREETS.

That is a wise conclusion which has been arrived at by the Street Superintendent and the Board of Public Works, to the effect that "natural soil," consisting of loam and sand, when used as a surfacing for streets, is an expensive luxury. It is not only an expensive luxury, but it is little less than a public nuisance.

There are many miles of streets in the city which have been "improved" with surfacings of "natural soil" (garden earth) and accepted by the city as "graded and graveled streets." A street so treated looks very well at first, just after it has been carefully rolled so as to make a smooth surface, but its utility is short-lived. The surface dressing soon wears out, and is transformed by traffic into a succession of elevations and depressions which are unsightly, and are an affliction to all who use the street, no matter what kind of vehicle is employed. In rainy weather streets so "improved" are transformed into rivers of slimy mud. In dry weather they quickly become dusty, and require a great deal more water than is required by streets properly surfaced. To keep them in a decent state of repair requires large expenditures. If they are not kept in a decent state of repair they are veritable abominations.

Not another rod of street should ever be surfaced with "natural soil" in Los Angeles. No material less substantial than good, sound gravel should be used for street surfacing, and the gravel should be at least six inches in depth. The principal reason why our streets are so bad is because the use of poor and unsuitable material has been permitted in their construction. It is time to put a stop to such botch-work. Good work, though it may cost a little more in the beginning than poor work, is cheaper in the end.

THE RIOTS IN JAPAN.

It is too early to determine the real significance of the riots in Tokio and other cities of Japan. They may be mere superficial indications of the disappointment resulting from an imperfect knowledge of the terms agreed upon at Portsmouth, or they may have a deeper significance, such as will result in dividing the Japanese nation against itself. If the latter eventuality should develop, Japan may lose the prestige and the power which her arms have so dearly won. She will certainly forfeit, in no slight degree, the good opinion of the world, which is inclined to applaud the generous spirit of her envoys in accepting the Russian ultimatum, bringing an end to the war which has cost so much in blood and treasure.

It is probable that the rioting is merely a surface manifestation, which will soon cease, and that the Mikado's subjects will acquiesce with as good grace as possible in the terms of the Treaty of Portsmouth, after they have been made acquainted with the details agreed upon. That the conclusion of peace was best for both nations, under existing conditions, is becoming more and more apparent. The terms are not what Japan expected when her plenipotentiaries went into the conference; but they are as good, perhaps, as she could reasonably expect, taking everything into consideration.

The remarkable series of victories achieved by Japanese arms on land and sea served to fill the ordinary Japanese mind with exaggerated notions of Japanese prowess. Inflated with the idea that Japan could "whip the whole world," if necessary, the little brown men (whose wonderful fighting qualities the world concedes) expected that Russia would abjectly sue for peace, and humbly deliver to them the pound of flesh which they demanded by way of indemnity. It is of course rather difficult for them to disabuse themselves of the idea that Russia was whipped to a standstill.

Russia, though she suffered many defeats, was not by any means conquered. This fact was fully known to the Japanese envoys and to the higher Japanese statesmen. The latter knew Japan's weakness as well as her strength. It was upon the advice of the Elder Statesmen that the concessions were made which insured peace. The rulers of Japan were well aware that to continue the war would be almost suicidal. The true conditions of the empire are not well known to the common people. They are not so well qualified to judge what is best for the country as are their sovereign and his official family.

Without much doubt, the most effective method by which the Japanese government could allay the popular disaffection that has developed would be to take the people into its confidence. A proclamation from the Mikado, explaining the situation and assigning reasonable causes for the action taken at Portsmouth, by his personal and express orders, would doubtless serve to insure general acquiescence in the result.

All that Japan has gained in the war was gained by united action. Her armies acted as a unit at Port Arthur, at Liao Yang, and at Mukden. Concord also prevailed in her national councils, insuring coördination between the government and all its branches. The success which came out of this unity of thought and action furnished an object-lesson which Japan cannot afford to forget.

A late dispatch announces that martial law has been declared at Tokio. In all probability this will speedily put an end to the disorder, not alone in Tokio but throughout the island empire.

VIVA LOS ANGELES!

Los Angeles joyously announces to all the world that she has but just begun to grow; that she has hitched her wagon to a star, and nothing can stop her progress; that she is making preparations to take care of all the people who are looking longingly toward the shores of the Sunset Sea and are coming to make their homes in this blessed land.

By a vote of fourteen to one, the citizens of Los Angeles have set the seal of their irrevocable approval upon the acts of the Water Commissioners, which have secured to the city the abundant flow of pure water from the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada into the valley of Owens River. They have indorsed the Owens River project, as it was known they would, and silenced the croaking of pessimists and the babbling of fools.

The people of Los Angeles have proved their faith by their works. They have met triumphantly the test to which they were put, and have shown that they are unafraid. This was the question put to them by the situation: "You have told the world that you were building a great city by the Western Sea; do you mean what you say—dare you take upon yourselves the burden of the builders?"

And the people answer: "We are neither guessing nor boasting emptily. We know the destiny of our city, and we take upon ourselves the responsibility of its fulfillment."

None, knowing Los Angeles, ever had a doubt of what its citizens would say to the proposition of bringing water from a distance of more than 200 miles to insure the present prosperity and future growth of the city. Water made Southern California; water is the vital element of growth in all the communities of this Land of Sunshine. More precious than rivers of molten gold are the streams, born of Sierra snows and glaciers, flowing through desert valleys. To suppose that Los Angeles would hesitate to secure the opportunity presented to her in the Owens River project would be to assume that she entertained designs of suicide.

For years Los Angeles has been seeking water more eagerly than the miner hunts for fabled ledges of yirgin gold. In her quest she has resorted to every expedient, wise and unwise, hopeful and hopeless, to increase her scant supply. And she has known for a long time that the limit of water development upon her own ground is overpassed; that the natural reservoir of water underground is being drained faster than the rains of winter can refill it.

At the crisis of her history, engineers showed to Los Angeles a great river, wasting its priceless floods in a dead sea of the desert, and offered to bring its waters to her door at a cost of one-third of their market value on fruit lands. To the city, those waters are beyond price. They are life itself. The city has taken them, and the engineers will bring them to her door.

Los Angeles now owns enough of Owens River to guarantee a city of a million and a half population against a water famine, and she will proceed with her characteristic promptness and energy to construct a conduit to bring the water to her reservoir in San Fernando basin. All her fears and misgivings have vanished as the memory of a troublous dream, and she faces the future with joyous confidence.

It was a splendid vote of confidence in the men who have made the dream of a Greater Los Angeles a certainty—more than ten thousand to a beggarly, foolish few hundred. It is a testimonial to the intelligence and courageous public spirit of this community that out of a population of more than 200,000, there are less than 800 persons so timorous, ignorant, penurious or misguided as to oppose the issue of bonds for the salvation of the city; for it is certain that every opponent of the Owens River project went to the polls and did his pitiful, futile worst to ruin Los Angeles.

Bond elections seldom bring out more than 10 per cent. of a city's normal vote. Yesterday about 40 per cent. of the vote cast at a general election was recorded in favor of the Owens River project, although the result was so generally considered certain that thousands known to be in favor of the bond issue did not deem it necessary to go to the polls.

There were three precincts—thirty-first, thirty-ninth and sixtieth—in which the affirmative vote was unanimous. No "knockers" in those precincts. The thirtieth, in the Third Ward, made almost as good a showing: 233 votes for the bonds and only 4 against; and that is a big precinct. Only one precinct failed to support the project by the necessary two-thirds vote. The ninety-fifth cast 17 votes for and 9 against; one vote shy. That is the brewery precinct, and perhaps the makers of beer could not see why Los Angeles should want so much water, having no ships to float. The most foolish people appear to infest the thirteenth precinct, Second Ward, where 22 votes out of 140 were cast against the bonds. But taken as a whole, Los Angeles has proved that she has fewer ignorant and vicious knockers than any other city on earth.

Engineer Mulholland, the Water Board, Fred Eaton, the Mayor, all who had part in preparing and presenting this great enterprise to Los Angeles, are indorsed, applauded and backed up by the people, and they can go ahead with all the energy and vim that is in them to make the project an accomplished fact. Owens River is ours, and our business now is to hustle and bring it here, and make Los Angeles the garden spot of the earth and the home of a million contented people.

Planning the Canal.

The meeting of the international board of consulting engineers on the Panama Canal is a reminder that the plan of that colossal work has not yet been determined. Proposals are plenty as blackberries, for high level, low level, tide level, and what not. Our experience of the last year in rushing ahead with construction work before sanitary and other conditions were suitable for it, and then having to stop it altogether for a time, should serve as an impressive warning against repeating the mistake of supposing that haste is the prime consideration. It is not the quickest canal or the cheapest canal in first cost that this nation wants, but the best canal.

We are told that "a lock canal would be sufficient for all commercial purposes." Remember Suez. Commercial experts, of the foremost commercial countries, were cocksure it would never pay operating expenses, and when, in 1870, it passed nearly 450,000 tons, they said: "Well, that is the limit!" Now it passes more than 12,000,000 tons a year, and the directors have almost to sit up o' nights reducing tolls and devising other ways and means for keeping the yearly profits within the 25 per cent. limit prescribed by the charter. The man who tries to reckon what will be sufficient for commercial purposes at Panama would better reckon with pretty big figures, and ask for the most commodious canal that can be made.—[New York Tribune.

She has the saddest face I have ever seen, and when she smiled she looked as though she wanted to cry instead."

PARTING.

I.

They say that parting is sweet sorrow,
And so it is, if they that part
Look forward to some glad tomorrow
When each may claim the other's heart.
The handclasp and the sacred meeting
Of lips in love's pure service—these
Bring recompense for much repeating
Of eager longings, if the seas
And hills and plains that keep as twain
May some day be recrossed again.

II.

When we who say goodby forever,
Clasp hands and look through tear-dimmed eyes,
And know that we may never, never
Renew the rudely broken ties;
Oh, if from splendid realms above us
They may behold who gave us birth,
And still as weeping children love us,
How must they wonder that the earth
Can, as our hands unclasp, possess
Aught save the tomb of joyousness!

III.

Their parting may be splendid sadness,
Who look with eager hopes beyond,
For whom the future treasures gladness
In payment of the joys they've pawned;
But how can heaven undo the sorrow
That they must bear who, loving, part
And see ahead no glad tomorrow,
No gleaming afterwhile, sweetheart?
Who have no dear excuse, alas,
To count the moments as they pass!

State of Sequoyah.

The decision of the Statehood convention at Muskogee to apply for the admission of the Indian Territory as a State under the name of Sequoyah does deserved honor to one of the really great men whom America owes to its red aboriginal inhabitants.

George Guess, the half-breed, known to his tribe as Sequoyah, was the inventor of the Cherokee alphabet, by means of which he brought written knowledge in their own tongue to his people. He was also a statesman and a peaceful leader among them. He has already been signally honored by the naming of the "big tree" of California "Sequoia gigantea," after him. In England this tree is known as "Wellingtonia," after quite a different type of great man.

Why not Sequoyah? It is a musical name, easily spoken and remembered. Twenty-eight of our States bear Indian titles, usually place-names. Two are named for Kings, Louisiana and Georgia, and five for Queens—Maryland, North and South Carolina and Virginia and West Virginia, whose titles recall the virgin Queen Elizabeth. One, Delaware, is named for Lord De la Warr; one, Pennsylvania, for the plain Quaker commoner, William Penn; one for George Washington, but his name had to wait until 1889 for Statehood honors. No other State commemorates in its title any American citizen. Two States, Colorado and Florida, have Spanish names.

The worst choice of all was that which condemns three fine States to wear the names of English York, Jersey and Hampshire with the belittling prefix "New." Though such fanciful made-to-order titles as Indiana, Vermont and Montana are also rather unfortunate.—[New York World.

Pushing the Old Man Out.

When the babies are cross and a man would like a quiet retreat there is none for him. But in a few years, when the children are grown and he is in the way, the daughters and mother put their heads together and originate a den. There is no den for the mother, because she gracefully eliminates herself by sitting in the kitchen or running over to a neighbor's. It is her natural disposition to hide in a corner or remove herself entirely, and it is not the natural disposition of the father. Hence the den. It has a couch and some pipes and tobacco and the books which the neighbors haven't got around to borrowing as yet, though if father begins a story today the book will be found to be loaned out when he wants to finish it tomorrow. The den is a fashionable way of pushing the old man out. If there is one in your house, Mr. Man, don't be deceived.—[Atchison Globe.

PREMIER ROUVIER.

The Man of the Hour in France and Some of His Personal Characteristics.

[London Sphere:] Paris has paid him the greatest compliment Paris knows how to pay, for nobody in France now speaks of "Monsieur" Rouvier or of Monsieur Maurice Rouvier, but everyone says Rouvier simply as we talk of Bismarck or Gambetta.

And there is much of the Gambetta temperament in Maurice Rouvier, who like his former chief was born in the south of France and educated at Marseilles. Like Gambetta, Rouvier is a stormy petrel. "I revel in the mistral of politics" is one of his expressions, and more than all else he loves the solution of a difficult situation.

Since his first entry, at the age of 23, into French politics, in the year of the war (Rouvier was born in 1842,) the man on whom the eyes of Europe are at present turned has always been the man to whom his colleagues turn in time of stress. In 1881, he was the Minister of Commerce and the mainstay of Gambetta's Cabinet, and eight years later for three years was Minister of Finance. The Panama affair threw him out of office, but did not hurt his reputation for genius and for honesty, political and personal, and since M. Delcasse's retirement, Rouvier has been looked upon, and rightly looked upon, as the strong man of France.

He has the southern exuberance of temperament, and it is amusing to watch him on a field day at the Chamber going from one deputy to another, cajoling an enemy and patting him on the back, putting his arm round the shoulders of a friend, whispering in the ear of both, and invariably imposing his own point of view. When he has succeeded in preventing the question or the interpellation that he sought to prevent, when he has made the deputies of the Right, Lewt and Center "leave things to me," his invariable plea upon important questions, he climbs into the tribune, and in a few moments the whole house is with him. For in his public speech there is the calm, the restraint, the dignity, and the conviction of the man who can, and knows he can. Rouvier is an impressive speaker, eloquent and oratorical, but studiously, and if I may be allowed to use the expression, not accidentally, eloquent. The effect of each oratorical outburst is carefully calculated. He has known to raise a tumult of applause with a speech upon so dry a subject as indirect taxation, and he has no hesitation in sacrificing his personal vanity as a speaker when it is policy to bore the house with a question which he desires to shelve.

And personally Rouvier is one of the most charming men one can imagine. His knowledge is encyclopedic. He is as much at home in art questions as in questions of finance; he is, as all politicians should be but few French politicians are, an authority on things historical and geographical. On lighter subjects he has the same intimate knowledge that he possesses upon financial and political questions, and M. Jules Claretie has put it upon record that Rouvier has more than once put him right upon a detail of theatrical affairs.

Maurice Rouvier is no diplomat of the old-fashioned, buttoned-up, frock-coat, mysteriously-closed-eyes, and finger-upon-lip type. It was said of him only recently by the Ambassador of a foreign power that Rouvier's charm was such that after the set conversation upon the question which had been the reason of a visit to him it was almost impossible not to prolong that visit for some half-an-hour's unofficial conversation. "And," continued his excellency, "it is usually in the course of that unofficial half-hour that Rouvier makes his biggest diplomatic successes." The Premier's method at Cabinet meetings is the same conversational one.

A Period of Prosperity.

The immediate present is a period which appears to have brought to the American people probably the most abounding prosperity they have ever enjoyed. It is not, as some of our Democratic friends seem to infer, merely an appearance of prosperity. It is entirely real. No one who knows anything about business depression can look about him for even a day and fail to see the difference between that condition and the present.

Wages are high and the wage earner can live more comfortably on his earnings than ever before and yet the demand for men and women to work is absolutely vociferous. All over the country from Maine to Mexico there is a loud cry for labor, for men to work, on the farm especially, though even New England factories complain of scarcity of labor. While thousands of immigrants pour over our eastern border every week, they seem to make no impression on the demand for labor.—[Chicago Chronicle.

Shakespeare Still Sells.

The sale of Shakespeare's works continues to be the wonder of publishers, English and American. One of the former has recently paused to mention again the figures and to recall the variety of editions, which is as remarkable as the number of copies sold. No fewer than seventeen different editions of all sorts either have just been completed or are at the present time in course of issue in England alone. One of these is reported to sell at the rate of 250,000 copies a year. Truly, Shakespeare seems to be more than ever a "best seller." He even keeps his hold on immortality, though immortality and best selling do not always go together; and keeps it notwithstanding Mr. Bernard Shaw and the aid and comfort Mr. Howells genially gives him in the September number of Harper's.—[New York Times.

The Army Reserve.

There should be no fear that the proposed army reserve is a measure intended to lower the militia. It could hardly result in that, except as it might affect appropriations hereafter to be made for State purposes by the national government, or to divide any possible pay among a larger number than is included in the present militia, making the per capita allowance smaller, but that is a small affair, considering that the pay to each one is nominal and has a maximum of only $36 a year.

Since our Spanish War the militia has advanced to a better position than it ever held before. Government has realized the necessity of forming some manner of army reserve, that, in emergency, a sufficient and reliable force for immediate needs may be at hand. The terrible mess that our amateur soldiers made of it when the trouble with Spain began was an object lesson that needs no repeating. It is required that henceforth a drilled and uniformed force as large as the need may be at call; that in all respects of arming, accoutering, supplies and instruction it be closely assimilated to the army, so that it can pass from the command of its own officers to that of their superiors among the regulars without delay, confusion, unfitness or misunderstanding. Whether this force be called a reserve or a militia matters nothing, so that it is secured.—[Brooklyn Eagle.

Home Grown Boy Best.

An old farmer in Nemaha county remarks that a home-grown, barefoot spanked, bare-footed and hard-fisted country boy makes a much better fighter in the battles of life than does the pampered, high-collared, creased-trousered youth of our town and cities whose clothes have always been dusted with a whisk broom instead of a shingle.—[Kansas City Journal.

REAL ESTATE ADVANCES.

History of One Lot in Six Months. Revenue to be Expected and Interest it Will Pay.

A few months ago a real estate dealer bought a lot on Olive and Twelfth streets, 87x165 feet, with a house on it, for $15,500. Speaking of it at the time he said: "I think I have given $2000 more than it is intrinsically worth." He held on a few weeks and a client came in voluntarily and offered him $9000 for a half interest, or at the rate of $18,000 for the whole piece. In less than two months a woman came in and offered $25,000 for the property, and got it. She had consulted an agent, a friends of hers, who told her the property was dear, but that he thought the way things were going it would come to it. This friend said when she bought it: "I am half sorry she took it." He thought she was "stuck." But she moved the house back on Twelfth street on the rear forty feet of the lot, and has just sold the rest of the lot for $24,000, keeping about one-fourth of her purchase.

If the property was dear at $15,000 a few months ago what is it now at twice the figure?

Some real estate men, speaking of the last transaction yesterday, said: "It is not worth the money. It is hard to see how it can be made to pay 1 per cent. on the purchase price."

This is probably not an extreme view to take of the matter. On 87x165 feet a flat building of six seven-room flats can be put, at a cost of say $15,000 and make a good job. The property will then stand its owner say $40,000. His flats will bring, as things are, $30 each, or $180 a month for the bunch. This would be $2160 per annum, or 4 little over 5 per cent. per annum. While the buildings are new there will be but small repairs to make, and insurance and taxes would not run to over $500, leaving say $1500 net income on an investment of $40,000. Put out at interest that sum would earn $2000, or $500 more than the flats.

A KINGLY GIFT.

The Noble Deed of an Indian Prince Who Attended the Durbar.

One of the oldest Maharajahs in Delhi, when leaving the city after the ceremonies connected with the great Durbar were finished, placed in the bank where his camp had been from then forward. "For," he said, "I, the Rajah, have rested here and henceforth like land must always be free from encumbrances." That was a noble act of the Maharajah of Nabha, one of the conspicuous figures taking part in the memorable spectacle in January, 1903, in Delhi, India. There were many other disinterested acts on the part of the Rajahs and reigning chiefs who made from the furthermost portion of the Indian Empire to participate in the stories of the wonderful pageant and the corollary festivities connected therewith.

Beautiful incidents like the foregoing, must be reproduced before an audience which represented, and he is impersonated in the spectacle of the Durbar

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBE

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

The summer solstice is wearing itself away to the final barriers of this and season; vacations are now matters of hours instead of days. Nights that formerly lagged long in coming now fall swiftly, and with the lengthened evenings the local musical fraternity, whose individual members have whiled away July and August at the beach or mountain or inland resorts, takes up again its wonted melodic employments.

Already there are large plans for the coming season, some of them built for the immediate weeks now following, others wrought to endure the year, and some designed for months far in the land of the present one.

The closing of the Venice festival, and with it the whole season of seaside music, is at hand, and Director Sydney Lloyd Wrightson will go back to Washington in a few days.

Not without perfecting future plans does he go, however. His ideas, consolidated and given shape yesterday, will be of interest to the many musicians who sang in chorus under his baton at the production of "St. Paul."

Mr. Wrightson proposes to make permanent his beach chorus, leaving an established body of eighty voices at Venice under the winter direction of William H. Lott.

Next summer the festival idea will be revived, and if present plans—amounting almost to contracts—are fulfilled, the Wrightson chorus will be backed by the Washington Symphony Orchestra of eighty players, under the direction of their well-known composer-leader, Reginald DeKoven.

The establishment of the beach chorus is intended to make this organization absolutely separate and distinct from any city body of similar character, and is a tribute to the individual growth and prosperity of the resorts which have become a permanent home for many people.

The Los Angeles Operatic Club, which began its work last season under the direction of Joseph P. Dupuy, will recommence its endeavors next Thursday evening, starting with full force of chorus and principals, rehearsals for "The Chimes of Normandy," which they will give about the Christmas holidays.

The personnel of the aggregation is so fully decided as yet. Dupuy will still hold the baton, but some of the principals of last year have left the city. The production given in Dobinson Auditorium the list included Roland Paul—who will probably sing again—Mrs. Robert Smith, Mabel Treynor and Mr. Salyer.

Two operas will be given during the year, the second of which has not yet been decided upon.

Another operatic venture, thrusting deeper into heavier art, is being fostered quietly by Messrs. Walker, Chick and Barnhart, and Miss Catherine Estelle Hearit.

The quartette, with the assistance of Miss Davies as soprano, are "getting up" in "Faust."

The arrangement of principals places Mr. Walker in the title role, Barnhart as Mephistopheles, Miss Hearit as Siebel, Chick as Valentine, and Miss Davies as Marguerite.

Costumes, chorus and orchestra are to go with this Conriadian undertaking if sold.

Dossetti is to have an inning at the Chutes tonight, with a programme of his own compositions, played before a galaxy of local musicians.

The compositions to be given by the Italian director from works of his own are his "Victory" march; a baritone solo in his arrangement of the Last "Ave Maria," the "Carnival" march, "Momento Musicale," Rosetti's new intermezzo dedicated to Miss Rose Robertson, and the "Chautauqua" polka.

The other numbers are the overture to Weber's "Oberon," and the fantasia from "Carmen."

AUGUST CIRCULATION OF THE TIMES.

History of One Lot in Six Months. Revenue to be Expected and Interest it Will Pay.

A few months ago a real estate dealer bought a lot on Olive and Twelfth streets, 87x165 feet, with a house on it, for $15,500. Speaking of it at the time he said: "I think I have given $2000 more than it is intrinsically worth." He held on a few weeks and a client came in voluntarily and offered him $9000 for a half interest, or at

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

The summer solstice is wearing itself away to the final barriers of time and season; vacations are new matters of history instead of days. Nights that formerly lagged long in conning now fall swiftly, and with the lengthened evenings the local musical fraternity, whose individual members have whiled away July and August at the beach or mountain or inland resorts, takes up again its wonted melodic employments.

Already there are large plans for the coming season, some of them built for the immediate weeks now following, plans wrought to endure the year, and plans designed for months far in the land of the present one.

The closing of the Venice festival, and with it the whole season of seaside music, is at hand, and Director Sydney Lloyd Wrightson will go back to Washington in a few days.

Not without perfecting future plans does he go, however. His ideas, consolidated and given shape yesterday, will be of interest to the many musicians who sang in chorus under his baton at the production of "St. Paul."

Mr. Wrightson proposes to make permanent his beach chorus, leaving an established body of eighty voices at Venice under the winter direction of William H. Lott.

Next summer the festival idea will be revived, and if present plans—amounting almost to contracts—are fulfilled, the Wrightson chorus will be backed by the Washington Symphony Orchestra of eighty players, under the direction of their well-known composer-leader, Reginald DeKoven.

The establishment of the beach chorus is intended to make this organization absolutely separate and distinct from any city body of similar character, and is a tribute to the individual growth and prosperity of the resorts which have become a permanent home to many people.

The Los Angeles Operatic Club, which began its work last season under the direction of Joseph P. Dupuy, will recommence its endeavors next Thursday evening, starting with full force of chorus and principals, rehearsals for "The Chimes of Normandy," which they will give about the Christmas holidays.

The personnel of the aggregation is not fully decided as yet. Dupuy will still hold the baton, but some of the principals of last year have left the city. At the production given in Dobinson Auditorium the list included Roland Paul—who will probably sing again—Mrs. Robert Smith, Mabel Tressler and Mr. Salyer.

Two operas will be given during the year, the second of which has not yet been decided upon.

Another operatic venture, thrusting hope into heavier art, is being fostered quietly by Messrs. Walker, Clay and Barnhart, and Miss Catherine Estelle Hearst.

The quartette, with the assistance of Miss Davies as soprano, are "getting up" in "Faust."

The assignment of principals places Mr. Walker in the title role, Barnhart as Mephistopheles, Miss Hearst as Siebel, Clark as Valentine, and Miss Davies as Marguerite.

Chimes, chorus and orchestra are to finish this Conriedian undertaking unaided.

Tivoli is to have an inning at the down tonight, with a programme of [illegible] compositions, played before a [illegible] of local musicians.

The compositions to be given by the [illegible] director from works of his own [illegible] his "Victory" march; a baritone solo [illegible] arrangement of the Liszt "Ave Maria," the "Cecilia" march, "Momento Musicale," "Rosetta," a new [illegible] dedicated to Miss Rose Eoberly, and the "Chautauqua" polka.

The other numbers are the overture to Weber's "Oberon," and the fantasia from "Carmen."

REAL ESTATE ADVANCES.

History of One Lot in Six Months. Revenue to be Expected and Interest it Will Pay.

A few months ago a real estate dealer bought a lot on Olive and Twelfth streets, 67x165 feet, with a house on it, for $15,500. Speaking of it at the time he said: "I think I have given $2000 more than it is intrinsically worth." He held on a few weeks and a client came in voluntarily and offered him $9000 for a half interest, or at the rate of $18,000 for the whole piece. In less than two months a woman came in and offered $26,000 for the property, and got it. She had consulted an agent, a friends of hers, who told her the property was dear, but that he thought the way things were going it would come to it. This friend said when she bought it: "I am half sorry she took it." He thought she was "stuck." But she moved the house back on Twelfth street on the rear forty feet of the lot, and has just sold the rest of the lot for $24,000, keeping about one-fourth of the purchase.

If the property was dear at $15,000 a few months ago what is it now at twice the figure?

Some real estate men, speaking of the last transaction yesterday, said: "It is not worth the money. It is hard to see how it can be made to pay 1 per cent. on the purchase price."

That is probably not an extreme view to take of the matter. On 67x125 feet a flat building of six seven-room flats can be put, at a cost of say $15,000 and make a good 50th. The property will then stand its owner say $40,000. His flats will bring, as things are, $30 each, or $180 a month for the bunch. This would be $2160 per annum, or a little over 5 per cent. per annum. While the buildings are new there will be but small repairs to make, and insurance and taxes would not run to over $800, leaving say $1300 net income on an investment of $40,000. Put out at interest that sum would earn $2600, or $500 more than the flats.

A KINGLY GIFT.

The Noble Deed of an Indian Prince Who Attended the Durbar.

One of the oldest Maharajahs in India, when leaving the city after the festivities connected with the great Durbar were finished, placed in the hands of the Viceroy sufficient funds to free the land where his camp had been from taxes forever. "For," he said, "I, the land, have rested here and henceforth the land must always be free from encumbrance." That was a noble act of the Maharajah of Nabha, one of the most picturesque figures taking part in the most picturesque spectacle in January, 1903, in Delhi, India. There were many disinterested acts on the part of the Rajahs and reigning chiefs who came from the furthermost portion of the Indian Empire to participate in the glories of the wonderful pageant and the auxiliary festivities connected with the great event.

Several incidents like the foregoing will be reproduced before an audience, but the person of the Maharajah making the noble act can be faithfully represented, and he is impersonated in the spectacle of the Durbar this season forming a part of the performance of the Barnum & Bailey "Greatest Show on Earth." The Durbar, it may be as well to state, was projected upon the broadest and most colossal scale imaginable, and involved all the rulers of the affluent States of India with their army of retainers, war paraphernalia, animals, etc., and is said to have represented in wealth over $500,000,000. This enormous amount of wealth was actually displayed to the populace in the form of diamonds, rubies, emeralds, pearls, sapphires, and other precious stones embroidered upon the costumes of the high officials of the empire; in the costly robes and fabrics covering the elephants, camels and sacred animals; in the shape of solid gold and silver cannon, jewel bedecked swords and other war implements, and in the vast amount of rich and costly paraphernalia in the pageant.

All this together with other conspicuous features, will be represented in the Barnum & Bailey spectacle. In fact, everything associated directly with the glorious and triumphal Durbar will be depicted and so true to life that the Indian Princes and rulers themselves would imagine they were again participants in the original Durbar. Notwithstanding the cost of the spectacle, it is made but a prelude to the performances of the show, which fact alone is indicative of the grand and colossal scale upon which the Barnum & Bailey Show is constructed and the significance of which is unmistakable. Following the picturesque and oriental pageant are the many thrilling features of the circus, gymnastic, acrobatic, and hippodromatic performances, all of which keep the audience spell-bound for three hours; and before all, the visitors first see the two menageries, herd of giraffes, giant and midget and other wonderful sights.

It will be here on September 25 and 26.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

ONE of the most charming girls of the young set was married on Wednesday evening, the wedding being a particularly pretty "yellow-and-white" affair at St. John's Episcopal Church, corner of Adams and Figueroa streets. Many guests gathered in the quaint little church to witness the nuptials of Miss Margaret Macleish, daughter of Dr. Archibald Macleish, and Sanford Elsworth Cobb of East Orange, N. J. Bishop Johnson read the Episcopal service, and as the wedding party approached the altar the wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played by Waldo F. Chase. During the ceremony soft music was played, and at the close "Mendelssohn's March."

II

Garlands of greenery were wound about the rood screen and over the arches, in whose meshes white asters were caught. Over the central arch loops of ferns and asters were festooned and palms and potted plants enhanced the effect. Over the central arch a great bow of white tulle formed a lover's knot wound with tendrils of green.

The bride was attired in a simple gown of white crepe de chine made en traine and trimmed with real lace and many ruffles. Her veil was caught with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Catharine Caldwell, wore white organdie and lace and carried a shower cluster of asters tied with yellow ribbon. The two sisters of the bride, Misses Helen and Dorothy Macleish, were bridesmaids. They wore fetching gowns of yellow organdie tied with yellow ribbon. The bride was given away by her father, Dr. Archibald Macleish. George Hill acted as best man. The ushers were Polkemus Cobb, a cousin of the groom; Benjamin Romaine, Archibald Macleish and Gordon Macleish.

After the service a small reception was held at the home of the bride, No. 817 South Alvarado street. Here were present a few relatives and members of the bridal party, and a wedding supper was served from a table decked with asters and maidenhair ferns. The entire home was lightly hung with ferns and festoons of greenery and asters, and jars of goldenrod added to the charm.

Mr. and Mrs. Cobb will remain in and about the city for several days before leaving for their home in Orange, N. J.

Will Wed in North.

Miss Louise Naud, daughter of Mrs. Louise Naud of No. 909 West Ninth street, whose engagement to Glenn C. Peck was announced this week, is to be married September 13 in San Francisco. Miss Naud has lived here for nearly twenty years and has many friends. She is a talented musician and a prominent member of the Treble Clef Club. Mr. Peck is a well-known real estate man of the city. The reason for going north for the ceremony is that Miss Naud's two brothers are there awaiting her. After the wedding the couple will take a trip East, visiting all the places of interest along the way. They expect to be gone about two months.

Home for Short Time.

Alfred Solano of Figueroa and Twenty-third streets has returned home for a short time on business. He expects to leave shortly for New York City, where he will join Mrs. Solano. Mr. and Mrs. Solano have been spending the summer traveling through the East. They expect to remain there some months longer.

Visit Catalina.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Terrill of Angeleno Heights have had as their guest Mrs. Terrill's brother-in-law, W. O. Bonnie, a prominent business man of Louisville, Ky. The last few days Mr. Bonnie has spent at Catalina in company with his young niece, Miss Lena Moss Terrill. They report a jolly good time with plenty of big fish caught.

Return from Idyllwild.

Dr. and Mrs. Walter Jarvis Barlow have returned after spending a main part of the summer months at Idyllwild, and are again at their home, No. 2219 South Figueroa street. Mrs. Barlow entertained informally the merry Idyllwild crowd most cordially while away.

Celebrate Golden Wedding.

One of the most delightful affairs of the week was the party given Wednesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson King of No. 16 St. James Park in celebration of their fiftieth wedding anniversary. The beautiful home was transformed with the beautiful golden-glow, great masses of the bloom being spread against the walls, mingling with the deep green of many ferns.

The evening was made enjoyable with songs and violin and piano music. At the end of the formal programme half a hundred guests tripped lightly through the gay measures of the Virginia reel and other old-fashioned dances.

Later a supper was served. On the table stood a beautiful wedding cake in a setting of flowers. Mr. and Mrs. King were married fifty years ago in La Salle, Ill., and after that made their home in New York City for many years. Just twenty-two years ago they came to Los Angeles to reside. Mrs. King, who formerly was Miss Mary K. Lindley, is a sister of S. K. Lindley of this city and a relative of Dr. Walter Lindley. Those who enjoyed Wednesday night's affair were: Judge and Mrs. H. C. Gooding, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Newhall, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Garland, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mercer, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Clark, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Van Nuys, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Lindley, Mr. and Mrs. William Fridham, Mr. and Mrs. Richard V. Day, Mrs. Margaret Hughes, Mrs. Adam Darling, Mrs. Henry T. Lee, Mrs. Milton Lindley, Mrs. W. H. Perry, Mrs. Charles Modini-Wood, Misses Gertrude Gooding, Hazeltine Sherman, Katherine, Mary and studies and in the meantime will complete her education at the local High School.

Just now Miss Stuart is a guest at a house party of young girls at Terminal Island, and she's been enjoying herself immensely, as young Grover Garland, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Garland, has his pretty little yacht there, and she and her friends enjoy the handling of the white-winged craft.

Miss Iline Wilson of corner Tenth and Westlake avenue is entertaining the girls at her summer cottage at Terminal, and other guests are Misses Nita German, Alise Kelly and Mamie Packard.

Complimentary to Mrs. Lott.

Mrs. William Henry Lott, who has recently come to make Los Angeles her home, was the guest yesterday afternoon at a most enjoyable card party given by Miss Dent and Esther Dent of No. 2720 Wilshire boulevard. Six-handed euchre was the game of the afternoon and scores were kept on cards ornamented with dainty Japanese figures. Prizes awarded were a hand-painted veil case, a cut-glass bottle of perfume, and a lace handkerchief bag. At the close of the games dainty refreshments were served. The home was decorated with a profusion of pink and white roses and graceful asparagus ferns. The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. H. J. Whitley of Hollywood, and others present were: Mesdames Nicholas E. Rice, William W. Neuer, Elmer E. Cole, O. C. Whitney, Frank John Hart, R. B. Williamson, H. K. Williamson, Higgins, Newton Karr Potter, William F. Pleas, John C. Hutchinson, Richard G. Beebe, J. A. Moore, W. L. Stewart, Arnold, Ira W. Shirley, John Bates Cornwell, Nash, A. Banning, Gilbert E. Returns from North.

Dr. and Mrs. John McCoy of No. 17 Harnard Park returned on Wednesday evening from a two months trip through the northern part of the country. They were accompanied by their daughter Marie and sons Lon S. and John. They visited at Portland, and stayed a month in British Columbia. En route home they stopped for a few days at San Luis Obispo.

Japanese Social.

This evening there will be a most attractive Japanese social given at the Vincent Methodist Episcopal Church under the auspices of the Vincent Epworth League. Rev. Schwarts and family who have recently returned from Japan, assisted by a Japanese lady, will give an evening of Japanese scenes, showing dress and customs of this interesting people. They will have with them many interesting curios.

Visit Ben Lomond.

A number of Los Angeles people are summering in the Santa Cruz Mountains and at Ben Lomond. Gay folk from both Northern and Southern California gather there, making a jolly resort. At present Mrs. Oliver C. Bryant and her attractive young daughter, Miss Helenan Bryant, are at the Hotel Rowardennan enjoying a few weeks pleasure, and Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Hellman and Miss Lucile Hellman are also there.

Notes and Personals.

Mrs. H. B. Gardner of Minneapolis is visiting her son, Guy Gardner, at Alhambra for two months.

Miss May Ridder, Daughter of the Pastor of Westlake Methodist Episcopal Church, is at Stanford University for her freshman year.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zucker left last evening via Salt Lake Line for Salt Lake City and Seattle. They expect to be gone a month.

Fred H. Coles, for several years connected prominently with the Los Angeles Pacific Railroad, left on Tuesday for a visit to his old home, Tarrytown, N. Y. He will return in about two months with his mother, and make California his permanent home.

Mrs. John R. Haynes of No. 945 South Figueroa street has returned from a few weeks spent at Catalina Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Earle of No. 942 Beacon street have as their guest their son, Midshipman John Bayliss Earle of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. On his return trip, Mr. Earle will visit his sister, Miss Edna Earle, at Stanford University.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Whitmarch have sold their beautiful new residence on Wilshire boulevard and will make their home for the present at the Floradora, Frasier avenue, Ocean Park.

Mrs. Grant McClure of Milaca, Minn., who has been making a tour of the western cities, is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. L. P. Wright, for a brief period of time.

Dr. John A. Colliver has returned from a six weeks' trip to San Francisco, Stanford and other places in the northern part of the State.

Mrs. Frank Bryson has returned from Catalina and will be at home for a fortnight, after which she will go to Portland, Or., for a few weeks.

The Suffrage Association will hold a special meeting next Wednesday at the Hotel Lovejoy to arrange for the reception they are planning to give in the parlors of the Hotel Angelus.

Visit Catalina.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Terrill of Angeleno Heights have had as their guest Mrs. Terrill's brother-in-law, W. O. Bonnie, a prominent business man of Louisville, Ky. The last few days Mr. Bonnie has spent at Catalina in company with his young niece, Miss Lena Moss Terrill. They report a jolly good time with plenty of big fish caught.

Return from Idyllwild.

Dr. and Mrs. Walter Jarvis Barlow have returned after spending a main part of the summer months at Idyllwild, and are again at their home, No. 2219 South Figueroa street. Mrs. Barlow entertained informally the merry Idyllwild crowd most cordially while away.

Celebrate Golden Wedding.

One of the most delightful affairs of the week was the party given Wednesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson King of No. 16 St. James Park in celebration of their fiftieth wedding anniversary. The beautiful home was transformed with the beautiful golden-glow, great masses of the bloom being spread against the walls, mingling with the deep green of many ferns.

The evening was made enjoyable with songs and violin and piano music. At the end of the formal programme half a hundred guests tripped lightly through the gay measures of the Virginia reel and other old-fashioned dances.

Later a supper was served. On the table stood a beautiful wedding cake in a setting of flowers. Mr. and Mrs. King were married fifty years ago in La Salle, Ill., and after that made their home in New York City for many years. Just twenty-two years ago they came to Los Angeles to reside. Mrs. King, who formerly was Miss Mary K. Lindley, is a sister of S. K. Lindley of this city and a relative of Dr. Walter Lindley. Those who enjoyed Wednesday night's affair were: Judge and Mrs. H. C. Gooding, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Newhall, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Garland, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mercer, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Clark, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Van Nuys, Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Lindley, Mr. and Mrs. William Fridham, Mr. and Mrs. Richard V. Day, Mrs. Margaret Hughes, Mrs. Adam Darling, Mrs. Henry T. Lee, Mrs. Milton Lindley, Mrs. W. H. Perry, Mrs. Charles Modini-Wood, Misses Gertrude Gooding, Hazeltine Sherman, Katherine, Mary and Miss Louise Naud and Glenn F. Peck, whose engagement was announced this week, and who are being cordially feted by their many friends.

Miss Best Surprised.

Monday evening, members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Calvary Presbyterian Church surprised Miss Viola May Best, the church organist, at her home on East Twenty-seventh street. The evening was spent in games and music was furnished by Misses Ruth and Ethel Best, while Misses Lottie Lawrence and Ethel Best gave a number of clever readings. Later Miss Bertha Haney in the behalf of the society presented Miss Best with a beautiful spoon engraved with an inscription from "C. E. Society." Those who enjoyed the evening were: Rev. W. G. Palmer, Mrs. Lemmon, Miss Josephine Lemmon, Mr. and Mrs. McBeth, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Truman, Mrs. Pennington, Mrs. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell, and Misses Bertha Haney, Bessie Haney, Margaret Hanson, Edwards, Edith Patton, Miss Lottie Lawrence, Florence Pennington, Ruby Bailey, and Master George Hugo, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Byram and Mr. Hobeen.

Returns Home.

Informal Garden Tea.

Mrs. C. Dolliver of No. 1209 Westlake avenue, was hostess Wednesday afternoon, entertaining a few friends with a garden tea in compliment to Mrs. J. W. Broad. The broad lawn was strewn with gay rugs and made cosy with hammocks and easy chairs. The guests were: Mrs. Matthew Robertson, Mrs. Fred Allis, Mrs. Vaugn, Mrs. Broad, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. Yothers, Miss Alice Yothers, Miss Edmiston and the Misses Margaret and Anna Broad.

Well-known Girl a Visitor.

Mrs. E. Lacey of Chicago, who was married a year ago, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Eaton of Casa Alta, Avenue 41. Mrs. Speer was well known as Miss Helen Eaton, and her many friends will be glad to welcome her here again. Accompanying her on her trip is her baby son and her father-in-law, David Spencer, of Chambersburg, Pa. They expect to remain several weeks before returning to Chicago.

Travels Through Europe.

Miss Adele Lauth, who has been studying in Berlin, Germany, for the past two years with Leopold Godowsky, is at present on an automobile tour through France and Spain as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. De Campano of Paris. Miss Lauth will be remembered as a tall and handsome blonde, well known here in musical circles and in the younger set. She is the only daughter of Mrs. A. Lauth, who recently visited Los Angeles and is now en route to join her daughter in Gibraltar. Miss Lauth contemplates spending two additional years of study in Berlin. She is not only a musician but has some dramatic ability. She graduated from Cumnock School of Expression in 1900 with honors. Miss Agnes Hedenbergh, also a graduate of Cumnock, and Miss Lauth, made a tour through Belgium and Holland together in the spring. They will spend the winter together in Berlin.

Girl Guides Tiller.

Miss Mabel Stuart, the talented young daughter of Mrs. Benjamin F. Church, has recently returned from an outing at Catalina, where she enjoyed herself immensely with outdoor sports. Miss Stuart is a pretty blue-eyed maid with masses of gold-brown hair and rosy cheeks, which bespeak an outdoor life. While at Catalina, under the tutelage of Joe Banning, Jr., and Louis Tolhurst, both of whom own pretty yachts, this venturesome maid learned to handle the tiller gracefully and well. Indeed, her young friends are enthusiastic in praise of her grace and ease on this score. Miss Stuart is also a water nymph and a good swimmer into the bargain. Next fall she will go East to continue her musical

RELIC OF THAT OLD DRAIN.

Henry J. Kramer yesterday won his case in the Supreme Court, which affirmed the judgment of $2600 awarded him in the lower court, against the city of Los Angeles.

Several years ago there was a rain, much rain; and there was a drain, an old rotten storm drain.

It was a bad combination, for on its way to the river the old drain wormed its way under the building known as Kramer's Dancing Academy on Grand avenue.

In the night Kramer was waked up by a mighty noise, to discover that the old drain had bursted under his house and was pouring its polluted contents into the basement of his beautiful building.

An incident that will not soon be forgotten was that on the next day there was a wild rush of the fire department to Kramer's place to put out a fire, in response to an alarm from a near-by fire-alarm box.

But there was no fire; Kramer simply wanted his cellar pumped out. He was mad, but not any madder than the firemen. They didn't pump it.

The upshot of the whole thing was that Kramer brought suit against the city for damages and got a verdict of $2600 and the city appealed the case.

Kramer has won out in the finals, and the check can just be added to the cost of the new storm drain, now getting on toward completion, but which leaves the old track and goes down Sixth street, so as not to burst under Kramer's house any more.

The Giving of Alms.

There is, in all likelihood, little good done to the beggar by giving alms, for in seventy-five per cent. of the cases the money will go not to the alleviation of the woes of a family, but to drink and the maintenance of the beggar cult. The worthy destitute are rarely asking alms upon the street.

The impulse of charity is a noble one, but as we see daily in the giving of alms it does cover a multitude of sins. Well-directed charity is noble, but to direct well is possible only with experience. There are experts in charity who would gladly receive from us a yearly contribution of money that would approximately aggregate the amount we give indiscriminately from time to time in the twelve months. We do not hold that money given by charity associations is donated in the spirit of "a cautious statistical Christ," but rather in that fine spirit of collective sympathy that renders adequate relief to those who are shown upon earnest and thorough investigation to need it, while refusing disproportionate aid to those who seek to make a living upon the earnings of others through the medium of a softened heart.—[Boston Transcript.

Valued Missouri Mules.

John Vivion tells a good mule story on Oklahoma, that goes to show the real value of the Missouri mule. He was down in that section not long ago picking up a bunch of mules and heard of a fine span that were supposed to be for sale, as the man who owned them was something of a trader. Mr. Vivion made a long drive and asked to see the team. The man told him they were not for sale at any price. Mr. Vivion asked to see them anyway and they were handsome specimens. He made an offer and the farmer said, "Why, man, I don't want to sell them mules, they came from Missouri!—[Fulton (Mo.) Telegraph.

Letter From a Well-Known Local Attorney

Golden State Realty Co., City.
Dear Sirs—I have just returned from a trip to La Grande Beach, and I find that it is everything that you have represented it to be. I think your particular part of the beach is the choicest portion and the pavilion you are erecting will be something grand. The view from there is superb. The beach, I think, cannot be excelled by any other beach in the world, for driving. My investment in lots there I consider are of the best, and if able would make further investments, and recommend my friends that this certainly is the place to invest.
Yours respectfully,

ON BOARD THE MANCHURIA.

Among Nippon's Thousand Isles of Beauty.

Where Peace and Plenty are Shown on Every Side.

Harmoniously Together. Humously Together.

BY LAFAYETTE YOUNG.
(Editor of the Des Moines Capital.)
SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

WITH THE TAFT PARTY, ON BOARD STEAMER MANCHURIA, Sept. 1.—As I write we are again on board the Manchuria and are passing through the "inland sea" of Japan. The vessel left Kobe last night at a late hour and at 4:30 o'clock this morning I was on deck to see the sun rise over this unique strip of water, which is in and about the rarest collection of islands in the world. It takes about 24 hours to go through the inland sea, and a run of nine hours additional will bring us to Nagasaki tomorrow morning. From Nagasaki we start on our last sail for Manila, and expect to without a stop.

Japan has about 1200 islands along the coast and is not bigger than California herself, with only 13,000,000 acres of cultivatible land. One side of the inland sea might be called the "Island." The islands are in sight sometimes and at other times we are sailing out alone along the borders of the mainland. The water has a depth on an average, of eight fathoms or forty-eight feet. Captain Sanders says he could anchor anywhere in the sea. This possibility was illustrated by our big ship stopping to "cast" an anchor recently lost in the beautiful "series" of waters.

Looking through so many islands and temples in this land of art and industry, I am surprised that the Emperors or Shoguns of the past have not erected palaces or tabernacles overlooking every dreamy lake in this dreamy sea. Possibly they did think of it. But as to the islands that have passed, some of them have lighthouses, white as American snow and pretty enough for a giant's Christmas tree. All appear to be at peace.

A growth of green adorns their sides and tops, except where the hand of man is mistaking, industrious Japan has applied a willing soil to produce crops of rice, vegetables and fruits. "Let me see," said I, "of fertile ground escape the notice of the mote of the Japanese. Whittier Scott of West Virginia says that he is reminding him of the Bay of Naples. Mrs. Wheaton of Rhode Island is reminded of a sail to Alaska, in that the Alaskan mountains are always in sight. Our captain is delighted at the ecstacies of the enthusiasts and says "America has a touch of scenery that outclasses the Inland Sea of Japan"—but our captain is a patriot and wants to go to farming, as all our captains do. Scores of these islands are not larger than an ordinary block in Chicago, and some of the water in heights of from 1000 to 500 feet; others are as large as Bloomfield township in Illinois. We are just passing one of the islands, where the channel is not much wider than the Chicago River in the spring of the year—and the boys are screaming to us a waving from a fort on a hill. Japanese soldiers are standing as immovable and perfect. Our American flag floats everywhere at this port and hands are trying to play "Marching Through Georgia," evidently having with Col. Dave Palmer, whose name is good enough to either go to the islands. They are beautiful and glorious. Time and one of generations of brown men have perfected their tops, their sides and their sea walls. Necessity has made every fertile spot in the midst of hills to the cultivation of peace. The shores have gone the peoples of commerce of the Far East for ages. On these waters have sailed the fleets of Emperors and Sho-guns, and the great world was as unknown to them as are the mountains unknown to us. The great sea of Japan makes a detour or a "switch" for the Japanese canal in a Japanese land in a direction of over 200 miles long and island together, with green water—making the ideal sail craft possible to the fisherman. The sea may have been created for the man and not the man for the sea, but by Him who notes the sparrow's fall. Certainly the man and the sea are now working harmoniously together. The waters are mild and the climate mild and man need not but can use the elements. It is melancholy when this dream of peace and rest we shall be again on the world's main line.

PERSONAL.

F. R. Underwood of the ship Leavitt, reserved a first-class stateroom for an all-night cruise at Catalina last night.

Mrs. Thomas R. Bard, wife of Senator Bard of Ruheneme, accompanied by her daughter of San Francisco, is registered at the Van Nuys.

C. D. Emery has returned from Denver, where he is the National Osteopathic Association in Denver, and the State Association in San Francisco, later visiting Yellowstone Park, Seattle, Victoria, Portland.

Robert R. Barrett, one of the rising and progressive young business men of Redlands City, interested in a bank, fruit and general manager of the Redlands Publishing Company of that city, director in a number of industrial companies financed by Mexican capital, left Los Angeles yesterday for San Francisco, on his way to Portland.

Charles Fuller, president of a San Francisco wholesale paints company, is at the Lankershim, and is one of many business men of the north who view with personal interest the conclusion of peace between Russia and Japan. He says that his company may not secure the contract for painting the ships of the Russian fleet, but a dove-colored tint will now assume proportions before attained.

Corps of Engineers Great Task to be Submitted in Reports—Every Effort Made.

The Owens River aqueduct adopted—and a great work it is—just as it was planned by the Los Angeles by the Water Engineer Mulholland, has been given to the people to "acquire the rights of way and to construct ditches and other waterways to provide said city with water in the Owens River and in the county of Inyo, for the people of Los Angeles." This was done unanimously to the extent of $1,500,000 for the purpose of this work, and the preliminaries are prepared and the work begun.

The first step will be the purchase of lands to be used by the Water Commissioners, which may be bought by the city or by the employment of engineers to make surveys of the condemnation plans and specifications of conduits, reservoirs, water works, and estimate the cost of construction.

When the plans are completed, all the data collected, the plans, specifications, etc., will be submitted to a board of engineers of the highest examination and ability, according to the ordinance.

Final plans have been made, the work of bringing the waters of the Owens River to Los Angeles will be commenced with the installation

Governor Dent of West Virginia says that reminds him of the Bay of Narragansett, Rhode Island. I am minded of a sail to Alaska, through the Alaskan mountains which rise about them. Our captain is constantly the ecstacies of the enthusiastic and says "America has a beauty that outclasses the beauty of Japan"—but our captain is a patriot and wants to go to farming. ON BOARD THE MANCHURIA.

Among Nippon's Thousand Isles of Beauty.

Where Peace and Plenty are Shown on Every Side.

Harmoniously Together. Unanimously Together.

BY LAFAYETTE YOUNG.
(Editor of the Des Moines Capital.)
(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

INLAND SEA, THE TAFT PARTY, ON BOARD STEAMER MANCHURIA, Aug. 25.—As I write we are again on board the Manchuria and are passing through the "inland sea" of Japan. We sailed left Kobe last night at 8 o'clock and at 4:30 o'clock this morning I was on deck to see the sun rise over this unique strip of water, which is in and about the rarest collection of islands in the world. It takes all day hours to go through the inland sea and a run of nine hours additional will bring us to Nagasaki tomorrow morning. From Nagasaki we sail on our last sail for Manila, and we go without a stop.

Japan has about 1200 islands along the coast and is not bigger than California herself, with only 12,000,000 people of cultivatible land. One side of the inland sea might be called the "Island." The islands are in sight sometimes and at other times we are sailing out alone along the border of the mainland. The water has a depth at average, of eight fathoms or eight feet. Captain Sanders tells me he could anchor anywhere in the sea. This possibility was illustrated by our big ship stopping to anchor as anchor recently lost in a beautiful "series" of waters.

We are passing through so many beautiful temples in this land of industry. I am surprised that the Emperors or Shoguns of the past have not erected palaces or temples instead of sitting on every dreamy island in this dreamy sea. Possibly they have built of it. But as to the islands we have passed, some of them have beautiful houses, white as American houses and pretty enough for a giant's playthings. All appear to be at the height of a growth of green adorns their sides, except where the hand of the industrious Japan has made a willing soil to produce crops of rice, vegetables and fruits. "Let no piece of fertile ground escape the hoe" is the motto of the Japanese.

Governor Dent of West Virginia says that reminds him of the Bay of Narragansett, Rhode Island. I am minded of a sail to Alaska, through the Alaskan mountains which rise about them. Our captain is constantly the ecstacies of the enthusiastic and says "America has a beauty that outclasses the beauty of Japan"—but our captain is a patriot and wants to go to farming. The captains do. Scores of islands are not larger than an ordinary city block in Chicago, and some of the water in heights of from 200 to 300 feet; others are as level as Bloomfield township in Iowa. We are just passing one of the straits, where the channel is much wider than the Chicago river. The spring of the year—and the children are screaming to us a salute from a fort on a hillside. The soldiers are standing out in admirable and perfect. Our ship boats everywhere at this season. Hands are trying to play baseball. Through Georgia, evidently, with Col. Dave Palmer, baseball is good enough to either side.

Many of the islands. They are beautiful and glorious. Time and one hundred generations of brown men have added their tops, their sides and their walls. Necessity has made every bathe spot in the midst of the cultivation of man. These islands have gone the peoples of the Far East for centuries. On these waters have sailed the fleets of Emperors and Sho-guns, and the great world was as unknown to them as are the mountains of the moon to us. WATER IS COMING.

had bucked the project, and thought the vote cast should be sufficient to silence all opposition.

"The issue was never in doubt," declared the Mayor. "The people had the proposition squarely before them, they had an opportunity to vote intelligently, and they acted wisely.

"There is a time coming when the citizens of Los Angeles will want to frame a strong testimonial of thanks to the present Water Board for the level-headed, keen-visioned act of its members.

"Let those who would hinder the onward march of progress step back now, for with the present issue of bonds we will pay for the territory in the Owens River country, buy our machinery, and commence boring the tunnels. The work is practically started, and the money to its first stage to completion is in sight.

"We shall not need another bond issue for a year, and by that time great things will have been accomplished.

"This election has demonstrated that there are thousands of true-hearted, loyal, wise and fearless citizens in Los Angeles. By their overwhelming vote of confidence the citizens have paid a grand compliment to the men who have engineered the Owens River project.

"This question of extra taxation which some have held out as a bugaboo, need not scare anybody. We will hardly notice the extra taxation, and the great blessings that will come will cause us to forget the few cents extra each of us may have to pay.

"There is a man in this city about whom scarcely anything has been said, J. M. Elliott, president of the First National Bank, has done great things for Los Angeles, and he does not desire one word of praise. He is a splendid specimen of a true citizen, who is unselfish enough to forget his own interests in the service of others.

"President Elliott almost lost his life during his trip into the Owens River country last April. Before he reached Independence, he was taken sick and had to spend two weeks in hospital. In spite of this he pressed on, and gained some valuable information by which we all have profited.

"You can say for me to the people of Los Angeles that I congratulate them on the stand they have taken for the right; and I declare that this city will go ahead as never before. We are now entering an era of magnificent prosperity."

MULHOLLAND, HE WANTS TO YELL.

FAITHFUL WATER SUPERINTENDENT WILD WITH JOY.

He, of All Men, Know What Los Angeles Was "Up Against" Had the Owens River Project Failed—Thinks Vote "Will Hold the Knockers for Awhile"—Support Appreciated.

Superintendent of Waterworks William Mulholland was jubilant after the closing of the polls last night. Speaking of the result, he said:

"Let me tell you how I feel. I'm intoxicated—drunk with delight. I want to whoop and yell like a kid.

"I guess that was a large enough dose to fix the knockers. They can butt now as much as they like; it won't do them any good.

"The city was in a bad way. We have barely enough water right now for a city of this size, and if we hadn't added the big stream to our supply we would have been up against the real thing.

"We were facing a stone wall in the progress of Los Angeles, and that stone wall was the limit of our present water supply. I know what I am talking about. For thirty-one years I have studied this situation. I've grown up with the city—and I'm proud that the citizens have done the right thing, the big thing, the only thing.

"Now that we have settled this thing, we can go ahead at once with the work. We will first clinch all those options along the river.

"That has been a source of worry to me. I studied the situation exhaustively. I did not want the city to buy a gold brick. We have got the real thing now, and we'll need all the room in this vicinity to expand.

"I want to thank those who have labored so well for the success of this big undertaking, which is only just begun; and especially, I desire at this time to thank The Times for the splendid stand it has taken. We offer our meed of praise to the newspaper which has done such wise and telling work."

NEXT STEPS FOR THE WATER.

CITY OFFICERS AUTHORIZED TO BEGIN ACTUAL WORK.

Corps of Engineers to be Set at the Great Task at Once—Their Plans to be Submitted to Competent Experts—Every Move to be Cautiously Made.

The Owens River project has been adopted—and adopted enthusiastically—just as it was presented to Los Angeles by the Water Commission and Engineer Mulholland. Authority has been given to the city's official servants to "acquire lands, water rights, rights of way and other property," and to "construct ditches, canals, tunnels and other water works necessary to provide said city with a water supply in the Owens River Valley, in the county of Inyo, California." The people of Los Angeles have voted almost unanimously to incur a bonded debt of $1,500,000 for the inauguration of this work, and as soon as the bonds are prepared and sold the work will be begun.

The first step will be the completion of purchases of land and water rights by the Water Commission. The next, which may be begun immediately, will be the employment of a corps of engineers to make careful detailed surveys of the conduit route, prepare plans and specifications for construction of conduits, tunnels and other water works, and to make estimates of the cost of construction.

When the plans are prepared and all the data collected and arranged, the plans, specifications and estimates will be submitted to a board of expert engineers of the highest standing for examination and approval or modification, according to their judgment.

Final plans having been adopted, the work of bringing Owens River to Los Angeles will be begun, probably with the installation of an electric power development and distribution plant in Owens Valley. The power will drive all the machinery employed in excavating trenches for the conduit and driving tunnels through mountains.

When the work of construction can be started depends upon the celerity of the engineers in completing surveys and plans, and upon the prompt selection of consulting engineers to pass upon their work. If no fictitious obstruction is permitted to delay matters, hundreds of men and teams can be set at work in Owens Valley by the first of next January, or soon thereafter.

The power plant will be needed first, whatever plan of conduit construction may be adopted, and there is no valid reason why electric installation should not be begun as soon as the material can be obtained.

The mandate to provide the city with a water supply from Owens River has been given by the people of Los Angeles, and the Water Board can now go ahead along the lines of its announced purpose and do all that is needful to set the wheels of progress in motion.

When more money is needed for the building of conduits and reservoirs, the citizens of Los Angeles will be asked to provide it. They have set their hands to the plow, and they never turn back.

FATS AND SOLIDS.

Health Board Fixes Condensed Milk Standard, Appoints Stock Inspector, and Hears Report.

An uneventful session of the Health Board, presided over by the Mayor, passed into chronicled municipal history last night.

Reports, routine matters of give and take, and minor resolutions took up most of the time of the meeting.

There is a chance, says Dr. Powers, for some genius of minor inventions to make a strike by inventing a real hermetic seal for milk bottles. An ineffective ordinance upon the city statutes provides for their sealing but that was passed in a burst of enthusiasm about paraffine. There was to be no tampering with the milk, no slimy pourings-in on the wagons, no handling of the delicate fluid at all after it once left the dairy-houses. However, when the paraffine slopped over the tops, ran into the milk and greased all the bottles from top to bottom, the enthusiasm for its use began to abate, and the law flunked out. It will now be repealed, and will stay in limbo until a simple and practical sealer is discovered.

Fourteen tests have just been made on various milk men's supplies, and in only one instance—in the cans of the Casserini dairy—did the test go above the lawful 500,000 colonies of bacteria per cubic centimeter. Here it reached 507,000, but the day was unusually hot, and there was apparently a fly to every molecule of atmosphere.

On the suggestion of Chemist Erwin Miller, a standard of condensed milk substance will be established. It will probably be 7 per cent. of fats and 25 per cent. of solids.

Dr. L. W. Young has been appointed emergency live stock inspector, pending the appointment to be made by the Civil Service Commission

MINES AND MINING.

AMALGAMATED OR LAWSON?

BITTER RIVALS SAID TO BE AFTER MORE COPPER.

Reports That Big Montana Company Wants Old Dominion Not Confirmed—Lawson May be Getting the Mines at Safford for Opposition Syndicate.

Is the Amalgamated Copper Company after the Old Dominion and its great properties at Globe? If reports that have reached Los Angeles through mining men interested in the territory have any substantial foundation, that is a question of much interest. According to these reports the Amalgamated representatives approached the Old Dominion Company within the last thirty days. No details are obtainable and the report was not confirmed by answer to a query received by The Times last night from Arizona. The fact that the Old Dominion is owned chiefly by Phelps, Dodge & Company, owners of the Copper Queen at Bisbee, which is not mentioned in the rumor tends to discredit it.

At least one Los Angeles company operating copper properties in Arizona was recently approached by parties believed to represent the big Montana corporation and it is stated that others have been sounded in the same way.

There is a story in circulation at Safford, Ariz., that Boston people headed by Thomas Lawson have secured the San Juan mine near Safford, a property as yet but slightly worked, and seek to obtain other Arizona mines, for the forming of a syndicate to fight the Amalgamated. This may be the basis of all the reports, although as Arizona now leads in copper and is increasing the output all the time, it would not be at all surprising if the Amalgamated were seeking to obtain a strong foothold.

SMELTERS RAISE RATE.

The Salt Lake smelters have just promulgated a scale of prices which seems to be a blow aimed directly at the growing camps of Southern Nevada. The rate is raised $4 a ton at one jump. While the richer ore can stand it and still pay handsome profits, there will be ten times as many tons that can not and will have to seek another market or development must cease. If the railroads now planned into Bullfrog and Goldfield are built quickly they may afford an opportunity for the new smelter at Needles to get business and bring it to Southern California if railroad and other difficulties can be arranged.

CORPSE FROM THE MOUNTAINS.

Body of Fred Romo Spilled from Wagon When Team Descended Dark Mountain Road—Dead Youth's Companions Tell Story of Suicide, but Sheriff Says "Deliberate Murder."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fred Eldridge, Frank Goss and Samuel Jackson occupy separate cells in the County Jail tonight, suspected of the murder of Fred Earnest Romo, a member of a well-known Mexican family of Colton, who was shot through the back of the head in the mountains some time last night.

The men under arrest claim that they, with Romo and another Mexican, were drinking heavily, that Romo about 8 o'clock last night left the tent, and that soon afterward the report of a revolver was heard; that his companions rushed out, to find him prostrate with blood rushing from his head. He was unconscious, and soon died.

They hitched up a four-horse team, loaded the body into the wagon, and started for town. Losing their way in the darkness and while going down a switchback, the wagon was upset, all having narrow escapes.

They sought the camp of Frank Fulgham, near by, whom they told of the accident to the wagon, but made no mention of the corpse. Later, when Fulgham discovered the body, they pretended that Romo had been killed by being thrown from the wagon.

In the morning Fulgham discovered the bullet hole in Romo's head, and his companions then recited the story of alleged suicide.

WEAPON NOT FOUND.

Eldridge and Romo had been partners, peddling fruits on the mountains during the summer, and had cleaned up considerable money. Eldridge declares he placed Romo's revolver in the wagon with the corpse, but the weapon was not found by the Coroner, who searched the locality of the wagon accident.

Tonight Sheriff J. C. Ralphs and Asst. Dist.-Atty. H. M. Willis started up into the mountains. They will institute a thorough search for a weapon in the morning. The Sheriff believes Romo was deliberately murdered while tying face downward, and that the revolver was then thrown away.

Eldridge and Goss have both served time in the County Jail, Eldridge having been arrested at Needles some months ago, charged with swindling the Santa Fé company out of railway passes. He had been foreman of the Santa Fé water service.

INVESTIGATION DUE.

The forthcoming Supervisoral investigation into the methods of the Board of Horticultural Commissioners is being looked forward to with considerable interest by every orange grower in this county. It is known that the commission has not been working in harmony for many months. Petty jealousies and politics are said to be the causes.

Supervisor A. P. Nelson, whose attitude has forced his associates to take up the investigation of the commission, desires that every phase of the investigation be given publicity, and that the board avoid "star chamber" sessions while dealing with the subject.

Supervisor Nelson's principal complaint is the great cost to the fruit growers of spraying trees. He is a large grower himself, and declares that the work of the commission is more costly to the grower and taxpayer than is necessary. Also, he charges incompetency in the help employed by the commission. Nelson states that the work of the commission, if performed under private contract, would cost materially less.

WHIPPED OUT KNIVES.

José Lopez and Miguel Domingues ran against each other in the dark near Cucamonga the other night, and both whipped out their knives. They fought furiously for several minutes, when Lopez managed to take time to inquire of Domingues what they were fighting about. Domingues confessed that he didn't know, and they agreed to throw away their knives, after which they embraced and then went to a winery and treated each other.

Now Domingues has been arrested, charged with attempt at murder, and is greatly surprised to learn that he seriously cut Lopez, who is said to be in a critical condition. Both men are railroad section hands.

Harry Ward, the crook who, after being caught single-handed by Mrs. J. I. Conklin, a sixteen-year-old matron of Redlands, broke from the Redlands jail recently, was returned to the County Jail last night by Deputy Sheriff Ward, who effected his capture at Arcadia yesterday afternoon. The officer was on the Baldwin ranch searching for Harry Paxton, an alleged horse thief wanted at Riverside, when he encountered Ward, who broke away and had to be hauled to by the use of a revolver. Ward turned over to another officer the search for Paxton.

TEN MILES A FUGITIVE.

M. Hildebrant, charged with murderous assault upon Richard Lehn, a cook at the Harvey eating-house at Barstow, was bound over to answer before the Superior Court this morning, but the case may never be brought to trial. Hildebrant, incensed by the cook, entered the kitchen, and, drawing a revolver, put cookie and his crew to flight. Hildebrant then fled and ran for ten miles, finally dropping from exhaustion. He would have perished of thirst and hunger while wandering the desert a fugitive had he not been rescued by a party of miners.

FINE HORSE TALE.

SANTA ANA, Sept. 7.—O. Wada, a Japanese farmhand, was placed under arrest today on suspicion that he had stolen a horse at Newport Beach belonging to Newton Best. The animal was missed from the Best stables yesterday evening, and Wada was seen leading the animal off. Wada claims he found the horse wandering on the Newport Mesa.

The convention of Young People's societies of the United Presbyterian churches of Southern California, which closed its sessions here last night, elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Merle Smith, Santa Ana; vice-president, Mr. Sharp, Los Angeles; secretary, Agnes McBride, Santa Ana; treasurer, Roy Lynn, Redlands; Executive Committee, Viola Bewell of Los Angeles First Church; Blanche Edmiston of Los Angeles Second Church; Walter Hawkins of Pasadena, Margaret Kerr of Pasadena, Oliver Knotts of Los Angeles First Church. The closing feature of the convention was a series of brief addresses by pastors.

Miss Eve Flook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Flook of East Washington street, and E. W. Babb, were united in marriage yesterday evening at eight o'clock at the bride's home. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Herndon Garnett of the First Baptist church in the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives. Both bride and groom were unattended. They stood during the ceremony beneath a bower of asparagus ferns. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served. The bride has been a teacher in the First-street school here for the past two years, and is popular among a large circle of friends. The groom is manager for the Santa Ana Home Telephone Company.

A daughter was born yesterday to the wife of District Attorney H. C. Head.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.

DIVERSIONS OF VETERANS.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 7.—While many of the veterans spent the day at the Soldiers' Home, a few choice spirits gathered around the flag-decked platform for a camp fire, where the talents of many a famous raconteur were displayed, for the entertainment of the visitors and ladies of the auxiliary.

Last evening's programme furnished by John S. Godfrey Woman's Relief Corps of Pasadena was pronounced a success, and nearly every number was given by its membership. Mae Shumway Enderly of Riverside was the only guest of the ladies who contributed to the programme. Mrs. K. A. Halsted, president of the corps, arranged and cooperated with other members in preparing the entertainment.

There were addresses by Comrades Nash and Buckner and Case, patriotic tableaus by Master McClellan and little Edythe and Ruth Hayden who posed in revolutionary costumes. Mrs. Frances Kent gave a recitation and the loyal airs that were played on the piano by Miss Miller were a feature.

It is the custom for a detail of veterans to fish in the early morning hours but no one has yet caught them returning and counted the catch. Time does not hang heavy on the hands of any of them, for there is always a time for pranks. Somebody gave Capt. Johnson of Monrovia a watermelon yesterday. The captain cut off one end and found it was a poor one, so he bought one for himself and ate it. And while they were eating there hatched a plot. The bad melon was placed just outside the tent with the good end toward the street. The tent bears the suggestive title of "Not Inn," and the first group passing remarked that as no one was at home they had as well take the Captain's watermelon. Finding themselves hoaxed they put the melon back in its position and it was not long before there was another bite. Nobody who tried that melon has yet mentioned the incident and doubtless are unaware that a pair of keen young eyes inside the tent took note of all.

Mrs. Alice A. Fitch, identified with Stanton Post, W.R.C., is established here, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Florence Fitch, and her sister, Mrs. W. J. Webb. Mrs. Fitch has been connected with the W.R.C. since '76 and is one of the past presidents of the auxiliary of this association.

There will be a programme at the tent every afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and it is believed that the camp fires will grow in interest with the increasing attendance. Every car to the beach today was crowded and the Pacific Electric Railway Company was obliged to send two cars on every schedule to accommodate those desiring transportation.

The Lid Was on.

Gov. Folk while in St. Louis the other night, was desirous of communicating with his private secretary in this city, and on finding the Western Union Telegraph office closed for the night, got the St. Louis operator to call up the night train dispatcher here, requesting him to receive the message. The dispatcher promptly answered the request by telling the agent at that end of the wire to tell Gov. Folk that "The lid was on" and he could not receive the communication over the train wires.—[Cole County Democrat.

FOOTLESS VAG DIES IN SURF.

QUEER TRAGEDY BROUGHT ON BY "KIND" CITIZEN.

Nameless Cripple Picked up by Intoxicated Driver, Only to be Dumped Into Breakers and Slowly Drowned Between Wheels of Buggy—Citizen Rescued from Waves.

VENTURA, Sept. 7.—A nameless, footless tramp met his death near Sea Cliff in the breakers yesterday afternoon in a peculiar manner. He was hobbling along the beach some ten miles west of this city, when Henry Streeton of Carpenteria overtook him in a light one-horse wagon. Streeton had been on a business trip to a point near Los Angeles and was on his way home. He stopped in Ventura on his route and filled himself comfortably with whisky. Also, he took a bottle along with him.

By the time he had overtaken the footless vagabond, Streeton was feeling very sociable. He asked the man on crutches to drink with him and also insisted on his riding with him, but remembered little of doing either until he was rudely awakened in the tumbling breakers a little later.

It appears that the two men then drove on, though the tide was high and running strong. In attempting to round one of the rocky points where there is only a narrow strip of sand the waves caught the wagon and lurched it violently. The cripple fell out and was lodged between the wheels and the body of the vehicle on the ocean side.

In this position, helplessly pinioned, he was drowned by the pounding waves.

Streeton still kept his seat, in greatest danger, when some railroad construction men working near by went to his assistance. They waded in almost to their necks to rescue Streeton. Meantime the plunging horse had broken the shafts and torn himself loose.

The tramp was gotten out of the clutch which held him, but he was quite dead. The buggy was ground to kindling wood.

Last night the Coroner went up the beach and brought in the body of the tramp, a man about 40 years of age, who had lost both feet near the ankles. Nothing identifying him was found on the body.

Streeton was also brought to town, and testified at the inquest held today. The verdict of the Coroner's jury was accidental drowning.

NATIVE SON DEAD AT TABLE.

GUNSHOT FATALITY IN SANTA PAULA CANYON.

Following a Hunt He and His Brother Return Home and Prepare to Drive to Town—Latter Hears Discharge of Firearm and Finds Young Man's Bleeding Body.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA PAULA, Sept. 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John Mears, eldest son of the late John Mears of Santa Paula Cañon, and a well-known Native Son, shot himself today at his home in a mysterious manner.

Young Mears and his brother had been hunting during the day. They returned home and prepared to drive to town. They had been examining a shotgun. After the brother got to the stable he heard a shot in the house. He thought nothing about it. No one else was at home. When the brother got to the house he found John sitting at a table, his head leaning forward and blood streaming from a gaping wound in the back of it.

Suicide is not entertained, as the business affairs of the deceased were all right and he was of a happy and contented disposition. He was a single man, aged 27.

Russia and the Jews.

To bring up at this particular time, when the attention of the world is absorbed by the happy termination of the peace conference, the much mooted question of the condition of the Jews in Russia may be regarded as intrusion; but, after all, when could there be a more opportune time? In the midst of the international rejoicing over the cessation of a cruel and disastrous war, the hearts of statesmen should be softened and their minds open to receive the prayers and petitions of oppressed subjects. Sergius de Witte, now more than ever the recognized foremost man of Russia, flushed as he is with pride of victory in the diplomatic struggle just closed, would add to his fame and make himself a benefactor of mankind indeed by obtaining permission from the Czar to send for Messrs. Schiff, Strauss, Seligman and other influential members and friends of the Jewish race in America, who recently conferred with him on the subject at Portsmouth, and authorizing them to announce to the world a new policy with regard to Russia's treatment of the Jews. It should be a policy based on justice, toleration, liberality and humanity, a policy that would atone in a slight measure, at least, for centuries of persecution, and that would give Russia a better place in the march of nations to civilization, prosperity and happiness. The applause at the abrupt ending of the sanguinary war should not make Russia deaf to the cries of the downtrodden Jews under her dominion.—[Providence Journal.

Prizes for Marriage.

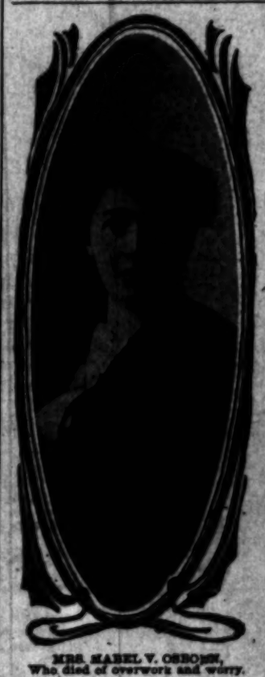
Any employe of the Café Martin, in Manhattan, who has been in its service for more than a year and who gets married will receive $100, and for every visible evidence that he does not sanction race suicide he will be entitled to $50 more. The results of this offer have been immediate. One of the cooks will marry one of the maids in a few days, and that means $200 on which to begin housekeeping, while several other youths are beginning to cast the eyes of sheep in the direction of young women who can possibly cook and wash and do general housework.—[Brooklyn Eagle.

ANSWERS THE CALL OF DEATH.

MRS. MABEL V. OSBORNE UNABLE TO SURVIVE OPERATION.

Overwork and Worry Hasten End of President of Local Suffrage Organization — A Woman of Brains and Tact, and a Personal Friend of Susan B. Anthony.

The death of Mrs. Mabel V. Osborne, president of the Los Angeles Equal Rights League and treasurer of the Women's Press Club, occurred at the California Hospital at 4:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after an illness of four weeks, necessitating an operation. Arrangements for the funeral will be made today," after the arrival in the city of relatives.



MRS. MABEL V. OSBORN, Who died of overwork and worry.

Mrs. Osborne, prior to her coming to Los Angeles two years ago, was engaged in stenographic work in San Francisco. During her residence in that city she served one year as secretary of the State Suffrage Association. Upon removing to Los Angeles she entered with zest into the work of organizing and reorganizing the woman-suffrage movement here, and her earnestness and ability at once won for her the office of president of the league named. She was a woman of brain and purpose, of energy and amiability, and skillful tact; one who threw her whole soul into the mission of reducing women to the plane of men in civic affairs. She enjoyed the personal friendship of Susan B. Anthony and Anna M. Shaw.

Overwork and worry, occasioned to an extent by her efforts to adjust the differences existing between the city and county suffrage organizations, brought Mrs. Osborne to a state of nervous prostration, and a complication of ailments resulted which made necessary a surgical operation. From it she was too weak to rally.

Mrs. Osborne was the divorced wife of Julian B. Osborne, a mining man stationed at Daggett. She leaves one son, Julian B., Jr., aged 17, an assayer and prospector with his father. Mrs. Osborne was 39 years old, a native of Antioch, Cal.

A keen disappointment to her was the failure of the suffrage amendment in the last session of the California Legislature. In its interest Mrs. Osborne went to Sacramento and lobbied industriously and with skill. For the passage of the bill she was to be rewarded with a position as organizer and lecturer under the National Association of Woman Suffragists, an office and a task on which she had set her heart.

In this city Mrs. Osborne made her home at the Hotel Lovejoy, on West Third street, with her mother, Mrs. Rachel P. Bates, formerly of San Francisco and Santa Barbara. The funeral of Mrs. Osborne will be largely attended by Southern California suffragists.

PRIDHAM SMILES.

Wells-Fargo Superintendent Takes No Stock in Goldfield Story of Treasure Chests in Desert.

William Pridham, assistant superintendent of the southwestern division of Wells-Fargo, scouts the idea of a number of Wells-Fargo treasure boxes having been found concealed under a pile of rocks and brush in Death Valley, near the supposed home of Walter Scott.

Mr. Pridham says that no number of treasure boxes has ever been stolen from the company, as only two are ever carried at any time on a train, one in actual use, and an extra one for emergencies. These boxes are never sold or lent to customers; they are the exclusive property of the express company. And in the history of all the thrilling train robberies through which the company has passed, these treasure boxes, strongly built of wood, have almost invariably been broken open by the robbers, either beside or near the train, in their anxiety to learn just what loot they might contain.

He admits, however, that there are cases on record where empty boxes have been stolen from station platforms by would-be express robbers, who have lugged the boxes away in the belief that the agent had carelessly allowed a case of treasure to lie about unguarded.

OLLIE ON THE RACK.

TIMES' "LINER" ADVERTISERS—IMPORTANT.

Note Change in Rate for Sunday Classified Advertisements.

Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter, the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1½ cents per word for each insertion, minimum charge 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 66,000 copies. (When the 1-cent-per-word rate was established in 1895, The Sunday Times circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

GOOD BLOOD FOR BAD

"In the lead mines I was at work on my knees with my elbows pressed against rock walls, in dampness and extremes of cold," said Mr. J. G. Meukel, of 2975 Jackson avenue, Dubuque, Iowa, in describing his experience to a reporter, "and it is not surprising that I contracted rheumatism. For three years I had attacks affecting the joints of my ankles, knees and elbows. My ankles and knees became so swollen I could scarcely walk on uneven ground and a little pressure from a stone under my feet would cause me so much pain that I would nearly sink down. I was often obliged to lie in bed for several days at a time. My friends who were similarly troubled were getting no relief from doctors and I did not feel encouraged to throw money away for nothing. By chance I read the story of Robert Yates, of the Klaner Manufacturing Co., of Dubuque, who had a very bad case of rheumatism. I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, the remedy he had used. In three or four weeks after beginning to use the pills, I was much better and in three months I was well. The swelling of the joints and the tenderness disappeared, I could work steadily and for eight years I have had no return of the trouble. My whole family believe in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Both my sons use them. We consider them a household remedy that we are sure about."

What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for Mr. Meukel they are doing for hundreds of others. Every dose sends galloping through the veins, pure, strong, rich, red blood that strikes straight at the cause of all ill health. The new blood restores regularity, and braces all the organs for their special tasks. AGED EVANGELIST SERIOUSLY HURT IN PASADENA.

Secretary of North Pasadena Land and Water Company Says the Directors Will Submit Proposition of Selling Plant to City at Called Election of Stockholders.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, No. 8 South Raymond Avenue, Sept. 8.—Kingsley A. Burnell, aged 61, was knocked down and seriously hurt by a Pacific Electric short line car last night. Mr. Burnell had been attending religious gathering, and was crossing the tracks at Marengo avenue and Fair street. The car threw him several feet.

The injured man was taken to the Pasadena hospital, where he was attended by Dr. Rowland, the company surgeon. It was found that the right forearm was broken into several pieces, and that there were ugly bruises about the face and body. It is believed that the injuries will not prove fatal.

Mr. Burnell has been engaged in Sunday-school evangelistic work, and has traveled over a large part of the state. He has been associated with Rev. B. B. Hill in that line of endeavor. The car which struck the man was No. 382 in charge of Motorman Chandler.

WATER PLANT OFFER.

According to the statement of Secretary D. W. Lewis, the North Pasadena Land and Water Company directors will submit the proposition of selling the plant to the city, to the stockholders at an election, the exact date of which will be fixed at a meeting of directors, to be held next Monday.

Secretary Lewis said last night:

"We have been waiting for the opinion of an expert regarding a certain part of the project which might have been in question, and this opinion is expected to be received at our meeting. After that the directors will have no time in calling an election for the purpose of placing the matter before the stockholders. We have not sought to delay the transaction in any way, but have simply endeavored to look after the interests of the stockholders to the best of our ability."

In advance of this explanation came the communication yesterday to the Board of Trade from E. J. Rifkeyl, a stockholder in the water company in which he informs that not all the stockholders are satisfied with the way the affairs in connection with the proposed municipal acquirement of the plant have been executed by the present. In the course of his communication to the civic body Mr. Rifkeyl says:

"The city of Pasadena has voted for municipal ownership of water, and the city has offered to buy the plant of the North Pasadena Land and Water Company. There is no denying the fact that a majority of the residents of North Pasadena would like to see the plant of the city accepted. Now, more than a majority of the stockholders of the company would, also. Unfortunately, we believe, for the welfare of the company, the decision does not seem to be in accord with the majority of the stockholders. An effort is being made to call a stockholders' meeting for the purpose of considering the city's offer. We cannot you, either as individuals or as members of the Board of Trade, to back, assert your influence in behalf of the undeniable interests of the people of this section of the city. Let such stockholders as appear to such meeting to join in the request, and thus demonstrate that they have at heart the interests of the people."

The discussion of the water project at the meeting of the Pasadena Improvement Association, and it was decided to call a mass meeting for next Monday night, at which time the project is to be discussed prior to the taking of the vote.

GIFT FOR MISS SUTTON.

Enthusiastic Pasadenans are joining heartily in the movement to accord an ovation to Miss May G. Sutton, the young little Pasadena girl tennis champion, upon her return to her home next week. The Executive Committee in charge of the details of the reception has decided upon the gift which is to be presented to Miss Sutton by citizens at large through subscriptions which are now being solicited. It will be a handsome solid silver service, one which will represent the highest type of the silversmith's art. As soon as upon the number of subscriptions will depend the elaborateness of the trophy, a generous response on the part of the citizens is expected, and happily, is being made. The reception for Miss Sutton will be held next Friday evening at La Casa Hotel. Immediately following the dinner to be given in the young woman's honor by Mrs. Woodbury, Miss Sutton will be asked to participate in the demonstration one long to be remembered among the many triumphs. The charming young lady who has become the talk of both continents through her athletic prowess has incidentally been productive of much valuable advertising of the Crown City, which the various civic and municipal bodies have been quick to appreciate.

HOW IT'S BROWN'S LAUGH.

Superintendent of Streets C. E. Brown declares it is now his turn to laugh in the controversy that has been over his bill against the city for $1,000 for inspection of the North Fair Oaks avenue sewer. It seems that Brown is the sole possessor of the key that indicates the location of the "Y" in the system, and without this the city would be in a predicament. He declares that he will not give up the book until he has assurance that his claim against the City, which is now up to something like $102, will receive consideration by the city. Several Raymond-avenue residents, it is reported as already having taken steps in endeavoring to locate sewer connections without the

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.

Would-be robbers entered the residence of Mrs. L. M. Jacobs at No. 188 Marengo avenue while the family were absent last night, but were frightened away before any booty. When Mrs. Jacobs, Jr., arrived on the scene, J. R. Jacobs, arrived home to guard the premises while mother is out of the city, he found the back door unlocked and a window open. A hasty search indicated that unwelcome visitor, bureau drawers had been pulled out and their contents scattered about over the floor, and the house evidently had been ransacked. Fortunately Mr. Jacobs had thought to take away his silver and other valuables and papers of the household and the matter was not reported to the police.

E. declares it is now his turn to laugh in the controversy that has arisen in the water company to his bill against the city for the inspection of the North Fair Oaks avenue sewer. It seems that the sole possessor of the key to the sewer indicates the location of the flushing tank in the system, and without which the city would be in a predicament. He declares that he will not turn the book until he has assurance that his claim against the City, amounting to something like $102, will receive consideration by the city council. Several Raymond-avenue residents have reported as already having been active in endeavoring to locate the connections without the

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.

Two sneak thieves entered the residence of Mrs. L. M. Jacobs at No. 168 Orange avenue while the family were absent last night before last, but were frightened away before any booty. When Mrs. Jacobs and J. R. Jacobs, arrived home after spending the night in town, they guard the premises and found that entrance to the house had been gained by the rear door, which was unlocked and ajar. A hasty search indicated that the visitor, bureau drawers had been pulled out and their contents scattered about over the floor; evidently had been disturbed, fortunately Mr. Jacobs had returned in time to take away his watch and other valuables which he keeps in a vault as soon as he discovers any of the household retiring, the matter was not reported to the police.

TO GIVE DANCE.

Miss Elmer Woodbury celebrated the first anniversary of their wedding day yesterday evening with a dinner dance given at their home, La Casa Grande. Covers for the dinner were laid for twelve and the table was spread in the large dining room, but in a quiet corner made more secluded by the use of screens which were made to simulate the walls of a grotto by festoons of smilax and stalks of bamboo against a background of flimy green tarleton. The table was ornamented with paper flowers suitable to a "paper wedding" and these were red poppies and pale blue bachelor buttons combined with a pretty effect. After dinner dancing was enjoyed. Those at table were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newby, Mr. and Mrs. R. Halstead, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Osgood, Mrs. A. D. Head, Misses Patrick and Beard, Messrs. J. C. Wickham and E. E. Webster with the host and hostess.

WORTH MENTIONING.

Assemblyman John A. Goodrich has been seriously ill at his Adella avenue home for the past several days, but was reported somewhat improved yesterday afternoon. He has been threatened with an attack of typhoid.

John D. Laing, vice-president of the Pasadena Hotel syndicate, returned yesterday afternoon from San Francisco, where he has been in attendance upon the bedside of D. M. Linnard. Mr. Laing reports that the patient is improving steadily and may be expected home in about ten days.

There will be no formal observance in Pasadena of Admission Day, which this year falls on Saturday. Owing to the fact that already one day in the week has been observed as a holiday, the Merchants' Association has decided not to ask the business men to close for the day, as has been the custom.

There has been an attempt to revive the old controversy between the merchants and the drivers of public carriages who make a practice of standing their teams in front of the business houses. The public carriage drivers, of whom there are quite a number, are prepared to contest any further attempt to put them on a side thoroughfare.

The first arrest for a violation of the boulevard ordinance yesterday resulted in W. A. Griffith being called upon by Police Judge Wood to contribute $3 to the city's coffers. The ordinance prohibits heavy teaming or the hauling of any spillable material over the macadamized streets and Griffith was caught driving a heavy wagon on Marengo boulevard. Officer Nicoll made the arrest.

A neat sum was realized by the Crown City band as a result of the benefit performances at the Family Theater the past two evenings. The attractions were made up almost entirely of home talent, and some of them were very good.

William R. Flannery is the name of a "tourist" whom the police picked up and jailed for vagrancy yesterday evening. Flannery is one of the odd specimens of humanity that frequently drift by in police and jail circles. In his pocket was a memorandum declaring his intention of walking from San Francisco to New Orleans in a bathing suit. The police believe he is a little unbalanced.

LORDSBURG.

COPPER FOUND AND LOST.

LORDSBURG, Sept. 7.—Jacob Lapp of this town has for the present abandoned the idea of trying to locate the wonderful ledge of copper which was discovered by Daniel Gump last January.

When returning with a party of hunters from Brown's Flats last January, Gump took a short cut down the mountainside and came within an inch of losing his life. He landed by mere chance in the brush on the edge of an abyss, and when rescued by the hunters had discovered and procured samples of ore which Los Angeles assayers found ran $50 per ton copper, $10 gold and $3 silver.

Returning to the spot several days later, Gump made a trail to the ledge and took out considerable ore, and then left further development till spring. Later, he accepted an important position with the Salt Lake Railroad, and made arrangements with Jacob Lapp to work the copper deposit in his absence. Now the rains have washed away his trail and no trace of the copper ledge can be found.

There is a strange fatality concerning this copper ledge. In 1879, a well-known miner discovered a copper ledge in this same cañon, and in the same vicinity. Samples assayed $72 per ton copper, but the miner was never able to locate the ledge again. A number of his friends spent many days, in an endeavor to find it, but it was finally abandoned. Now, after twenty-five years, the same fate has befallen Gump's discovery.

COVINA.

YEAR'S LARGEST BUCK.

COVINA, Sept. 7.—Covina boys, Howard Graham, Van McDonald, Milton Benton and Arthur Hahman, returned yesterday from Brown's Cañon, a branch of the San Gabriel, with the largest deer that has been killed in these parts this year. It was a 230-pound eight-point buck, and was more than the boys could carry out of the cañon, being forced to leave one of the shoulders behind, and arriving here with 210 pounds of fine venison. The shot that killed the animal was fired by Howard Graham.

SAWTELLE.

SEEMS TO WANT TO JOIN.

SAWTELLE, Sept. 7.—This town seems to be in earnest in asking that she be annexed to Santa Monica. The petition in circulation asking the calling of an election has already received sixty signatures. The territory proposed to be annexed to Santa Monica is a mile square and embraces exactly the same ground that was covered by the incorporation project that met defeat at the polls a few weeks ago. In asking to be taken into Santa Monica, Sawtelle expects to retain her postoffice, be given police and fire protection and have access to the public library and High School. A public meeting is to be held Saturday night, when the proposed annexation will receive attention.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7, 1905.—The typewriter at the peace conference. The typewriter played a conspicuous part in the peace conference at Portsmouth. Six Remington typewriters, with Russian, French and English keyboards, were in constant use by the Russian and Japanese plenipotentiaries and the final draft of the treaty for agreeing was prepared on these machines. This recalls the fact that the articles of peace between Spain and the United States and between the British and the Boers were also written on the Remington.

MEET FORTY YEARS AFTER.

HAPPY DAY FOR VETERANS AT SOLDIERS' HOME.

Former Boys in Blue from the Huntington Beach Encampment Pay Visit to the Military Establishment and Renew Old Acquaintances. Two Hundred and Fifty Visitors.

SOLDIERS' HOME, Sept. 7.—Flags flying from every barrack and a generally holiday appearance, with a throng of awaiting relations, is what welcomed the nearly 250 visiting delegates this morning from the Southern California Veteran Association, holding its annual encampment at Huntington Beach.

Through some misunderstanding in the transfer from the Pacific Electric Railway to the Los Angeles Pacific Railway in Los Angeles, the last of the party did not arrive at the Home until after 11 o'clock instead of 9:45 as scheduled. But the visitors made up in enjoyment for the time lost.

Escorted by the Los Angeles Fife and Drum Corps, commanded by Comrade Wolfe, the visitors marched to Memorial Hall, when, in a few remarks they were accorded a welcome and the freedom of the Home. The time was too near to the dinner hour to have a lengthy programme, and Commander Paul, after a brief address, dismissed them in order that they might enjoy the day in visits with the veterans.

The quartermaster and staff had, on brief notice, provided dinner for all who came, and it was voted "real good" by the visitors.

After dinner, the party again scattered throughout the camp. Instances were numerous where veterans met who had not seen each other for many years, and in several cases not since they had parted in the field more than forty years ago.

At 3:30 p. m. the visitors started on the return to their camp ground at Huntington Beach.

INSPECTING OFFICER LEAVES.

Inspector-General Chamberlain completed his work in this branch yesterday and left in the evening for New Mexico. Maj. W. S. Kent, the veteran accountant, who has accompanied each successive United States Inspector-General to this branch, and who remains over for a day or so to complete some accounts, is looking as fit and young, nothwithstanding his 64 years, as when he first accompanied General Breckenridge here in 1894.

BUY VOTING MACHINES.

POMONA, Sept. 7.—The City Trustees have decided to purchase three of the new voting machines exhibited at Pasadena recently. The purchase will be made in conjunction with the county Board of Supervisors, the agreement being that each board shall pay half of the costs. The machines are sold for $700 apiece.

The San Antonio Fruit Exchange has shipped the past season 632,682 boxes of oranges and 105,047 boxes of lemons, for which over $950,000 has been received and distributed among the members of the organization. The exchange includes Pomona, North Pomona, Claremont and San Dimas. The annual meeting of the Pomona Fruit Growers' Exchange is being held at the packing house today, and the reports of the officers are proving the success of this association during the past season. A basket picnic was served by the ladies at the packing house this noon.

Dr. J. H. Dunn, who formerly lived here, was out from Los Angeles today visiting his daughter, Mrs. W. H. Poston.

MONROVIA.

THANKLESS AUTOISTS.

MONROVIA, Sept. 7.—Only four inches intervened between a big touring automobile and a Pacific Electric car this morning, when both were brought to a standstill as a terrible collision seemed imminent at the Myrtle avenue crossing. Motorman A. J. Dalton's perfect control of the trolley car saved the reckless coasters who were skidding through the main street of Monrovia in defiance of the speeding ordinance. The car gong was rung at the approach of the crossing, but ignored. The automobile was brought to a stop with its front wheels across the track. The encounter occurred shortly after 11 a.m., and the occupants of the auto speeded away without the courtesy of an acknowledgment to the motorman who saved them. These are the people who are a menace to the public with their big machines.

ON THE SIDE.

The tax rate of this city has been set at $1.60, of which 75 cents is devoted to municipal improvements. Retiring bonds and interest receives 85 cents. The library will receive its full appropriation this year, amounting to $1000. It is believed that a portion of this can be used for improving the grounds which will surround the new $30,000 Carnegie library if the park bonds carry on October 10.

Mrs. Nancy D. Sayre, one of the oldest women of this vicinity, who died Monday, was buried today. She was born just at the close of the war of 1812, and left three living children, nine grandchildren and twenty great-grandchildren. She had lived in the Duarte district twenty-six years. Her surviving children are Mrs. E. D. G. Morgan of Monrovia, Mrs. Joseph Wilson of Duarte and Miss Emily Sayre.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Bartle have returned, after an extended trip through the Northwest, and to relatives on Canadian soil.

W. H. Young of Duarte has returned from England, after an extended trip. He also spent a few weeks in Canada.

WHITTIER.

PITCHED INTO CANYON.

WHITTIER, Sept. 7.—M. E. Cady, a Murphy oil driller, was returning from his work at midnight. When crossing a bridge over the Murphy Cañon, his horse became frightened and pitched into the draw thirty feet below. The cañon at this place has a sandy bottom, though nearly everywhere else there are sharp rocks, and although landing with great force, he suffered no serious injury. The horse, a high-spirited animal, was severely lamed and the buggy wrecked.

Many citizens responded to the invitation to attend the opening exercises of the High School, Wednesday morning. A piano solo was played by Miss Espoit, vocal solo, Miss Martin; piano solo, Miss Soxman; violin solo, Miss Maxon; piano solo, Miss Fensom. Short addresses were made by Prof. Perry of the Los Angeles High School, Prof. Metlock of Whittier College, and Miss Clara Rooksby, teacher of mathematics in Whittier High School. Miss Rooksby is a favorite of the students and her address, which was bright, was heartily received. She closed by presenting the five new members of the faculty. One hundred and seven students have been enrolled.

Among the candidates for assistant manager is a young woman, the acting manager, Miss Anastatia Doyle, who holds a unique position among the managers of citrus packing-houses in Southern California.

The president of the Union, George Ferris, presided. P. J. Dreher, manager of the San Antonio Fruit Exchange, gave his annual report, and Willis S. Jones spoke on the subject of "Decay."

About one hundred and fifty growers and their families were present. The affairs of the association are reported in good condition. The returns for the last season were satisfactory and the outlook for the next year is bright.

TIMES' "LINER" ADVERTISERS—IMPORTANT.

Note Change in Rate for Sunday Classified Advertisements.

Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter, the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1½ cents per word for each insertion, minimum charge 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 60,000 copies. (When the 1-cent-per-word rate was established in 1891, The Sunday Times circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

FIRED FIRE AND SKYROCKETS.

LONG BEACH CELEBRATES THE HOTEL SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Twenty Autos in Parade, Followed by Large Number of Citizens Afoot. Young Bather Steps on Broken Bottles and is Lamed for Life—Little Shovelnose Sharks Taken.

LONG BEACH, Sept. 7.—Flushed with the successful culmination of the canvass for the $100,000 popular subscription to guarantee the bond issue for the erection of Long Beach's first big tourist hotel, the citizens held an impromptu celebration tonight, which was pronounced as successful as other events, which required weeks of preparation.

At 7:15 o'clock the big siren of the bath-house sent out a shrill wierd warning that brought the populace to the water front, in double-quick time. Enthusiasts had gathered hundreds of horns and bundles of Roman candles and skyrockets and these speedily distributed, a parade was formed, which traversed the principal streets. Led by the Marine Band, were twenty autos loaded with hurrahing citizens, fully equipped with fireworks and noise-producers.

Then came the Fidelity Band followed by tally-hos and carriages and hundreds on foot. The parade ended at Hotel Julian, where A. W. Wallace made a short address congratulating Long Beach on her success and presaging a glorious future for both Los Angeles and Long Beach. Short talks were made by several local citizens and then the throng visited the residence of Jothan Bixby, the pioneer who doubled his $10,000 subscription yesterday and serenaded him, for which he expressed his delight and thanks. It was a great night for Long Beach.

The celebration was arranged through the efforts of Mr. Gary, J. W. Young, Jr., W. Scott Smith and Harry Barndollar, members of the committee which made the canvass for subscriptions.

BOY IS LAMED FOR LIFE.

Glenn Spies, aged 13, of Santa Monica suffered injuries yesterday evening which will probably lame him for life. The victim with a number of companions, was trudging along the beach. All were in bathing suits en route to the bath-house. They were frolicking when Glenn, who was ahead ran through a pile of broken bottles, thrown under the pier by some malicious or careless person.

Both feet were cut and gashed in a frightful way. He was given surgical attention and this morning his parents took him home to Santa Monica. Several of the cords were cut and the boy will not only be confined for several months, but will always be slightly lame.

LITTLE SHOVELNOSES.

An even dozen lively baby sharks at the aquarium on the beach, are attracting attention. They are of the shovelnose variety and were captured in a queer way. Last week the landlord of the Inlet Inn at Alamitos Bay while out for a stroll noticed a shark near the shore acting in a peculiar manner. He watched it for awhile and discovered that it was a female accompanied by a bunch of little ones over which the mother hovered, only releasing them when the visitor retreated. He procured a spear and returned to find the mother and her progeny still playing about. As he approached the shark opened her mouth and the little ones disappeared down her throat. After several attempts, the landlord succeeded in impaling the shark and with some difficulty dragged his catch ashore. Summoning assistance a slit was made in the body of the shark and the little ones were found alive. They were presented to the aquarium and are now as lively as crickets and the leading attraction.

FIGHT ON CHAUTAUQUA.

Rather a serious situation confronts the directors of the Long Beach Chautauqua Association. The absence of P. E. Hatch from the city prevents a meeting of the directors for consultation. The Methodist Revival Association had a project to have the assembly removed to Huntington Beach, but it was defeated through the efforts of Dr. Isaac T. Jewell and Rev. T. W. Lincoln, who succeeded in substituting an Epworth League assembly. Now the Huntington Beach Board of Trade is after the local Chautauqua directors to use their influence to have the parent Chautauqua in New York either cancel the Long Beach charter or grant them a separate one. The Venice management has also applied for a Chautauqua charter, but the Long Beach organization will oppose both propositions.

WEST LONG BEACH SCRAP.

From indications San Pedro and Long Beach are due for a clash pretty soon. Advices from West Long Beach today are that San Pedro has appointed a policeman for the new territory and sent him over to aid Officer Cooley of Long Beach in preserving order. This morning the City Marshal of San Pedro notified the merchants and business men of the new territory that he expected them to take out San Pedro city licenses. As San Pedro's alleged election had not yet been certified yesterday, it is set forth that this assumption of authority over West Long Beach is a trifle premature, considering the fact that the recent election to annex to Long Beach has not yet been denied in the courts.

SEASHORE RAMBLINGS.

Through his attorney, F. A. Knight, Joseph Hopper today filed a libel suit against the Telegram Publishing Company for $20,000 damages. The suit involves a recent story of the troubles of Hopper and his wife.

The Board of Trade on Saturday will meet the excursion of the National Woman's Business League with conveyances and make a tour of the city and surrounding country. Returning, the visitors will be taken to the sun pavilion, where Secretary Miller will welcome the guests and short addresses will be made.

The Edison Electric Company is removing all its wires and poles from Pine avenue to the adjoining alleys. The wires had become so numerous on the main thoroughfare that the heavy voltage of the electric company made the situation dangerous.

Work on the convention hall is being delayed because of a clash between Inspector Gilliland and the contractor. The original plans were changed in many particulars by the trustees without being recorded and the inspector refuses to let the work proceed without authority, which the building committee will give at once.

At 12:10 o'clock today Long Beach was visited by a very perceptible shock which lasted three or four seconds. No damage was reported.

The Seventh Street Improvement Society gave its first annual basket picnic at Terminal today. About 100 were in the party.

On Saturday Long Beach will entertain members of the Los Angeles Realty Board, who will be here as guests of H. F. Barbour and Dana Burks, who head the group of investors formed to build a ship canal on the flats west of town. The guests will leave Los Angeles at 2 o'clock and on arrival here will board launches for a trip down the river and through the inner harbor. Dinner will be served at West Long Beach Terminal station.

SANTA MONICA.

NEW WAREHOUSE BUILDING.

SANTA MONICA, Sept. 7.—In the development and improvement of its service here, the Los Angeles-Pacific electric line is about to begin work on a large freight depot and warehouse. The new structure will be located at the foot of Fifth street on Colorado avenue. It will be on the new track now being built to enter the city from the east in the vicinity of the brick-yard district. All freight trains will be taken off Oregon avenue as soon as this piece of track is completed. The new track will be of both gauges, and will do away with the necessity of unloading and reloading freight destined to points on either the Southern Pacific or Santa Fé.

The public schools will open Monday. There will be thirty-one teachers, and there is every indication that the attendance will be large, as the school census recently taken, showd a considerable increase in the school population of the district.

The Methodist congregation will hold its annual meeting tomorrow night. Plans are to be arranged at that time for the celebration of the thirtieth anniversary of the founding of the church.

Edwin D. Hooy of Los Angeles has been installed as local manager for the Sunset Telephone Company's system.

It is a dull day that brings forth no new election on this beach. Monday Santa Monica school district is to vote $60,000 of school bonds to be used in acquiring sites and erecting three new schoolhouses. Following that election closely is to come one for the choice of fifteen freeholders to draft a new charter. And on the heels of that will be a special bond election for municipal purposes. Funds are to be raised by this means, if possible, to construct a septic tank for the sewer system, an incinerator for garbage, two fire engine houses, storm drains, extension of main sewers and building of bridges.

Work has been commenced on the building of the permanent bridge on Ocean avenue crossing the Arroyo to Front street. The arch is to be of brick and concrete and the structure will cost more than $10,000. Dirt for the fill is being secured from the excavations being made in the building of the approaches to the beach. The bridge is to be the full width of the street and will accommodate the double tracks of the electric line.

Santa Monica Elks are busy in their preparation for the flag raising and round-up of Southern California Elks in Santa Monica Cañon, Saturday afternoon. There will be a barbecue and programme of athletic sports and facetious performances.

A council of the Knights of Columbus is to be instituted at Riverside on September 24, and Santa Monica Knights will go in a body to exemplify the second degree work.

Ben Edinger, arrested for the alleged larceny of a bicycle, was given a hearing today before Justice of the Peace Jenness. The accused is a mere boy. He was held to answer before the Superior Court for possible tuition at Whittier. The scene in court was one of tears, as all of the witnesses were women in a high pitch of excitement. The court had frequently to call for order, but his commands failed to stop the flood of tears.

WASN'T IT AWFUL.

The Use That Was Made of W. J. Bryan's Undershirt by a Hurried Housewife.

[Savannah News.] When William Jennings Bryan, twice Democratic nominee for the Presidency of the United States, appeared at the Chetek (Wis.) Chautauqua year ago, he was entertained at the summer cottage of Eau Claire's Ex-Mayor, W. H. Frawley.

The day was stifling hot. Mr. Bryan had just completed a two-hour talk and finished shaking hands with several thousand people. Perspiration poured down his face. His collar was wilted and his clothing clung to him as wet as though he had been soused in the lake. He was rowing over to the Frawley cottage. Arriving there the great Nebraskan said to his host and friend:

"Bill, I would like to change my undershirt!"

He was ushered into the guest's chamber, where the change was made. Mr. Frawley took the damp garment just discarded by the orator to the kitchen, where he hung it on the steel towel rod which projects from the range.

Several prominent ladies present assisted the hostess to prepare the sumptuous dinner, already a trifle late.

"The potatoes are done!" said one lady, poking a fork into the Murphies in the pot.

"I'll drain them," said Mrs. Frawley.

The regular draining utensil had not been brought into camp.

Something white and soft came.

Another grab and the pot of potatoes was on the way to the back door.

In a minute the potatoes were drained as potatoes were never drained before.

The operation just completed, Mrs. Frawley's eye caught for the first time the unfamiliar red mark.

"Oh! Oh! Oh!" she cried.

The other ladies rushed to her assistance, fearing she had scalded herself.

"What's the matter? What's the matter?" they asked.

"Oh, girls, I've strained the potatoes in Bryan's shirt!" said the hostess ready to collapse.

And sure enough she had.

GAS FOR FUEL.

Why should I pipe my house for fuel gas? Because a tenant will not have to worry about the old-fashioned stove pipe when he can rent a domicile furnished with gas grates.

The Pope and the Jeweler.

Pius X has had many shocks to his religious feelings since entering the Vatican, and these upset him more than the confinement or the state business.

Just lately his sense of honesty has been outraged, and those responsible have felt the weight of a reprimand. On various occasions the Pontiff, wishing to mark his benevolence, not only confers a title, but makes a gift of the insignia of office. Recently he happened to ask the price of one of these ornaments, and was struck by the exorbitance. He took the cross and had it estimated, finding that its market value was just half of what was demanded. The papal jeweler was called, and protested his innocence, proving that he had only asked the market price, and had never received more for anything.

Whereupon pandemonium arose. Whose fault was it? Into whose pocket had all those thousands of francs gone in the course of many years? Into somebody's at the Vatican, but whose? Even the cardinal who is at the head of the administration where the irregularities took place, although not directly responsible, came in for his share of direct censure from Pius X, who is broken-hearted that even in church administration dishonesty exists. Now a contract has been made with the papal jeweler for certain fixed prices, and all business of the kind will be done with only one intermediary, and not through the department.—[Pall Mall Gazette.

Satan's Kingdom.

The unfortunate disaster by which a life has been lost on the Welsh Mountain known as the Devil's Kitchen, has drawn attention to the curious but seemingly universal practice of past times in naming peculiar natural formations after his satanic majesty. It is scarcely an exaggeration to say that hardly a county in the British Isles is without some place or thing with the designation of devil. All of which prompts the thought that his satanic majesty must be a holder of a considerable amount of property on this terrestrial globe. The Devil's Punch Bowl, the Devil's Bellows, the Devil's Beef Tub, the Devil's Frying Pan, the Devil's Lake, the Devil's Dykes, the Devil's Cauldron, are a few instances which occur at random, scattered about in various parts of the country.—[Dundee Advertiser.

STOCKHOLDERS RATIFY. The stockholders of the First National Bank held a meeting yesterday morning to take action on the proposed merger. A two-thirds vote is required to ratify, and of the nearly 3700 shares represented, the stockholders were practically unanimously in favor of the project. One stockholder only, whose holdings are 56 shares, objected to the increase of the capital to $1,250,000. Otherwise the stockholders acted as a unit. It was decided to elect the enlarged directorate as soon as the Los Angeles National and the Southwestern National have acquired their holdings of the increased First National stock to the amounts as already announced. Los Angeles, 2500, and Southwest, 1000. The stockholders authorized the necessary steps to this end, but the merger will not become effective until these two banks have liquidated, which may take a month or more.

CHANGE OF CASHIER. At a meeting of the directors of the United States National Bank, the resignation of E. J. Vater, Jr., as cashier was accepted, and Frank W. Smith was elected in his stead. Mr. Vater leaves to accept the position of vice-president and manager of the First National Bank, Ocean Park. Mr. Smith was for many years in the employ of the Southern Pacific, and more recently in charge of the import department of Hasse, Baruch Company on North Los Angeles street.

The bank of Los Banos has been capitalized at $50,000. President, Henry Miller; vice-president, W. T. White; cashier, W. Lee; assistant cashier, E. D. Heron.

RIGHTS OF STOCKHOLDERS. The Washington State Supreme Court on September 27, 1902, in the case of State ex. rel. Weinberg vs. Pacific Brewing & Malting Co., finds that "A stockholder has the right at reasonable times to examine books and records so long as his purpose is to inform himself as to the manner and fidelity with which the corporation's affairs are being conducted, and his examination is made in the interest of the corporation." When it is charged that the purpose is other than in the interest of the corporation, and this is an important point, the court remarked that the burden of proof is on the officer who refuses the request, or on the corporation. Then follows a most striking sentence: "The argument that under this rule the managers of a rival concern may acquire stock in the corporation and use the privilege for the benefit of a rival concern, to the detriment of the corporation, is more forceful than that that under the restricted rule" (by which the court obviously means restricting the books to the inspection of the controlling interest) "a combination can be made by persons holding the majority of stock, by which the corporation is managed in their own interest, and to the detriment of the minority, and the injury to the public dealing with it."—[United States Investor.

Local Citrus Movements.

The shipments of citrus fruits Wednesday were 7 carloads of oranges and 12 carloads of lemons; grand total, 19,040, of which 2027 were lemons.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

The produce market opened quiet yesterday and developed weakness in fruit and vegetables, though very few changes were made in prices. Fancy stocks were in demand and where dealers had them to offer prices were firm and showed a stiffening tendency.

Pink beans are coming in freely, chiefly from the Coast counties, and owing to the unusually heavy crop the market is down to a 3-cent basis.

Local eggs are arriving in very limited supply, and while the market yesterday was generally at 20 cents, some dealers were asking 21 for fancy grades, and the market is expected to advance. The scarcity in ranch eggs has increased the demand for eastern, which were quoted at 25 to 27 cents, though higher prices are looked for.

The receipts of valley butter were fairly liberal, but the demand, which, dealers say, is increasing daily, owing to the return of many families to the city and the cool weather, absorbed the supply, and storage was freely drawn upon to meet the request for second-grade butter.

Two cases of mixed fruit came in, consisting of peaches, pears, grapes and plums. Peaches commanded from $1 to 1.60, and extra fancy Tuscs were slightly higher; apricots were steady; Damsons were jobbing at 1.60. Grapes were only in moderate supply and firm, at 75 to 1.00 for Muscats, the latter price for those moving at 50 to 60 cents. Pears and apples were unchanged.

Enough fish came in to meet the demand.

A Year's Tips in France.

Notwithstanding the summer heat, a diligent French statistician has been very busily engaged in computing the amount of the pourboires, or tips, given in France annually to waiters, cabmen, box-openers at theaters, concierges, and so forth. The sums thus spent amount to nearly half a milliard of francs, or £20,000,000 sterling. In Paris alone nearly £12,000 changes hands in this way daily. The statistician says that it means a tax of seven centimes on each Parisian every day, taking the big sum mentioned for the whole of the population, including those who have no call to give tips, as well as the others who spend a good deal of their time in cafés. The yearly amount of tips given in Paris is about 100,000,000f. In the provinces it reaches 372,000,000f., which gives a tax of three centimes daily for each French person living in the departments. The statistician claims to have got as near to the truth as possible. The tip system undeniably flourishes in France, and there are no signs of its approaching abolition, despite the periodical campaigns organized against it. —[London Telegraph.

Pardonable Curiosity.

Prof. D. P. Cropp of the University of Colorado has invented a machine that increases the height from one to five inches and the chest girth from one to four inches.

"It is amazing," said Prof. Cropp the other day, "what an interest people take in any change in their physique—the gain of an inch around the chest or forearm, the loss of an inch in the neck or stomach.

"I know a fat woman who spent July at the seashore, taking an ocean bath and a hot bath daily, so as to reduce her weight.

"The day she was to leave for home she entered a butcher shop and told the old man to cut her off twenty pounds of pork.

"He cut and weighed this great chunk of meat and then said:

"'Where, madam, shall I send it?'

"But the woman, as she feasted her eyes on the pork, replied:

"'Oh, don't send it anywhere. I don't want to buy it. You see I have lost twenty pounds since I have been down here and I just wanted to see how much it was.'"—[Buffalo Enquirer.

No British Death Traps.

"We do not think that foreign vessels trading to British ports ought to be allowed to go to sea from our ports if they are so unsafe as to endanger life; and we recommend that the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, on this point should in the future be applied to foreign as well as British ships."

Such is the gist of the report of the Select Committee which was appointed to inquire to what extent the statutory requirements applying to British ships should be made applicable to foreign vessels trading to and from our ports.

British ships are required to be marked with a loadline, and the owner or master is liable to a penalty if the ship is so loaded as to submerge this mark. Foreign vessels, however, which are overloaded at any port in the United Kingdom may be detained, but there is at present no other penalty.

The recommendations of the committee are designed to remedy this defect.

They also deal with the proper stowage of grain cargoes, and the rules as to life saving appliances, and recommend that foreign vessels should be required to substantially comply with our requirements. —[London Express.
